Air crash fatal to Mt. Baldy pastor; 2 others injured

CHINO — A Mt. Baldy minister taking a flying lesson was killed and two other West End residents severely injured Thursday when a single engine airplane crashed in a cow pasture in the Prado flood control basin about four miles from Chino Airport.

The Rev. Glen Wiley Terry, 40, pastor of the Mt. Baldy Community Church, was killed instantly in the crash about 11:30 a.m. Flight instructor Rex H. White, 58, of 1205 Council Ave., Ontario, sitting in the front seat by Rev. Terry, was listed in critical condition this morning with multiple injuries at Riverside County Hospital.

Passenger Michael Wood, 18, of 5457 Evart St., Montclair, sitting in the rear seat of the aircraft, was listed in serious condition at the Riverside hospital this morning with head injuries and a broken arm.

Federal Aviation Administration inspectors and the Riverside County Sheriff's Office investigating the crash said the aircraft owned by White, an instructor for the Chaffey College Aero-Club, had taken off from Ontario International Airport minutes before the plane went down. A pheasant hunter in the Prado flood control basin reported the crash to the U.S. Forestry Service, which then contacted the Chino Fire Department.

The Corona Fire Department and Riverside County sheriff's officers went to the scene. Deputies said that Rev. Terry was found lying about 15 feet from the wreckage. Wood and White were still inside the cockpit unconscious.

The plane appeared to have come down from a northeasterly direction, hit on its left wing and spun around. FAA Officials at OIA this morning said cause of the crash has yet to be determined.

The FAA spokesman did say, however, that it is believed that Rev. Terry was piloting the aircraft, instructed by White. The FAA said that since there was a fatality in the airplane crash, the National Transportation and Safety Board will conduct the investigation into cause of the crash.

Both White and Wood were first taken to the Corona Community Hospital for first aid treatment and then transferred to the Riverside County Hospital.

The FAA said the four-place, single engine Piper Cherokee aircraft was demolished in the crash.

Besides his pastorate at Mt. Baldy, Rev. Terry was vice president of the World Gospel Crusade, Inc., and a member of the Upland Nazarene Church.

He is survived by his widow, Betty; four children, Mrs. Valerie Cornelius, a student at Bethany Nazarene College in Bethany, Okla., and Andrea, Gwendolyn and Vance at home.

Rev. Terry was a graduate of Bethany College and the Nazarene Seminary in Kansas City, Mo. He was ordained as a minister in 1953 and had served as a pastor in Colorado before moving to California.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Stone Funeral Home in Upland.

Pomona man dies as cycle strikes auto

POMONA — A 43-year-old Pomona man was fatally injured Thursday evening when the motorcycle he was riding collided head on with a car on Indian Hill Boulevard north of Hoover Avenue.

Robert Eugene Peterson of 1680 Granada Place was pronounced dead at Pomona Valley Community hospital about 8 p.m.

Police reported Peterson was southbound on Indian Hill at about 6:20 p.m. when a car driven by Wilma Frances Strob, 60, of 9675 Mills Ave., Montclair, began a left-hand turn from the northbound lane of the boulevard into a business driveway on the west side of the street.

Police said Miss Strob's vehicle stopped abruptly during the turn and then continued on toward the driveway. Peterson, approaching at a moderate rate of speed, was unable to stop his motorcycle in time, collided with the car and was thrown over it.

Miss Strob was uninjured.

Some progress, but food strike talks broken off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Contract negotiations between 61 Southern California supermarket groups and four striking unions have broken off after seven days of virtually around-the-clock talks failed to produce agreement.

Director W. J. Usery of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said Thursday "considerable progress had been made, but the parties were unwilling to change their positions on certain issues sufficiently to enable a full settlement."

Negotiators for the Food Employers Council and the Butchers, Teamsters, Machinists, and Operating Engineers unions were not immediately available for comment.

Usery said the negotiations were "recessed indefinitely with no further meetings scheduled". But he said they would be resumed at the request of either side or of the Mediation Service.

Energy tip

Clean lamp is brighter lamp

Keep light bulbs and fixtures clean. Accumulations of dust can lower lighting levels. Clean lamps may mean fewer lamps.

Readers with energy-conserving suggestions are invited to send them to the Progress-Bulletin, City Desk, 300 S. Thomas St., Pomona 91766.

Asks Reagan for emergency aid

Bradley sends SOS over crisis

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Today is the day the lights and a lot of other things, go out in Los Angeles —or else.

The energy shortage came home to Southern Californians with a bang, as the first stage of a tough city program ordering electricity cuts went into effect at 12:01 a.m. today.

The cuts, ranging from 10 to 33 per cent, are backed by penalties of fines and mandatory suspension of service for up to 30 days for those who exceed their quota. Some uses were banned outright, and others limited by law.

The immediate results were not dramatic but power officials said that once the cuts go into full swing as adjustments to them are made, the curtailments will be even greater than those of World War II.

Even with the cuts, the city-owned Department of Water and Power expects to be pushed into rotating blackouts by spring.

Mayor Tom Bradley said Thursday Los Angeles faces the worst power shortage problem of any major city in the nation. He said he would ask Gov. Ronald Reagan to declare an emergency to force privately-owned electrical companies— which made provisions in the past and are much better off than municipally owned suppliers that relied more on Arab oil —to share their fuel supplies with the municipal generators.

"If this is not an emergency, then I've never seen one," Bradley said.

Plans were being made for establishment of three-member appeals boards, expected to hear an enormous number of complaints from those challenging their quota or faced with fines or service cutoffs.

The mandatory reductions apply to 633,000 homes and apartments, —all but the one third lowest users —126,000 commercial users and 11,000 industrial users.

Meanwhile, county supervisor James Hayes strongly protested a federal call for limiting drivers to 10 gallons of gasoline a week, saying such a limit may be realistic in the East, where people have shorter distances to travel, but is not fair to those who live in the sprawling cities of the West.

The proposal by energy czar William Simon is "unfair, unreasonable and totally unworkable" in the Los Angeles area, Hayes said. "Such a restriction will cripple the county and many other sections of the United States," he said. Such a limit "may be workable in an area such as New York City, but to impose such a restriction on Los Angeles Basin area residents brings us right up to the day of doom," said Hayes, who heads an energy task force formed by county governments throughout the nation.

Under the city's mandatory cutback plan, residential and industrial users must immediately cut their electricity consumption 10 per cent below their average level of last winter. Offices, shops and other commercial users must cut back by 20 per cent.

If a second phase is needed —and city and power officials regard it as almost inevitable —it will go into effect Jan. 15 and the cutbacks will climb to 12 per cent for residential users, 15 per cent for industry and 33 per cent for commercial users.

Under the first phase, the electric heating or lighting of swimming pools has been outlawed. Streetlighting was ordered reduced by 25 per cent but city workers said it would take weeks to get that many lights turned off. Businesses must reduce heating and air conditioning, turn off decorative lights, business signs and billboards after 10:30 p.m.

There are limits on sports events, school plays, concerts and amusement parks, and on lights in closed shops, stores, offices and parking lots.

Under phase two, the cutbacks will become much more severe. All billboard lights and lights for nighttime, noncommercial, recreation would be banned.

Would 'violate the spirit'

MSAC trustees reject salary for themselves

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Contending that getting money for what they do would "violate the spirit" in which they serve, the five trustees of Mt. San Antonio College turned down a proposal Thursday that they be paid.

The trustees were notified by Eldon E. Pearce, president of the college, that under a new state law, effective Jan. 1, they would be entitled to receive $30 a meeting or a maximum of $200 a month each.

He said this was based on the college's average daily attendance last year which at 10,347 cleared the 10,000 to 25,000 classification. Presently, the trustees get nothing.

"If you gentlemen wish to avail yourself of this provision," he said, "I bring it to your attention now."

Board Chairman William Temple set the tone of the response when he declared that he'd rather continue to serve without pay.

"My feeling is that the districts which are really having troubles today are the ones who are going for this," he said. "My prediction is that most community college boards will not go for it."

Trustee Robert Hickson said he had "no desire to have any financial compensation."

And for Trustee Lance Smith, being on the college board was "a privilege, a way of serving the community. I certainly don't want to get paid for it."

"I have often heard," board member Richard Todd said, "that if we pay the politicians more, we'll get better politicians. I don't believe this. I'll just keep the pay I'm getting now."

Trustee Robert Hutchison said he, too, was on the board to serve the community, and did not want any money.

"Gentlemen," President Pearce concluded the matter almost apologetically, "I had to bring the issue up!"

Congressional negotiators OK emergency powers for Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate-House negotiators agreed today on legislation to grant President Nixon emergency energy crisis powers but Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., threatened to try to kill the bill.

Fannin, senior Republican among Senate negotiators, called the compromise measure "absolutely unreal and unworkable."

He did not say how he would attempt to kill the legislation although it would presumably be by filibuster. Nor did he indicate whether he was speaking solely for himself, for the administration, or for other interests.

The conferees, working against pressure for congressional recess by nightfall and with the threat of a White House veto over their heads, met nearly an hour this morning before announcing the agreement.

The big bone of contention dealt with windfall profits to oil companies and other energy producers. A House amendment to the bill would have allowed Nixon to control profits at a set level.

Under the compromise approved for House and Senate action, the profits section would allow the President to set guidelines and definitions of "windfall profits" now. But the rebates he could order would not be set until Jan. 1, 1975, unless a separate law was passed in the interim.

Fannin and some other conferees wanted any legislative action on profits put off until 1975 at the earliest.

"This is a can of worms," one source said of the profits control section. "We already proposed separate legislation on that Wednesday." He said the White House wanted the profits section postponed until 1975.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., sponsor of the Senate bill, said the agreement "was a satisfactory one" and that there were only two "no" votes on the profits section.

The White House, through legislative liaison men, said Thursday it objected to other sections of the bill.

In advance of the meeting of the conferees, Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., predicted the logjam would be broken and the bill would be enacted.

Calley conviction upheld by court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The conviction of 1st Lt. William L. Calley for the slaying of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai was upheld Friday by the U.S. Court of Military Appeals.

The nation's highest court of military law also upheld a 20-year sentence given Calley.

The slayings took place in the South Vietnamese village of My Lai in March, 1968 during a sweep by an Army unit led by Calley.

The military court, composed of three civilian judges, heard the case 11 weeks ago and spent the intervening time reviewing thousands of pages of testimony and legal briefs that have been filed since Calley was charged four years ago.

Report Kissinger will marry soon

GENEVA (UPI) — A U.S. spokesman today would neither confirm nor deny reports that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger would marry New York socialite Nancy McGinnis Dec. 28.

Reports that Kissinger would marry Miss McGinnis, who has been his frequent companion at social events for the past several years, have been circulating around Washington and New York for several weeks.

Issue demands, threaten reprisals

Out to get Americans, Palestine guerrillas warn

BEIRUT (UPI) — A statement attributed to the Palestinian guerrillas group that staged Monday's bloody airport attack and hijacking today demanded the release of all Palestinians held in European jails "by not later than the end of this month" or face reprisals the newspaper An Nahar reported.

The statement warned Arab commandos would carry out attacks in any country that failed to release guerrillas.

It also warned the American people that if the U.S. government continued its support for Israel, "We shall keep our promise to our people, namely to chase you everywhere and at all times to strike at you and crush you."

Guerrillas would take retaliation against Americans, the statement warned, because of American support of Israel during the October Middle East war.

"We asked you to reduce your absolute support for Israel," the group said. "But as soon as the October war began, your government and the president you elected began to mount airlifts and naval supply lines, providing the usurping authorities (Israel) with war equipment, tools of destruction and human resources."

The statement purported to be from two guerrilla factions named after dead Arab heroes and which organized Monday's attack at Rome airport and the subsequent hijacking of a West German airliner to Athens, Syria and Kuwait.

The death toll of the operation was 32, all of them killed at Rome. Today's statement said the Rome airport was attacked because it had been used by the United States in shipping supplies to Israel.

"We issue a final warning to all European countries which still hold Palestinian commandos in their jails that they must release them by not later than the end of this month," the statement said.

"If this is not carried out all the institutions and establishments of those countries will be considered hostile and will become targets for strikes by our revolutionary heroes."

Gangland slaying may signal underworld upheaval

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard Cain, a top Chicago lawman before he became chauffeur for the city's most feared mobsters, was gunned to death Thursday in an apparent gangland execution when he walked into a sandwich shop.

His face was completely disfigured from the blast and it took authorities hours to identify him. He was carrying no identification papers.

Cain, 49, was the onetime protege of ex-gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and later courier and chauffeur for gangster Sam "Mooney" Giancana. He was killed by two gunmen wearing ski masks as he stood against a wall in Rose's Sandwich Shop not far from the Loop. The gunmen escaped.

Witnesses told authorities that only 15 minutes earlier the former chief investigator for the Cook County Sheriff's office had been seen conferring with four men in the restaurant.

Police gave this account of the shooting:

Two gunmen wearing ski masks entered the restaurant carrying a shotgun, a pistol, and a two-way radio. They conducted themselves as if they were about to commit a robbery.

The killers forced about seven persons, including restaurant owner Sam Cozzo, against a wall and waited. During their wait, the gunmen conferred by two-way radio with a lookout outside the shop.

Suddenly, witnesses said, the words "here he comes now" came over the walkie-talkie. Cain entered the restaurant, was forced to join other hostages along the wall, and was shot at close range, police said. No one else was hurt.

Lee Schooler, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, said Thursday night that the murder "seems to indicate an upheaval in the underworld ... and may not be the only one (murder)." He said Cain, who recently returned to Chicago from Mexico where he was living with Giancana, was very close to the mobster and this "may indicate a falling out" between the two.

Cain, regarded by some of his colleagues as brilliant, came to attention in 1956 when he joined the Chicago Police Department. By 1960 he was chief investigator for Cook County Sheriff's Department. Ogilvie was then sheriff.

During his two years as chief investigator, Cain allegedly forced suspected mob informers to take lie tests at taxpayers expense to determine if they were giving away underworld secrets.

His efforts to work both sides of the law, serving as gangster and policeman, came to an end in 1964 when Ogilvie, who became governor in 1968, forced his resignation.

Cain later was convicted of robbery for his part in a 1963 Franklin Park bank robbery— committed when he was chief investigator. He served three years in prison for the bank job and for lying to a grand jury about a $240,000 robbery of a suburban warehouse.

In the end, Cain, who fled to Mexico to join Giancana, had 82 cents in change in his pocket, $15 in cash, and a key.

Although it was bitter cold in Chicago, Cain, known to many as the mystery man, was not wearing an overcoat at the time of the shooting.

Controversial foreign aid bill okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has sent President Nixon the biggest foreign aid bill in 20 years despite warnings that $2.6 billion included for Israel could wreck the Mideast peace talks due to open today in Geneva.

The $5.8 billion aid appropriation passed the House on a 216-149 vote Thursday and later was approved on a voice vote in the Senate.

Earlier the Senate gave final approval to a $2.2 billion authorization bill for emergency aid to Israel.

The compromise appropriation measure was worked out in an all-day House-Senate conference Wednesday, after a bitter argument on how to finance the war in Cambodia. It directs the Pentagon to draw on current inventories to supply the Phnom Penh government.

Arguments against the aid bill came mainly from Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, who was cut down by other Democrats in the group, as well as by the Senate itself later.

Fulbright argued that a big new aid commitment to Israel now would make the Tel Aviv government intransigent in the talks. Other senators said the aid would simply maintain the Mideast military balance and make negotiations more rather than less likely to succeed.

Rightists mar Carrero funeral

MADRID (UPI) — Rightwing demonstrators marred the state funeral mass of Prime Minister Luis Carrero Blanco today with jeers and shouts of "assassin, assassin" at the archbishop of Madril, liberal-minded Cardinal Enrique Vicente y Taracon.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, afraid of his own emotions, did not attend.

Police moved in to protect the cardinal when he left the government building after saying the first of two masses over the open casket of Carrero.

As the car carrying Vicente y Taracon pulled away, the demonstrators jeered him and police ringed his car and jogged alongside until it cleared the band of right wingers.

The demonstrators apparently believed members of the anti-government left wing, including the militant Basque separatists supported by some Roman Catholic clergymen, were responsible for Carrero's death Thursday.

Christmas carnival slated for 450 carriers of P-B

POMONA — Approximately 450 boys and girls, carrier sales personnel for the Progress-Bulletin, are expected to attend the circulation department's fourth annual Christmas Carnival Saturday.

It will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and will take over both floors of the newspaper's distribution garage at 300 S. Thomas St.

Circulation Manager Dan Palmer said that the department's five district advisers — all women — will decorate five game booths and also dress in Christmas costumes for the carnival.

Their booths and costumes will be judged and prizes awarded winners. Judges will be General Manager Bob Bush, Editor Joe Gendron and Business Manager Richard Sharpe.

All employees of the circulation department will be present to enjoy the carnival with the boys and girls, including Lee Bock, assistant circulation manager, and Ed Nelson, circulation-promotions manager. Supervisors will be in costume.

The carriers will be allowed to use points earned in circulation contests to bid on gifts which will be auctioned off by Santa Claus.

They also may use the points to purchase hot dogs and soft drinks.

The Pomona Fire Department will place on exhibit at the carnival one of its rescue units for the carriers to view. This is an educational service offered the public by the fire department. Newspaper carriers long have been noted for their quick action in reporting fires and assisting during emergencies.

Palmer said that parents of P-B carriers are invited to attend the carnival with their sons and daughters.

The newspaper employs 600 carrier sales people. Not all, however, will be able to attend, Palmer said.

'Enemies list' probe concluded

IRS didn't buckle under pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators have concluded that the Internal Revenue Service did not buckle under pressures from John W. Dean III, author of a "screw our political enemies" memo, when he came up with a list of 575 "enemies."

At the same time, former IRS Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters did not complain to the Justice Department about White House efforts to turn the IRS into a political apparatus— an apparent violation of the law.

Reporting Thursday on the results of a six-month investigation into the IRS' behavior under political pressure, the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation said it found no evidence the taxmen conducted harassing audits against the 575 taxpayers on Dean's list.

Laurence N. Woodworth, chief of staff for the joint committee, was not as sanguine about the IRS' response to reported White House suggestions that the taxmen take it easy on seven "friends."

Woodworth refused to identify any of the friends except one— New York osteopath Kenneth Riland, who treated President Nixon and accompanied him to China and who is under indictment for evasion of taxes.

Others who reportedly were singled out for favorable tax treatment include actor John Wayne and evangelist Billy Graham, who has denied trying to use his influence with the chief executive to get out of tax troubles.

The existence of the list of 575 "enemies" was not known until Woodworth's staff began its investigation.

He said most of the enemies appeared to be supporters of 1972 Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern or his contributors or wealthy supporters of liberal causes.

Among the prominent people on the list were:

Jean Westwood and Lawrence O'Brien, both former Democratic national chairmen; entertainers Burt Lancaster, Shirley MacLaine, Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Polly Bergen, Gene Hackman, Joseph E. Levine, and Herb Alpert; Painter Georgia O'Keefe; Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.; Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y.; former IRS Commissioner Mortimner Caplin; former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford; Frances "Sissy" Farenthold, former Texas Democratic gubernatorial nominee; Howard M. Metzenbaum of Cleveland, who was designated Wednesday to fill the vacant Senate seat of William B. Saxbe, the new attorney general.

Also Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner, diplomat Angier Biddle Duke, Harvard Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, cosmetic maker Max Factor, Xerox executive Max Palevsky, liberal philanthropists Philip Stern and Stewart Mott, Harvard Professor George Wald, Sculptur Alexander Calder.

Senate OK's 'take it or leave it' S.S. hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed and sent to the House today for final congressional approval a bill to give 30 million Americans an 11 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

The extra benefits will be paid for with a payroll tax increase on middle and upper income workers.

In the Senate, no move was made to derail the politically popular bill after Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield warned that members had a choice of the compromise bill "or no bill at all."

"It's a case of either this or nothing," Mansfield said.

The first 7 per cent installment of the increase would come in April checks, with the remaining 4 per cent in July checks.

To pay for the $2.3 billion-a-year increase, the base pay on which Social Security taxes are calculated would be increased to $13,200 in 1974. It was $10,800 in 1973 and had already been scheduled to go to $12,600 in 1974.

The tax rate of 5.85 per cent would remain the same, meaning that the entire increase would fall on those in the upper income brackets.

Because of the delay in reaching a compromise, the Social Security Administration may not be able to program its computers in time for April checks, and the April increase may be paid retroactively in May checks.

The bill would increase the present $84.50 minimum Social Security payment to $90.50 in April and $93.80 in July. The average old age benefit would rise from $167 in $178 in April and $186 in July, and the average benefit for an aged couple would go from $277 to $296 in April and $310 in July.

On Thursday, the conference committee agreed on a compromise involving a series of Senate amendments which involved the Senate's taking the House bill and the House accepting a few Senate amendments. Most of the Senate amendments remain in conference, and they will be considered early next year.

This led to the unusual parliamentary situation in the Senate. Instead of considering a normal conference report, the original House bill had to be passed along with the amendments agreed upon in conference.

Energy powers bill lone obstacle to adjournment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill to give President Nixon emergency powers to deal with the energy crisis was the only major obstacle to wrapping up the first session of the 93rd Congress today.

"It all depends on the energy bill," said Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield as Congress convened for what many weary members hoped would be their last day before a month-long Christmas vacation.

But the energy bill, loaded with amendments that could invite a veto and including areas of disagreement among its authors, could delay adjournment until Saturday and possibly send the session into next week.

Americans' demonstrated willingness to cooperate voluntarily in cutting gasoline consumption has buoyed the government's hopes for avoiding the burden of rationing, energy chief William E. Simon indicated today.

Simon stressed that no final decision had yet been made on the rationing question —and said none would be made until about next week. Rationing has not been ruled out, he emphasized.

Senate OKs U.S. 'humiliation day'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has passed a resolution calling on Americans to fast and pray for "clemency and forgiveness" April 30, proposed as a "national day of humiliation."

The resolution, adopted by voice vote with no debate or opposition, now goes to the House for consideration. If the House approves it, the measure will go to President Nixon.

Gunman flees under cover of repellent

CLAREMONT — An armed gunman robbed a Stater Bros. grocery clerk of a small amount of cash Thursday night and made good his escape by spraying the clerk, another employe and two patrons with a chemical animal repellent.

Police reported the gunman entered the store at Indian Hill and Foothill boulevards around 8:30 p.m. and asked clerk Charles Gill for a carton of cigarettes.

Gill had to leave his register to get the brand the gunman wanted. When he returned, the gunman pulled out a .38-caliber revolver and ordered Gill to put the money from his register into a bag with the cigarettes.

The man grabbed the bag and sprayed Gill, boxboy Steven Cross of 755 Occidental Drive, Willard Gaynor of 1053 Alamosa Drive and another unidentified patron with the chemical repellent.

The gunman, described as a Caucasian about 20, 6 feet 2, 170 pounds, wearing a blue stocking cap and a knee-length gray tweed coat, ran out of the store and escaped in a car driven by an accomplice.

At Gallery Theater

'Carol' is a real gift

By JOE GENDRON

ONTARIO — If you want to capture the Christmas spirit, you should see the Gallery Theater's interpretation of Charles Dickens' unforgettable story of "A Christmas Carol."

This little novel has spread its glad influence throughout the world for more than a century without ever losing any of its power that has helped create the image we have of Christmas today.

The play will be repeated tonight and Saturday night at 8:30 in the theater at 126 E. C St. and again next week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. Thursday's performance is at 8 p.m.

Director Mark Shipley has put together a large cast of players, dancers, and carolers whose combined talents add up to great entertainment for the entire family.

The costumes are authentic, the carolers are in good voice, and the players give their roles their best efforts.

Robert M. Allan is believable as Scrooge, the miserly money changer who, haunted by his past, promises "to honor Christmas in his heart and keep it all through the year."

Steve Fowler as Bob Cratchit, Ron McCorkindale as Marley's ghost, and David Young as Tiny Tim are all excellent in the other featured parts. A crowd pleaser is Duane Thomas who hams it up as the ghost of Scrooge's present.

The audience hardly notices the movement of stage props in and out of the theater because of the Christmas caroling which is also part of the intermission entertainment. You'll feel better this Christmas season for having seen "A Christmas Carol."

Candle-making project ends in $400 fire

POMONA — Ten-year-old Steve Bowman's plan to make a few Christmas candles ended in disaster Thursday when his project caused a fire in the family kitchen.

Steve told firemen he was heating wax in a pan on the kitchen stove. The wax overheated and finally exploded when Steve added water to put out the fire.

The fire resulted in $400 damage to the kitchen but Steve wasn't injured. His mother, Mrs. Sandra Wright, was at work when the fire started.

50% chance of storm bringing area rain

The weatherman has forecast a 50 per cent chance of rain tonight from a fast-moving storm that is expected to pass through the area.

The stormy weather is expected to clear by Saturday afternoon and fair but windy weather is forecast for Sunday.

Rain is reported today in most areas of Northern California.

The expected high temperature today will be 68 degrees followed by a low tonight of 47 degrees. Thursday's high temperature was 72 degrees. This morning's low was 44 degrees.

Brave he may be, but also stupid

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — San Jose officials may have encountered the ultimate in bravado.

Someone stole a sheriff's patrol car — complete with siren, red lights and sheriff's seal —and drove it three miles from the county garage to downtown.

It was recovered when a San Jose police officer thought it strange that a sheriff's car would be parked for three hours in one spot.

Study reveals errors in welfare aid; some ineligible, others underpaid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger says a report showing that four out of every ten welfare families were ineligible or incorrectly paid was "conservative, if anything."

"Perilously close to half the people in this program are not getting the payments they should," he said Thursday during a media seminar. "I think this is a national scandal."

The nationwide survey said that $1.17 billion a year goes to families ineligible for such aid.

The report resulted from an intensive six-month study of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Program (AFDC), the nation's largest and costliest welfare program.

Based on a national sample of 44,000 recipients this year, the report said 10.2 per cent of the 10.8 million AFDC recipients are ineligible, 22.8 per cent are overpaid and 8.1 per cent are underpaid.

Weinberger said he didn't ascribe a significant amount of the incorrect payments to fraud, but said cause of the payment errors was "inept administration with no will or necessity to do anything about it."

He said the fact states will now face loss of part of their federal aid should get them down to the desirable error percentages.

Weinberger said a leading factor in AFDC mispayments was a rule that a state could not move to verify information on an application for welfare assistance unless the applicant gave written permission for such a verification.

"That regulation was absurd," Weinberger said. "We have issued new regulations which will permit this simple verification, and other similar management necessities."

On other subjects, the HEW chief said the $1.1 billion in Education and Health money President Nixon released from impoundment Wednesday had always been available for payment. The argument the administration had with congress, Weinberger said, was on how to spend the funds.

"Rather than prolong the uncertainty," he added, "the President decided to release the funds even though we think there are better ways to spend them."

Weinberger also said the administration was getting ready for Jan. 3, 1974, the mailing of the first Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks in the history of the country.

"It's the biggest civilian job government has ever undertaken," he said.

Under SSI, the nation's three million aged, blind and disabled, who have received varying state payments, will receive a national minimum income of $130 a month for individuals and $195 a month for couples, with some recipients receiving greater payments because their states chose to supplement the federal effort.

Weinberger said the government was engaged in a nationwide effort to reach an estimated three million additional aged, blind and disabled people who may be eligible for benefits for the first time but who do not know it.

Those not previously eligible, he said, had been made so through the national standardization of payments and eligibility.

Obituaries

Mrs. Edna M. Hall

POMONA — Mrs. Edna M. Hall of 842 E. Ninth St. died Thursday in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a long illness.

Mrs. Hall was born Jan. 18, 1911, in O'Neill, Neb. She came to Pomona in 1951. Mrs. Hall was a member of the First Assembly of God Church.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Constance Walters of O'Neill, Neb., Mrs. Sharon Wilson of Cambria, and Mrs. Carolyn Wershing of Phoenix, Ariz.; a son, Richard Rosenkran of Pomona: two sisters, Mrs. Velma Crawford and Mrs. Elsa Redlinger, both of Pomona; and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 4 p.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Harold Bither, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, will officiate. Services will conclude in the chapel and private committal will be made.

Benjamin Hendricks

POMONA — Benjamin F. Hendricks of 2055 S. Towne Ave. died Thursday in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a long illness.

Mr. Hendricks was born June 10, 1894, in Kellerville, Ill. He came to Pomona in 1923. He was a member of the First Christian Church and Pomona Masonic Lodge.

Besides his widow, Ethel, he is survived by two sons, J.G. of La Verne and Harold of Redding; two daughters, Mrs. C. G. Farr and Mrs. Frank A. Warren, both of Chino; two sisters, Mrs. Lyman Yancey and Mrs. Ray Mercer, both of Quincy, Ill.; and 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Monday at 10 a.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Morgan R. Sly, pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate, and Joseph Bellot of Pomona Masonic Lodge will conduct the Masonic ritual. Private entombment will be made in Pomona Mausoleum.

Michael Jay Madsen

POMONA — Michael Jay Madsen, 23, son of Mrs. Martha Madsen of 1294 N. Park Ave., died early Wednesday in a Bell Gardens hospital, the victim of a mistaken-identity stabbing.

Mr. Madsen had lived about 12 years in Pomona before going to Bell Gardens two years ago to live with his father, Gordon Madsen, at 59341 Gotham St.

He was born June 3, 1950, in Illinois.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by five brothers, Mark in the U.S. Army, Matthew of Ogden, Utah, Bradford with the Peace Corps at Colorado Springs, Colo., and David and Douglas of Pomona, and one sister, Mrs. Lee Delannoy of Illinois.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at the Allen Funeral Service in Bell Gardens.

Burial will be private.

Helen H. O'Reilly

POMONA — Mrs. Helen H. O'Reilly of 850 Sobre Colinas Place died Wednesday at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Fontana.

Mrs. O'Reilly was born Feb. 27, 1926, in Columbus, Mont. She was a graduate of the University of Montana and at the time of her death was doing graduate work at USC.

She came to California in 1953 and lived in Los Angeles before moving to Pomona in 1955. Mrs. O'Reilly was a case worker with the San Bernardino County Welfare Department. She had held that position five years.

Suriviving are two sons, Cyril and Kevin, and a daughter, Ann, all at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Rothwell of Hemet; and a brother, John Rothwell of Ravenswood, W. Va.

Private funeral services will be held. Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

Friends may make memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society, 111 W. Center St., Pomona 91768.

Mrs. Julia Majsa

POMONA — Mrs. Julia Majsa of 1550 N. Park Ave. died Wednesday night in a local convalescent hospital.

Mrs. Majsa was born Feb. 15, 1891, in Hungary. She came to the United States in 1909. In 1946 she moved to California from Cleveland, Ohio. She lived in Compton and Chino before moving to Pomona 23 years ago.

She was a member of the Faith Assembly of God Church.

Surviving are a son, William of Pomona, and four grandchildren.

Private services were held today in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Virgil G. Price, pastor of the Faith Assembly of God Church, officiated.

Burial was in Pomona Cemetery.

Harry E. Scoville

POMONA — Harry E. Scoville of 842 N. Huntington Blvd. died Thursday morning in a local convalescent hospital following eight years of illness.

Mr. Scoville was born June 3, 1884, in Abercrombie, N.D., and came to Pomona in 1928 from Seattle, Wash. He was a mail carrier in Pomona for 31 years and was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Besides his widow, Blanche H., he is survived by a son, Sidney J.Hills of Redlands; a daughter, Mrs. Lois H. Fisher of Whittier; a brother, the Rev. Ralph C. Scoville of Los Angeles; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Paul B. Ryan and the Rev. Ralph Scoville will officiate. Private entombment will be made in Pomona Mausoleum.

CARD OF THANKS

Youth hostels group slates skiing trips

CLAREMONT — The San Gabriel Valley Council of American Youth Hostels has scheduled several skiing trips in its winter program.

This will begin with a three-day ski trip to June Mountain starting Dec. 28.

Officials said the winter-schedule includes five weekend trips to June Mountain for downhill skiing. All expenses except tow fees will be shared by group members.

The council has also planned three weekends of cross-country skiing. Two trips will feature clinics in snow survival. The third trip will be to the Ostrander Lake area north of Yosemite.

The American Youth Hostels is a non-profit organization dedicated to year-round recreation through the hosteling experience, officials said.

Supreme Court to review disability pregnancy rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed Monday to decide whether California is violating the constitution by excluding normal pregnancy from coverage under a disability insurance program for state employes.

State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger has appealed a ruling by a special three-judge federal panel in San Francisco on May 31, 1973, that the practice violated the 14th Amendment's guarantee of "equal protection of the laws."

The court will hear arguments later this term and issue a written opinion.

The program was first proposed in 1946 when Earl Warren was governor to supplement the state's unemployment insurance.

It provides benefits for almost any incapacity, including psychiatric disorders, sex change operations, cosmetic surgery and attempted suicide, according to lawyers for the group of women who brought the suit.

An employe who has contributed 1 per cent of a $300 minimum income during a one-year base period may receive basic benefits ranging from $25 to $105 a week, depending on the amount earned, for a maximum of 26 weeks.

The payments start on the eighth day of disability or the first day of hospitalization. Hospitalized employes are eligible for additional benefits of $12 a day for 20 days.

Pursuant to a state court decision in a different case, the law starting Jan. 1 will allow payments for abnormal pregnancies.

The state contends that including normal pregnancy would make the program too costly. But the three-judge panel said last spring the increased costs could be "accommodated quite easily" by making reasonable changes in the contribution rate, the allowable benefits and other variables.

Younger said the total annual cost of the program is $362.1 million. He said the disability insurance programs of New Jersey, New York and Rhode Island treat pregnancy differently from other disabilities.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce urged the Supreme Court to review the California situation. It said employers need to know whether they may exclude maternity and related conditions from their disability plans without being guilty of sex discrimination and what "deference" is due the new maternity guideline issued by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

They also need to know how the equal opportunity provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act set into the picture, the chamber said.

The lawsuit was brought on behalf of Carolyn Aiello, Augustina D. Armendariz, Elizabeth B. Johnson and Jaqueline Jaramillo.

Chino area dubbed high priority in park development

CHINO — An area in northwest Chino was recommended for high priority in park development during a meeting this week of the park committee.

The Committee discussed alternatives to be recommended to the county for priorities in park planning. The group unanimously decided to recommend Service Area 2, which is located north of the Pomona Freeway to Phillips Boulevard and from Central Avenue west to Ramona Avenue, for highest priority.

Art Hern, manager of city services, explained the proposition to be placed on the June 1974 ballot for a $258 million state bond act for parks.

"Ninety million dollars is to be distributed to the counties for final distribution to cities and specal districts within each county. San Bernardino County is tentatively scheduled to receive $3,017,000. What the county Regional Parks Commission is doing now is attempting to formulate a priority park program to be submitted to the state for use of that money," Hern continued.

He said the priority plan must be submitted to the state sometime in early 1974.

The county Parks Commission, he noted, has asked each city for a presentation on its highest park project. These presentations from throughout the county will be evaluated and a final listing will be issued to the cties for approval. The final plan must be approved by 50 per cent of the people within 50 per cent of the cities, said Hern, or "it's not a viable plan."

The mechanics of that acceptance, either by council action or a vote of residents, is undecided at this time.

Once approval has come from the Board of Supervisors, along with the required percentages, the program will be sent to the state. If the state approves the plan and the state bond passes, the state will then deal directly with the affected cities, he reported.

The park committee recommendation is for a proposed five-acre park acquisition and development. No specific site was designated. The matter will be submitted to the council after the holiday season.

Sailor who wore turban receives court martial

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Ronald Singh Sherwood, 22, San Diego, was convicted of being out of uniform in a court-martial Wednesday and was reduced from petty officer to recruit status.

Sherwood, scheduled for discharge Jan. 14, was tried for wearing a turban while on duty at Miramar Naval Air Station. He was acquitted of charges of disobeying a superior officer and being late for work.

He was transferred from Fighter Squadron 92 to the chaplain's office and permitted to wear the turban and civilian clothes after he took vows with the Sikh religion last month. He contended a requirement that he remove the turban violated his religious freedom.

Sherwood began wearing the turban about a year ago but not while on duty.

It's Almost Too Late!

A Versatile Four-Channel Receiver and a Decoder

Eight-track cartridges are one of the most readily available forms of "discrete" four-channel music, and the sound separation is really impressive. We have a specially priced four-channel receiver with a cartridge player built in for both quadraphonic and regular stereo tapes. It also offers a four-channel amplifier, an AM/FM stereo radio, and inputs for a record player. The original price, including a walnut case, was $199.95, but right now you can have one for only $189, and we'll include a $79.95 SQ decoder so you can listen to matrixed four-channel material too.

But Take Heart — We Saved Our Best Holiday Sale for You Late Shoppers

Christmas is only a few days away now, and those last few names on your shopping list probably have you in a mild state of panic. Why not bring your list into Pacific Stereo and consider our gift suggestions? We've never heard of anyone who was disappointed with a piece of good stereo gear, and these last minute specials are so attractively priced, probably all you'll have left to do is the gift wrap. By the way, if you were planning to buy yourself some new equipment this year, now's the time to do it. You won't find better prices or easier terms, and you'll be sure there's fine music in your home in time for the holidays.

We've Knocked Off $95 for Last-Minute Savings

This attractive system won't crowd even the tiniest of rooms, yet it delivers the full-bodied sound that only components can give you. The TRANSAUDIO 5502 stereo receiver normally sells for $149.95, including the walnut case, and its AM/FM tuner section offers noise-free reception of any station within range.

The 5502 has a 16-watt (RMS) amplifier, and that's all the AUDIO DESIGN 806 speakers need. Their two-way, eight-inch design produces the clear, natural bass lines you can't get by turning up the bass control on a portable phonograph. 806's are an excellent value at their regular price of $79.90 a pair.

BSR's 260A automatic record player has a cueing control to protect records from scratches, and it sells for only $44.45, complete with a base and a Shure magnetic cartridge. The regular total for these components is $274.30, but this week you can buy the system for $95 less; and like every system we sell, it comes with a written, five-year warranty.

Cassette Portables for People on the Go

The WOLLENSAK 4150 is an attractively styled unit with convenient pushbutton controls. Normally $54.95, our price this week is just $39.

With its remote control microphone, built-in battery recharger, and automatic level control, the WOLLENSAK 4055 is ideal for saving lectures or live concerts. Our regular price is $69.95, but we've just reduced it to $49.

The WOLLENSAK 4500 has a larger speaker for good sounding playback of music recordings; and instead of the original price of $79.95, you pay just $49.

SONY's CF200A combines an AM/FM radio with a full featured cassette recorder, and it offers automatic shutoff at the end of a tape. The original price was $109.95, but if you hurry, you can pick one up for just $82.

Tremendous Savings on a Compact Music System

The PIONEER H-7000 stereo compact combines a 16-watt (RMS) AM/FM receiver with a full-featured 8-track cartridge player. Jacks are provided for headphones and a record player, and it even comes with a pair of Pioneer acoustic suspension speakers. Pioneer's original price for this system was $239.95, so you late shoppers can save over $100 at our special holiday price.

Save $101.95

We've Knocked Off $96 for Last-Minute Savings

We chose the HARMAN-KARDON 330A as the basis for this system because it offers unusually good performance at a very reasonable price. There's 45 watts (RMS) of power inside and an AM/FM tuner section that lets you hear all your favorite stations free of background noise. The 330A also has an impressive array of controls that lets you adjust the sound just the way you like it. Our normal price is only $199.95; the walnut case is extra.

GARRARD's 40B record player keeps discs in mint condition thanks to damped cueing and a gentle record changing mechanism. Our regular price is $50.95, including a base and an Empire 999XE/X elliptical cartridge. The TRANSAUDIO 1010 two-way speaker systems have ten-inch bass drivers for low notes you can feel; you wouldn't expect such big sound from systems that normally sell for only $119.90 a pair. Purchased separately, these components would total $370.80, but you can buy them now for $96 less; and you know this system will continue to bring pleasure because it's backed by our no-hassle five-year warranty.

A Few Good Reasons to Visit Pacific Stereo Before Christmas

Free Headphones or Records. If you choose a system before Christmas, we'll make you a present of either stereophones which normally sell for $15, or 3 stereo albums selected from current titles.

Extended Warranties and Exchange Privileges. We won't start counting the elapsed time on our warranties until Jan. 1, so you get coverage for the full period plus however much time there is between your purchase and the 1st of the year. Our FIVE-YEAR SYSTEM WARRANTY covers free parts for five years and free labor for three years on absolutely everything but the needle on the record player. SIXTY-DAY EXCHANGE PRIVILEGES allow you to exchange anything you aren't happy about within 60 days (counted from Jan. 1), and the ONE-YEAR SPEAKER TRIAL lets you receive your full purchase price on any speakers costing up to $200 in trade toward more expensive speakers any time during 1974.

Free Connecting Wire and Installation Manual. Along with your new system we'll give you everything you need to start enjoying it right away with no hassles. We've found that many owner's manuals aren't as easy to read as they could be, so we've prepared our own complete guide to setting up a component system.

Layaways 'Til Christmas. If you want to be sure of getting what you want at the advertised special price, but aren't quite ready to buy, just put a $10 deposit on the system. It's refundable and you're under no obligation.

Pay 'Most Any Way You Prefer. We'll be happy to accept your MASTERCHARGE, BANKAMERICARD, or PERSONAL CHECK with proper identification. We can arrange 90-DAY INTEREST-FREE FINANCING, and also longer credit terms.

No Down Payment, No Monthly Payments 'Til March, 1974. You can use our special holiday credit terms to finance your purchases at Pacific Stereo. On approved credit, there are no payments at all until March, 1974, on contracts of 24 months or longer.

WILLIAM BRADLEY

Rotarian board chooses Bradley as president

POMONA — William E. Bradley has been elected president of the Rotary Club

His selection by the board of directors was announced at the club's Christmas program which featured selections by Pomona High School choir and brass ensemble under the direction of Weldon Moody.

Bradley will succeed Harry McBeth next July 1 after attending the Rotary International Convention in Minneapolis, Minn.

Bradley, a 16-year member of Rotary, is a partner in the firm of Elswell Averbeck Co. He is a senior active Rotarian in the classification of marine insurance.

He is a member and past director of the Insurance Brokers Society of Southern California. He is in his second year on the Rotary board and is directory chairman of international service.

He and his wife, Barbar, live at 1470 Scott Ave. They have two daughters, Blaire, a student at the University of Denver, and Bonita, who attends Pomona High School.

Nixon Supporters chairman plans big Yule party

POMONA — The chairman of the Supporters of the President group says he will match any community contribution that he receives toward a Christmas Party for the President.

Fred Chandler, the leader of the group, says the party will be held at his place of business, Pomona Auto Action, 1664 E. Mission Blvd., from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited free of charge.

Those who want to help defray the expense of the party may mail contributions to the group, Box 2134, Montclair, 91763.

Chandler says he is taking on the task not so much to pay tribute to Richard Nixon, as to honor the highest office in the nation, and to provide the opportunity for people to reaffirm their faith in America.

Poly personnel join to replant burned acreage

POMONA — Students, staff and faculty at Cal Poly are working together to replant a five-acre area of the campus partially destroyed by fire last October.

The university's groundskeeping staff, headed by Frank Halterman Jr., is coordinating replanting efforts with Los Robles, the student horticulture club. David L. Lannom, an ornamental horticulture lecturer and club adviser, said some 40 students will participate in the project when it begins next quarter.

The club also plans to buy up to $800 worth of plants and trees for the fire-damaged Palm Canyon area.

The fire destroyed three palm trees and damaged many others which, according to Halterman, are expected to recover. The estimated loss in the fire may range up to $36,000 depending on the number of trees that fail to grow back in the spring, he said.

Fresno boy yearning for dog lost in Pomona

I am 10 and I live in Fresno.

Could you help me find my dog? Her name is Lisa. She is a Pekingese.

We went to Pomona for my grandfather's funeral. We lost Lisa but we found her in the dog pound Nov. 28. My mother paid $15 to get her out.

The next day when we were leaving for Fresno, she jumped out of the car. We didn't notice that she was gone until a half hour later. We looked and looked but we couldn't find her.

The following Monday my mother called the dog pound long distance from Fresno. She found out that a lady at Hamilton School had Lisa.

My grandma walked a long way to get her. Grandma has a mean dog, so she couldn't keep Lisa for me. She took her over to my uncle's house on Fourth Street. Last week we called my uncle and he said someone took Lisa from his yard.

I cry and cry for my dog because I am worried about her. I miss her very, very much and I know she misses me. Please help me find her. Thank you. — Victor Rodriguez.

A picture you sent shows us your dog is tan on top and white underneath.

You added a postscript asking anyone who knows of Lisa's whereabouts to call your grandmother, Mrs. Carmen Hernandez, at 629-6232.

My son, who is in the Navy and stationed at Long Beach aboard the U.S. Point Defiance, and others on the ship were approached by a representative of a Long Beach firm to sign up for a week-end diving excursion.

This was done at a meeting held on board the ship.

The following Saturday my son made a deposit of $40 toward the fee. During the next week and a half he was out at sea between Long Beach and San Diego with no way to get in touch with the firm.

During this time he learned that he would be on duty the weekend of the excursion. It would cost him $25 for a standby for one day, making the trip too costly for him.

He went to the firm the following Saturday to give notification that he could not make the trip. He asked for his deposit.

He was first informed by the clerk that there would be no refund but credit or merchandise could be given in place of the money.

My son agreed. The clerk made a phone call and then said it was not company policy to refund or give credit on any deposits made. There was no mention of this when he signed up for the excursion nor was any sign to that effect posted in the store.

I feel that the store is not being fair because he is a Navy man and possibly not a future potential customer.

My son will be leaving Long Beach right after Christmas and will be stationed elsewhere. I would appreciate anything that could be done on his behalf. — Mrs. C. W., Pomona.

We received no reply when we wrote to the general manager of the firm but we learned from you that the $40 has been refunded.

Is a completely phony spiritualist allowed to stay in business legally?

My friend and I went to a Pomona "spiritualist" for a reading. She asked a $5 donation from each of us before our reading.

She gave no specifics. She asked for more information than she gave us and just told us anything we wanted to hear.

I have been to good spiritualists who were really "mediums" and I was totally shocked by this woman. She has no gift of any kind. She does not pick up vibrations.

Does she have a license? — Mrs. K. W., La Verne.

We don't have a ghost of a notion as to how to judge the merits of a medium.

We learned from a staff member at the city clerk's office that no business license has been issued in the name that you gave us. There is one in another name at the same address. The city clerk will investigate.

Fortune-telling of any type is against the law in Pomona. It is suspected that some people get around this law by obtaining licenses as "spiritual advisers."

Pomona firemen acting as Santa at 3 locations

POMONA — The Pomona Fireman's Association again this year will have Santa Claus riding atop a fire truck distributing candy to children.

Santa will carry out the tradition Satuday from three locations.

St. Nick will be stationed at the southeast corner of Garey Avenue and Foothill Boulevard from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

The period between 1 and 2:30 p.m. will see Santa riding back and forth distributing candy on Pomona Mall East and Pomona Mall West.

From 3 to 4:30 p.m., Santa will be at Garey and Philadelphia Street. Children of all ages are invited to join in.

Carnation Co. fined for political gift

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Carnation Co. and board chairman, H. Everett Olson, have admitted making illegal corporate political contributions of $8,900 to 1972 Republican presidential and congressional campaigns.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Wednesday imposed maximum fines of $5,000 against the condensed milk company and $1,000 against Olson.

CHRISTMAS FOR LONG BEACH VETS

Valley delegation plans Yule party

The city officials are Mayors Ray J. Lepire of Pomona, Howard Snider of Ontario, Mike Morales of La Verne, Thomas Nuss of San Dimas, Abner Haldeman of Upland, and Harold Hayes of Montclair and Claremont Vice Mayor Bertye Smith.

They will be accompanied by Retired Army Maj. Clodeon Adkins of Homeland, a former prisoner of war. The visiting group will be greeted by Long Beach Mayor Edwin B. Wade.

The Claremont High School Chamber Singers under the direction of Don Brinegar will sing carols in three hospital wards and will also perform in the hospital auditorium.

The post, at 637 W. 2nd St., Pomona, will be open tonight and Saturday until 10 p.m. to accept donations of gifts or checks for the veterans.

Funds received will be used to purchase canteen books patients use in the hospital commissary. The donor's name and address will be included with the book or gift.

Checks may be made out to Post 2018 Christmas party and mailed to the post headquarters. Further information may be obtained by contacting Fred Klein at 985-5005.

SANTA VISITS CLASSROOM

Nick Durel, a first grader in Mrs. Eula Jackson's room at North San Antonio Elementary School in Pomona, tells Santa what he wants for Christmas. Santa is Alan Love, 18, a senior at Pomona High School, who volunteered for the task. Assisting Love distribute candy to the youngsters is Harry Yelton, beside Nick. Pomona students spent $10 on candy. Other Santa helpers were Linda Stolsworth, Karen Hill and Michelle Spotville.

Make long-distance Yule calls early, avoid b-z-z-z-z

POMONA — Those planning to make a long-distance phone call to someone special this Christmas should plan ahead.

The General Telephone Co. is expecting one of the busiest days of the year on Tuesday.

More than 500,000 long-distance calls were handled last Christmas and that number is expected to climb even higher this year with more people staying home because of the energy crisis, said officials.

The best times for making out-of-town calls are this weekend and early Christmas Eve when long-distance circuits will be readily available.

Lower rates for direct distance dialing will be in effect from Friday at 5 p.m. to Monday at 8 a.m. Low evening rates will also be effective Christmas Eve.

The volume of Christmas Day calls will start to peak after 8 a.m. and some difficulty in completing calls may be experienced as the holiday progresses, they added.

The quickest way to make a Christmas call is by direct distance dialing. This is also the least expensive, officials noted.

Dinner for seniors

POMONA — A free Christmas dinner for senior citizens will be held by members of the Head Start Pre-School Sunday, at 3 p.m. in the Mt. Sinai Church.

EDITORIAL Opinion

A stitch in time

Not all the oil shortage comes from the Arab blockade, gas guzzling autos, controls imposed by environmentalists and bumbling bureaucrats.

Recent surveys indicate almost a third of the heat used in industrial processes is wasted. That translates into the equivalent of 5.6 million barrels of petroleum a day. Preventing that waste, which is possible with existing technology would cover predicted petroleum shortages for the last half of 1974 and all of 1975. Installation costs would be more than met by lower fuel bills. Major savings would be possible within months.

These would require no new equipment — only better management, maintenance and repair practices. Numbers of the devices required for additional waste prevention could be produced and installed rather quickly.

Cement kilns now being introduced in West Europe can cut operating fuel requirements almost a third.

Engineers at the Hoogovens Ijmuiden steel plant in the Netherlands reduced fuel consumption 25 per cent and increased production 12 per cent by installing a computer-controlled program to manage the fuel flow to furnaces.

Experts in metal processing have estimated that if currently-known economically-justifiable technology were to be applied fully to furnace design, heat soaking pit designs and thermal management of processes, the over-all fuel requirements of steel making could be cut as much as 20 per cent.

Overall, the regular adjusting of industrial furnaces every two to four weeks could save as much as 15 per cent of the fuel used.

A. F. Waterland of Du Pont gives examples of energy savings of $500,000 a year by closing leaks in an oil refinery.

Careful management of large refrigeration plants has been shown to conserve as much as 12 per cent of the electrical energy required without sacrifice of performance.

Approximately half of the heat generated by combustion in industrial plants escapes in the flue gas exhausted from the furnace. But Sani Dairy of Johnston, Pa., has installed a recovery system that warms their 13,600 square foot warehouse with heat developed from the flue gasses of the process boilers.

Further, in certain cases, the reject heat from large thermal processing plants such as cement kilns would be more than sufficient to heat nearby small towns. The technology and equipment are readily available.

Warm exhaust air could be used in some industrial plants to preheat incoming cold fresh air and conserve 20 to 60 per cent of the fuel required.

G. Decker of Dow Chemical Company has reported that by changing from water to a special fluid, as a heat transfer medium, approximately 50 per cent of the fuel consumption in one process steam operation could be saved.

By replacing direct heating of polymeric resin coatings as a method of curing, with curing by ultraviolet radiation, some manufacturers have been able to reduce the total fuel requirements for one resin curing operation from 12 million BTU to 300,000 BTU.

Alcoa Corporation experts believe a new already-developed smelting process could cut electricity use 30 per cent in the aluminum industry, which uses about 4 per cent of the nation's electricity.

Some of these techniques and devices are new. Some have been around for some time, but not adopted because the emphasis in much of industry has been on increased production, not on fuel efficiency. A share of the new devices could have been developed years ago were it not for the fact that 98 per cent of the federal energy research funds have been devoted to fuel development, power generation, power transmission and supply of energy and less than 2 per cent to more efficient ways of using fuel.

What is written above does not by any means apply to all companies. Some firms have been in the forefront of energy conservation and efficient energy use. Some have very active programs aimed at assisting their consumers in fuel saving techniques.

Energy coordination

With White House announcement of a new energy czar, William E. Simon, and the coordination of all energy matters under Simon's jurisdiction, if Congress approves, the nation can hope for more action and less talk about new programming.

In a little noted aside, Simon, in his first public appearance as energy boss, came up with one extremely practical proposal for consideration. That proposal would be for a second trans-Alaska pipeline to parallel the one presently approved in order to move more oil more quickly to the rest of the nation from Alaska's major North Slope oil field.

Not knowing the economics or what feasibility studies have preceeded Mr. Simon's suggestion there is no way to say let's hop to it, or not. The fact is, however, that it is the kind of practical thinking to meet a major need at an early date which is overdue. Interior Secretary Morton's go ahead for oil shale development on a trial basis is another. And there are others — coal degasification, nuclear, geothermal, solar and renewed offshore drilling that need some hard-headed viewing. We have had enough wringing of the hands and buck passing. Hopefully Mr. Simon's office can get some action.

The foul-ups go on and on

WASHINGTON — The government has wasted millions on sophisticated communications equipment that has failed and the responsible officials have swept their mistakes under the secrecy stamp.

Last February, we broke through the tight security and exposed some of the costly communications goofs. These failings contributed to such disasters as the sinking of the spy ship Liberty by the Israelis in 1967 and the capture of the spy ship Pueblo by the North Koreans in 1968.

Now here is another fascinating installment. Like our first story, this gives away no legitimate secrets but merely exposes mistakes the government has tried to hide.

About eight years ago, for example, the Pentagon sent aloft a family of sturdy, if primitive communication satellites. These provided the military with an alternate channel for vital messages.

"Internal clock"

Built into the satellite system was an "internal clock," which was set to silence the signals after more sophisticated satellites would be ready to replace the old models. The purpose of the silencing mechanism was to prevent excessive space static.

The new satellites, with their intricate workings, were scientific wonders. They were blasted, with pride and precision, into space. The only trouble was that they didn't work right.

One staggered in space like a holiday drunk while the Pentagon signalmen frantically tried to fix their antennae on it. Another lost its "transponder" signal, which is a little like a blind man losing his seeing-eye dog.

Desperately, the Pentagon hotshots aimed their radio beams back on the old Model T satellites, which may not have been fancy but which at least worked. Unhappily, the "internal clock" also worked and began cutting off the signals. The silencing mechanism, which should have been controlled from the ground, automatically caused the satellites to go mute.

Ready new system

Humiliated, the Pentagon people are now obliged to use NATO satellites until a third system is ready for launching. Our sources say the next satellites may also be scientific monstrosities which, out of sheer complexity, could easily go on the blink.

This fascination with delicate equipment also fouled up our secret communications during the Vietnam War. Security no longer restricts us from telling about the two Autodin, written-message communications systems, which the Pentagon established in Vietnam.

Each Autodin required total air conditioning, a dust-tight building and protection from both the power surges that burn out circuits and the power lapses that give its computers amnesia. These Autodin systems simply weren't designed for Vietnam's rugged climate and combat conditions.

Result: It took the Defense Department nine months to set them up and to get them working right, instead of the few hours that a proper strategic system should require. Although $5 million was spent on the delicate workings, failures sometimes blocked important CIA messages and the frustrated spies were compelled to use non-secure telephone lines.

Shipped back

When U.S. forces withdrew from Vietnam, they didn't want to leave the two "autodinosaurs" behind. They were both too complicated and too secret to be entrusted to the South Vietnamese. So the secret orders went out to cannibalize one for parts and to ship out the other intact.

This operation cost far more, say our sources, than the equipment is worth. "We'd have done better to blow them up," one Pentagon cost expert told my associate Les Whitten.

BRUCE BIOSSAT

Wanted: Bush beaters for Rocky

Those Republicans and others who are interested in Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's prospects for the presidency in 1976 have to hope he will in fact mount a real quest long before the late 1975 he mentioned in his governorship resignation announcement.

Indeed, the note of hesitancy he struck in that announcement was poor strategy, if it be assumed that his intent ultimately is to run. Just a short time ago, his top aides assured me it is. They have been saying so since mid-spring.

It is an article of faith in the Rockefeller camp that the glaring errors of his prior presidential campaigns in 1964 and 1968 are not to be repeated in any future bid. Chief among them were indecision and, most particularly, the failure to move early all over the country on a determined, highly skillful hunt for national convention delegates.

Late-hour decision customarily mean that other candidates already have moved to gain critical advantage which cannot be taken away by the indecisive starter.

Election laws and rules have changed, and there are many more primaries today than in the years of Rocky's earlier efforts. But, whatever the formalities, the unwritten law of presidential nominating politics is unchanged: Those who want to pile up a winning delegate total can hardly begin too soon in laying the major groundwork. For instance, by January of 1967 Richard Nixon had hundreds of southern and other delegates largely tucked away for the 1968 elections.

Vital to the quest, of course, are the very special kinds of skills needed to "work the states" in preparation for the actual delegate-choosing. To put it most charitably, for all his resources and his ability to command talent, Nelson Rockefeller in past times never was blessed with the skilled delegate-hunters a winning candidate requires.

Potential managers with this requisite grasp of the field situation in the 50 states are never a plentiful crop. Right now, a bare handul of proven ability are still available to Rocky. He knows their names. And he seems from all private accounts to have some notion what it cost him not to have such talents at his disposal in his prior races.

If word does not filter out by at least mid-spring of 1974 that the governor had quietly taken aboard and put to work one or more of these skilled agents, then his 1976 candidacy will have to be seriously downgraded. He will be on the way to repeating rather than wiping out his strategic errors of the past.

Despite Rocky's declared assurances that there is no political gimmickry in his taking command of the Commission on Critical Choices, a group bent on searching out long-range U.S. goals, most observers see it as a political vehicle and question its value on many counts. The shelves already groan with goals studies, and besides this is not what the governor needs to be doing unless he has truly lost some of his resolve for 1976. We'll know by next May, from the number of his road trips and his naming of political helpers (if any), how serious he is.

Those are his personal critical choices.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

Beginning of wisdom

Now that we are approaching the season commemorating the birth-date of our world savior, let us make it a time for the beginning of wisdom. When will the world cease inventing scapegoats upon whom to pass off their sense of guilt and frustration? In Old Testament times, it was the sacrificial lamb. In the New Testament era, it was Jesus. Now that the Bible has about run its course, we turn to flogging our President.

As recently as three years ago we were warned of the impending fuel shortage if certain measures were not taken. We were told that too much reliance on foreign nations was inimical to our welfare and survival. The opposing political party said this was all hog-wash and the ecologists gave weight to this assertion by adding that it would ruin us and pollute the environment to drill or mine natural resources from our land.

We all feel betrayed by the present energy crisis and, like immature children, the political party out of office is helping by heaping all the blame on one man for the bungling and mismanagement they themselves created. This would not have happened if those whom we elect to guide us had been more civic minded instead of political-party oriented. When party interest comes before the well-being and protection of the people, the world is in trouble. The news media is of no help because they allow self-interest to overrule common sense fair play and impartiality.

Anyone familiar with economics would have surmised that if the rest of the world needs our food supply and the American dollar needs stabilizing, the simple thing to do would be to insist that these countries help balance our currency in exchange for our food.

What has all this misinformation done for us? It has earned us a fuel shortage. Millions have been made jobless because gas powered vehicles and electrically operated industries cannot function without fuel or energy. We have the pleasure of cold sub-temperature homes and offices and near empty stomachs because our dollar has no value and our food supply continues to diminish. It is clear that we follow leaders who have lost contact with nature, wisdom and reality.

For Christmas, why don't we all unite in sending greetings and well-wishes to our President and his First Lady? — Ruth Leerskov, Montclair.

Gossip for today

It never rains but it pours! It is bad enough to have to listen day after day to the dire warnings of the Big Shots in the government and the electrical industry who insist we are going to have brown-outs, black-outs and arbitrary rotating turn-offs if we don't mend our ways and cut down on our use of electricity. But look what may happen to us if we attempt to do our patriotic duty and start paracticing conservation. According to Ralph Nader, there's the possibility that if we decide to substitute candle lights for electric lights, we may be exposing ourselves to lead poisoning.

INSIDE REPORT

Israel key to anti-U.S. embargo

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The easing of the Arab oil embargo promised last week was so slight as to be almost imperceptible, but it marked a psychological breakthrough partially easing Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's fear of bargaining "at the point of a gun."

The new position of the Arab oil states — that the embargo against the U.S. will end when Israel totally agrees to withdraw from "all territories" seized in 1967 — also marked the first slight willingness by militant Kuwait to open the door so much as a crack.

The promise to end the anti-American embargo when Israel agrees to withdraw was first pressed at the meeting of Arab oil moguls in Kuwait Oct. 18. Saudi Arabian oil minister Zaki Yamani formally proposed a resolution that merely Israeli agreement, not Israeli action, should be sufficient to end the anti-American embargo.

According to those present, Yamani argued long and persuasively but never had a chance. Instead, the Kuwaitis, who unlike the Saudis are militantly anti-American on the Israeli question, gave an unyielding no. To preserve the unity which is essential to make good on the oil embargo against the U.S. and the production cutback for other countries, Saudi Arabia went along. Not until last week, when the oil ministers met in Kuwait for the third time since the Yom Kippur war, was Saudi Arabia able to get the new policy adopted.

Militant Kuwait agrees

Far less important than the barely perceptible difference between the old policy (no end of the boycott until Israel actually withdraws) and the new one is the fact that militant Kuwait agreed to it. Kuwait, which has a popularly elected assembly, has been even more intransigent than Algeria and Libya.

The switch to this slightly less extreme policy was pressed hard by Kissinger, partly because the dangerous American energy crisis is now a ticking time-bomb. The end of the boycott and the resumption of full-scale production will at least lengthen the fuse of that bomb.

Moreover, Kissinger fears the political impact on the Nixon administration of the U.S. co-hosting the Middle East peace conference (with the Soviet Union) under the threat of "Arab blackmail." Says one expert here: "Kissinger doesn't want the President placed in the odious position of bargaining at the point of a gun."

Thus, ever since the Nov. 4 meeting of Arab oil ministers, Kissinger has been negotiating with the major Arab oil states to ease his and the President's domestic political liabilities.

The slight easing of the Arab position was the first stage. The second stage is to extract a more visible and meaningful concession on ending the boycott and renewing full production, this time geared to Israeli agreement to pull back from the west bank of the Suez Canal captured from Egypt in the latest war. Under this formula, the embargo would end as soon as Israel showed good faith by starting to pull out of the west bank.

Amenable to concessions

Kuwait's switch between Oct. 18 and Dec. 9 proves that the Arabs are amenable to making concessions so long as they are convinced that the U.S. means what it says about pushing for Israeli withdrawal from territories seized in 1967.

Just how broad those concessions may eventually be is impossible to predict. But there have been several private "understandings" with Kissinger that could ease the tortuous course of the peace conference.

For example, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia has assured the U.S. that, although he regards eventual disposition of Jerusalem as by far the most important part of the Arab-Israeli deadlock, he has set no conditions.

Instead, he has informed the U.S. that any settlement of Jerusalem agreed to by the Arab states taking part in the peace conference will have his support. Jerusalem is a highly emotional issue for all Moslems but most of all for Faisal, spiritual leader of Islam. Hence, his pledge not to intervene in the peace conference negotiations on Jerusalem, probably the most difficult issue the diplomats will face, is highly significant.

The switch by Kuwait and the King's agreement to stay out of the Jerusalem bargaining may seem extremely minor parts of the complex negotiating canvas about to be unveiled in Geneva. But considering the lack of any movement at all in 25 years of the irreconcilable conflict, they also have the quality of uniqueness.

STUDENT ART SHOW

Doreen McOwen, 15, and her little sister, Dawn, 11, of Diamond Bar, pause to admire paintings exhibited in the semiannual Esther Taylor Student Art Show which was held last Saturday at the Diamond Bar Plaza. Both Doreen and Dawn won honorable mention ribbons on paintings they entered in the show.

Diamond Bar art show winners are announced

DIAMOND BAR — Seven art students won first-place ribbons in the semiannual show held Saturday at Diamond Bar Plaza by teacher Esther Taylor.

In the category for those 6 to 9, Yvonne Medine, 9, received a blue ribbon in pastels; Donna Damiano, 8, in landscape-seascape; and Ingrid Barauskas, 8, in portraits and figures.

In the 10-to 15-year-old category, Chad Stubbs, 12, won blue ribbons in still life and florals and in portraits and figures. Troy Gutierrez, 11, won the blue ribbon in landscapes and seascapes.

Lynn Tosti, 14, won a blue ribbon awarded for landscape-seascape in oils. Jackie McIntrye, 15, won the blue ribbon awarded for portraits in that classification.

Mrs. Taylor said some 50 boys and girls ranging in age from 6 to 15 entered works in the show. Some 200 paintings were shown. A number were sold.

Lucile and George Taylor of La Puente judged the show. Ribbons were provided by owners of the Diamond Bar Home Center.

Post offices limit window service on 2 coming Mondays

Window service on the days before Christmas and the New Year will be limited to the mornings by local post offices.

Pomona Postmaster Warren Lynch announced that while all post offices in the Pomona Valley area will maintain normal delivery and collection schedule next Monday and again on Dec. 31, the windows will be open from 8:30 a.m. to noon on those days.

Educators protest porno film showing

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Showing of the film "Deep Throat" at Flack's Fifth Avenue Theater has drawn a protest from the Rowland school board which has been relayed by the superintendent to the state attorney general.

"The Board of Education wishes to record its opposition to this film on the basis of its content, that it is not suitable to a residential community, and they join with other organizations and individuals in this community in asking you to do everything in your power to take approprate legal action to prevent future showings of the film 'Deep Throat' in the Rowland Heights community," Supt. Stanley G. Oswalt wrote Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger.

"The school district has worked cooperatively with groups and individuals to provide recreation services and other facilities suitable for youth in our community.

"The exclusive showing of this film denies our teen-age population as well as younger children the opportunity to view appropriate films in this area.

"The theater in question is the only facility of its kind within a seven-to 12-mile radius."

Copies of Oswalt's letter were sent to Mrs. Carolyn Rosas, chairman of the Rowland Heights Coordinating Council; Joseph Busch, Los Angeles County district attorney; and Peter Schabarum, a member of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

School band, new choir perform at Yule program

WALNUT — During the recent Christmas program at Suzanne School parents, teachers and students heard presentations by the school band and a newly formed choir.

Richard Massaro directed the band in such selections as "Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer," "Christmas Gift" and "Santa's Holiday."

Larry Cline introduced the new school choir in tunes "Joyous Christmas" "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and "Now Is the Caroling Season." Margaret Frazier was accompanist.

Among the guests at the affair were Dr. David L. Brown, superintendent of Walnut Valley Unified School District, and school board member J. Edwin Nettell.

During the program, Mrs. William Wentworth, president of the school Community Club, announced that the club had allocated $1,000 in dedication to Mrs. Barbara Rossi for the purchase of books for the school library. Mrs. Rossi served as librarian for the district.

Mrs. Wentworth also asked for volunteers to serve hot dogs on Monday of each week. Interested persons should call Mrs. Kenneth Boyd, 595-1414.

Mrs. Richard Laughter was ratified as vice president of the Community Club.

State motorists buying more gas

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians are still buying gasoline in record volume despite last summer's gas shortage and the current fuel crisis.

Records provided Tuesday by the state showed Californians purchased about 8.68 billion gallons of gas through October of this year. For the same 10 months of 1972, the total was 8.35 billion gallons.

The figures were compiled by the state Board of Equalization, which collects tax on all gas distributed in the state.

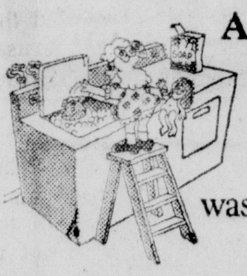
It doesn't take a lot of energy to save a lot of energy.

For some years the Gas Company has been suggesting ways you can cut back on the amount of gas you use without cutting down on your comfort. In today's energy situation they are more important than ever.

Can you, as an individual, really make a meaningful contribution to energy conservation? "What effect will it have if I turn my heat down 6 degrees?" For the answer just multiply this energy saving by over 3,000,000 Gas Company customers. That's a lot of heat, a lot of energy and a lot of money saved.

******

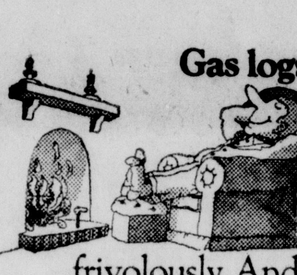
A little wash can waste gas. Wait till you have a full load before starting your clothes washer or dryer or the dishwasher. Saves work, saves energy.



Don't use more flame than you need.
Adjust it to fit the pan. Turning the burner too high burns up a lot of gas—and sometimes the food. Other savers: If the food you're cooking calls for a preheated oven, don't preheat the oven too long—not over 10 minutes. Cover saucepans while cooking. And never use the oven to heat the kitchen.

Always wash full loads. Every time you turn on the hot water faucet, you're using gas as well as water. So get all the use you can out of your hot water before it goes down the drain. Step in the shower as soon as the water heats up. And don't fill the tub any higher than need be.

Don't heat the great outdoors.
At night draw the drapes to help keep the day's heat indoors. In the morning set your thermostat at the recommended 68° and leave it there. Turn it down when you go to bed or leave the house for the day. And on sunny days open the draperies and let the sun do some of your heating. It's free.



Gas logs may cure cold feet, but..
...they aren't meant to warm your whole house. You'll be gas and money ahead if you don't use them frivolously. And be sure the damper is closed when the fireplace is not in use.

Turn off lights you don't need.
Outdoor gas lights are very romantic. But so is the light from above. And it's not reflected on your gas meter. If you have gas lights for security or safety, fine. If they're purely decorative and you would like us to shut them off for you, just call us.

Why heat it when you're not using it?
This time of year a morning dip can be too shivery an experience for most of us. But if the outside temperature doesn't faze you, then perhaps you're rugged enough to turn down the pool heater a few notches, too. In fact, during this period, pool heaters should be used as little as possible. Call us if you would like us to shut yours off for you.

******

At the Gas Company we've taken a hard look at our own operation and have cut our energy consumption.

We're turning off all ornamental and display lighting outside. We're cutting down on lighting inside our buildings. And we're adjusting heating temperatures downward and cooling temperatures upward.

We urge other companies that haven't yet done so to take similar energy-saving steps, and we hope they can do even better than we have.

We have more ways to save energy around your home, and we've put them all in a helpful hints booklet. For a free copy write to Consumer Information Dept., Mail Location 24, P.O. Box 3249, Terminal Annex, Los Angeles 90051. Or pick one up at your local Gas Company office.

Grow vegetables hydroponically— easy, inexpensive

By PATRICK SPENCER
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Tired of the high price of vegetables? Fancy you'd like to grow your own, but are too busy to contend with the demands of traditional soil gardening?

Then consider soilless, weed-free hydroponics gardening. Better yet, jump right in. It's ridiculously easy on both you and your pocketbook. For less than the price of two steak dinners, you can outfit yourself with the necessary equipment to grow your favorite vegetables with little fuss in any sunny spot around the house.

While hydroponics has a science-fiction ring to it, the technique is centuries-old. It was used in the floating gardens of Xochimilco, Mexico, in the 1500s. There's even some evidence that the hanging gardens of Babylon were partly soilless.

The idea was dusted off in the Thirties when serious research began, got a boost during World War II as an inexpensive way to supply fresh produce to troops, flourished in both private and commercial operations all over the world and is now popping up in backyards across the nation.

Essentially the process involves growing plants in trays of a water solution containing some 13 plant nutrients. No soil is involved, but natural or artificial rock, or sand is used to support the plant while it grows.

A few years back, the home hobbyist had to mix his own nutrients and build his own containers, but now the nutrients are ready-mixed, growing media are pre-packaged and a variety of clever growing containers are available.

While buckets, wading pools and kitty-litter boxes can be used, you can purchase a twin-tray affair in plastic that fits together like a double-boiler and operates like an old-fashioned cigarette lighter.

A two-week supply of nutrient solution goes into the bottom and is drawn up to the plants by several wicks extending down from the top tray.

The self-feeding kit comes with seeds, nutrients, growing medium and instructions for just under $15.

On the other end of the scale are fully automated, air-conditioned greenhouses that run from $1,000 to $2,000.

Providing the ultimate in comfort and luxury, the greenhouses are equipped with timed pumps that transfer nutrient solutions from large holding tanks at regular intervals. Fans and heaters maintain temperatures at a constant 85 degrees, and virtually eliminate smog damage, insect and disease problems.

While the basic techniques are simple, hydroponics, like soil gardening, requires a little specialized knowledge. That, too, was once hard to come by, but a number of paperback books are now on the market, attesting to the growing popularity of hydroponics.

In addition, schools and YMCA's are beginning to teach the techniques. In the local area, the Pomona Y will start a second four-week course Jan. 15. The Claremont Y also plans classes in the near future and several high schools are installing hydroponic gardens for teaching purposes.

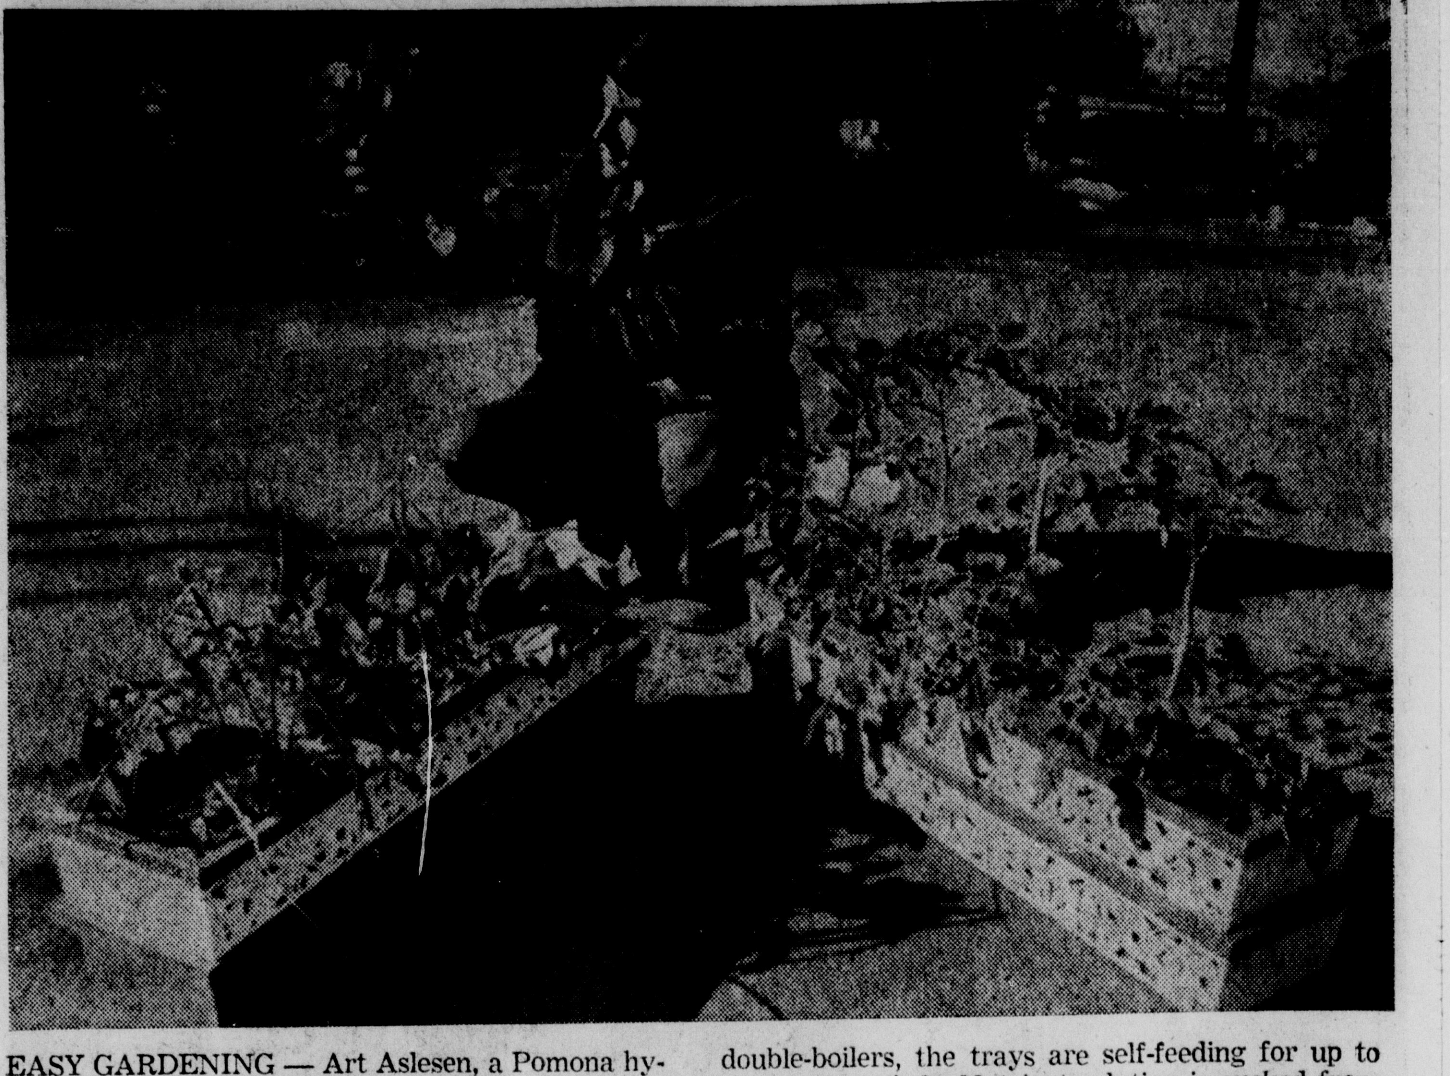
If you'd like to try your green thumb out on hydroponics, you might visit the area's only present dealer, Art Aslesen, at his store at 637 W. Holt Avenue.

Aslesen, a Cal Poly business graduate, started out with a wadding pool in his backyard about five years ago. Bitten hard by the hydroponics bug, he and his wife traveled the country researching the field before opening up their own dealership several months ago.

In addition to carrying various lines of basic equipment and providing a wealth of knowledge on the subject, Aslesen is manufacturing his own line of backyard greenhouses.

Besides providing fresh produce year-round, Aslesen says the green houses with their comfortable temperatures and high oxygen atmosphere are good places to relax in.

"It's more than just a hobby," he says, "it's therapy and great place to have fun."



EASY GARDENING — Art Aslesen, a Pomona hydroponic gardening equipment dealer, examines a young lettuce plant ready for transplanting. The trays brimming with fresh salad makings are the latest wrinkle in soilless gardening gear. Made like double-boilers, the trays are self-feeding for up to two-week periods. Nutrient solution is sucked from the bottom tray through a series of wicks extending down from the top tray to keep the plants well fed.

Patience helps—but not necessary

Guide for budding Bonsai artists

If you'd like,to grow one of those picturesque, dwarfed or shaped in Japanses fashion, don't let the name Bonsai intimidate you.

It is true that in Japan a gardener may start a young bonsai plant that will come to perfection in the lifetime of his grandchildren. Patience is a big factor in shaping and training a specimen to the desired form.

But, if patience isn't a virtue of yours, most nurseries offer pre-started or already-grown Bonsai plants in pots. You can grow and enjoy the creation at home.

Many nurseries have Bonsai kits available, but for those who wish to start one from a seedling, or shop for unique-looking specimens to train, there are simplified procedures to follow that will yield faster results. A Bonsai fashioned from a year-old seedling can be a prized possession in less than ten years and perhaps five, depending upon the plant. If you find a larger specimen in a nursery container you can have an attractive piece immediately.

When starting with older plants, look for irregular growth rather than shapely ones. Prune unwanted branches to add interest to your creation. Keep in mind, as you prune, the shape you are trying to achieve. There are books available that provide in-depth information on the art of Bonsai, and illustrations to give ideas on structure and shapes.

Shopping for year-old seedlings to bonsai is an entertaining adventure. Using young plants has certain advantages. The trunk and branches will be pliable and easy to train. Authoratative Bonsai literature will show how to wire the branches and trunks to achieve artistic shapes. Pruning young plants is confined to removing a few unwanted branches with sharp shears, then pinching back new growth as it appears. This results in stouter trunks and smaller foliage.

Start your seedling in a small pot. A variety of Bonsai containers is available at most nurseries. These are usually shallow—longer and wider than they are deep. Increase the size of the container from year to year until the plant has reached the ultimate size you desire.

When placing the plant in the container, try tilting it slightly for dramatic effect. If the bowl is oblong, set the plant closer to one end than the other. If the container is round, place the bonsai in the center.

Soil for Bonsai specimens should be porous and not excessively rich. Your nurseryman can recommend a planting mixture to use. Drainage holes in the container are necessary and should be covered with a fine wire screen or pieces of broken crockery—set over the holes to prevent soil loss. After putting in a layer of gravel in the bottom of the container, add a layer of sand. Place the plant in the container, spread out its roots and then add the soil mixture. Firm the soil and water thoroughly with a fine spray.

Carying for Bonsai plants is different than that of shrubs or trees in the garden, or growing in redwood tubs. The Bonsai plants depend on your help to live in a small area of soil. Watering is very important—once a day with a fine mist is average. In hot weather the plants may need water two or three times a day.

Gardener's Checklist ✓

1. If you haven't already invested in a Christmas tree, look over the "living" Christmas trees at local nurseries. These can be kept in containers and brought indoors each year for a while and finally planted outdoors permanently.
2. Hardy garden lilies for bloom next spring and summer should be planted now.
3. America's favorite flower makes a wonderful Christmas gift. Why not give rose bushes to homeowners on your Christmas list?
4. Make you first planting of gladiolus as soon as they show up in nurseries. Some are already there, waiting for you to take home and plant.
5. For the amazement of your children, grow a bulb or three in a bowl filled with gravel and some water or in a hyacinth glass. Even adults like it.

Hot seat for Whitelaw

Britain's Kissinger will need miracle

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Lights are browning out all over Britain, facing Prime Minister Edward Heath with perhaps his greatest challenge.

To meet it he has called upon the man already credited with a near-miracle in Northern Ireland. He is William Whitelaw, who as minister of state for Ulster is credited with bringing Catholic and Protestant together in a joint effort toward ending 300 years of religious warfare.

With that accord still in its fragile infancy, Heath called him home to take over an economic problem which many believe Heath's government cannot survive.

Whitelaw's title is minister of employment, which falls far short of describing the responsibilities he will bear in the search for escape from the quagmire in which Britain finds itself.

As the man in charge of jobs, prices and wages, it will be his task to find a meeting ground between the rebellious unions and the government's tough phase III of its economic program, which sets a general ceiling of seven per cent on wage and price rises.

These are some of the problems with which Whitelaw must deal immediately:

—Coal miners have rejected a 13 per cent increase and, along with electric power engineers, are refusing to work overtime. The result is a gradually spreading brownout. The miners are threatening to go out on total strike as they did two years ago.

—Locomotive engineers have been offered a 15 per cent increase but are demanding more. A decision by the railmen to join in the refusal to work overtime could be the crowning blow to Christmas plans for tens of thousands of Britons.

—Also in the queue for higher wages are engineering workers, teachers, some civil workers, mailmen and shop workers. Ambulance men are taking only emergency cases.

As theater marquee lights have blinked out and offices have darkened early in response to a government plea for a 10 per cent cut in power and fuel consumption, chilled Britons were going through the coldest November in 100 years.

Nor was that all. Hundreds of gasoline filling stations had run dry because of the Arab oil boycott. Others were rationing their customers, some doling out as little as a gallon at a time.

October's trade deficit was the worst in British history.

Foreign trade figures to be announced soon also were expected to be deeply in the red. Currency speculators pushed the pound to an all-time low against the U.S. dollar.

With inflation already high, it was considered inevitable that prices of essential goods would go still higher and that unemployment would increase. The government increased its lending rate and was expected also to increase taxes to limit credit and discourage buying.

Heath has insisted he will stand by his guns and in Whitelaw has called in the man in whose prestige as a conciliator undoubtedly is the highest in Britain to help him do it.

If Whitelaw is to succeed he will need all his talents.

Colson finds inner serenity with prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former White House political operative Charles W. Colson, who once boasted "I would walk over my own grandmother if necessary," says he has undergone an intense religious experience and "found a relationship with Christ."

Colson, 42, now a Washington lawyer, is reputed to have masterminded many of the Nixon re-election campaign "dirty tricks" and is reported to be under investigation by a Watergate grand jury.

His newly found feelings of "a great inner serenity" were printed recently in an interview in the Washington Post.

His uncharacteristic conversion has brought him into kinship—and regular prayer sessions—with Iowa Sen. Harold Hughes, a liberal Democrat who has announced he will not run for re-election and will instead become a lay religious worker.

Colson said his awareness of Christ began in March of this year, before his name was linked to any of the Watergate-related incidents. He did not elaborate on the specific revelation he said caused his conversion.

Colson said he was influenced by a friend, Boston businessman Tom Phillips, and a book by British philosopher C.S. Lewis.

The Post said it learned of Colson's new beliefs two weeks ago when he was spotted in the White House and asked what he was doing there. He said he was attending a prayer breakfast.

"Someone asked me last week whether people wouldn't say I was hiding behind God to escape from the Watergate," he was quoted as saying. "My answer to them was...I'll pray for them. That's all I can say.

Benson and Hietikko vows are exchanged

Miss Darlene Jane Hietikko and Robert Allen Benson were married in a candlelight ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church. Officiant was the Rev. George A. Wilson.

MRS ROBERT BENSON

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hietikko of Pomona was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Benson of Pomona.

A floor-length gown of organza with pearled chantilly lace was worn by the bride. Laced outlined the oval neckline, the cuffs and the A-line skirt. Her cathedral-length illusion mantilla veil was edged with matching lace and held by a Juliet cap.

A cascade arrangement of white daisies, white carnations, baby's breath and a few deep red roses was carried by the bride.

Miss Amy Lyons was maid of honor and Mrs. Robert Hietikko, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid. Miss Christine Michaels was flower girl and Mrs. Chuck Michaels handled the guest book.

Rick Benson was best man and Terry Hietikko was groomsmen. Ushers were Andy Benson and Jim Coley.

Among the special guests at the wedding and reception at the American Legion Hall were the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Van Luven, Sault Ste Marie, Mich.

After a honeymoon trip to Big Bear Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Benson will reside in Pomona.

Ready for emergencies

Be a relaxed hostess

Here comes the holidays jetting down faster than the speed of sound with all the last-minute things to do plus worrying about how to get the house in shape for the festivities.

Susann Akers, Johnson Wax consumer information specialist, says it's a good idea to start off with a little survey. What needs attention the most? The floors? If they're wood, do they need a wall-to-wall waxing or will a good buffing and some patch waxing do the job? If you don't need to do the entire floor, patch wax at entryways and where traffic will be heavy or where food and drink are likely to be spilled. The additional coat of wax in strategic areas will keep your floors from taking a beating and help protect them from spills.

Seeing spots on the wall-to-wall carpeting? It's easy to shampoo carpeting or a rug with either a liquid or spray foam rug cleaner that dries in about four hours. You'll get much better resuts if you spot-cean first, then do the entire carpet, being sure to follow directions on the label. Warning: don't do this on a damp or humid day; it will take longer to dry. And be sure to test a corner of the rug for color fastness before proceeding.

You can give any wall in your house a quick facelift with an aerosol wall washer that requires no water and little effort, and makes no mess. Just squirt onto the wall, stand back and watch the dirt foam up, then wipe with a clean damp sponge. The wall washer does a great clean-up job on painted walls, washable wallpapers, ceilings, woodwork.

Now the furniture. If you habitually use an aerosol dusting wax on your furniture, before holidays when you will be entertaining a great deal it's wise to switch to a paste wax. Apply a small amount with a clean cloth, buff well. Two or three coats of paste wax applied to coffee, end, and dining room tables, sideboards, buffets and other surfaces where food and drink are going to be set down can help protect the surface from damage. A well-waxed surface doesn't spot as easily and, should damage occur, it's easier to correct.

For a pleasant-smelling atmosphere no matter what's cooking or who's smoking, keep a couple of the new natural scented air-fresheners on hand. They come in true-to-life scents of lime, lemon and rose and are indispensible for routing out unpleasant odors and giving the atmosphere a lift.

When the inevitable holiday mishaps occur, here are suggestions for coping from the Johnson Wax consumer information specialist. To get rid of candle wax on your table top, harden the dripped wax by holding an ice cube on it ten seconds. Crumble off as much wax as possible with your fingers, then scrape gently with a dull knife or plastic cooking tool such as a nylon spatula. Rub briskly with a cloth saturated with polish and wipe dry with a clean cloth. Repeat until the mark disappears.

For alcohol spots: Try to wipe up alcohol spills as quickly as possible because it has a tendency to dissolve the finish on furniture. If the finish has been protected with wax, immediate attention may prevent a spot. If damage occurs, dip your finger in paste wax, linseed oil, silver polish — or even moistened cigar ash — and rub over the damaged area. Then rewax. This should work if the damage hasn't gone too deep.

For accidents on rugs: Liquids should be blotted up, using tissues, paper towels or clean white cloths. Blot with a light touch to prevent spreading liquid or working it into fibers. Thick or solid substances should be lifted off with a spoon or the dull edge of a knife or spatula.

TODAY'S Women

New course planned for women by Chaffey

Chaffey Community College will offer a new course, especially for women in the community, beginning Jan. 3, in the Ontario Public Library, 215 E. C St., from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, for 10 weeks. There is no tuition charge.

The course, "Exploring Alternatives for Women," is designed to help women understand their aptitudes, interests and values in an effort to help them make decisions for change in their lives. Registration will be accepted at the first class.

Maggi Wargin, the instructor, returned to school at 36, received her A.A. from Chaffey, her B.A. from Pitzer College, Claremont, and her M.S. in counseling from California State University at Los Angeles.

It is hoped that women who are considering college, work or creative volunteerism will take the class. The course is offered through the assistance of the Human Services Center at Chaffey in conjunction with the Continuing Education program, and will earn the student who takes the course four units of college credit toward an Associate in Arts degree.

NFL's Super Bowl tourney begins

By United Press International

The Minnesota Vikings and the Washington Redskins, preparing for Saturday's NFC playoff match, have spent the week looking for one thing.

The Vikings were searching for a place to practice that wasn't covered by a foot of snow and the Redskins were looking for a starting quarterback.

NFL playoffs at glance

Saturday's playoffs

Washington at Minnesota, 10 a.m. (Channel 2)

Pittsburgh at Oakland, 1 p.m. (Channel 4)

Sunday's playoffs

Cincinnati at Miami, 10 a.m. (Channel 4)

Los Angeles at Dallas, 1 p.m. (Channel 2)

Both had varying degrees of success in the search Thursday.

The Vikings, who had gone from Bloomington to Tulsa, Okla. in search of a field that wasn't covered by snow only to be hit by a snowstorm, were able to practice outdoors Thursday.

And the Redskins got Billy Kilmer out of the hospital and on the field practice.

But until Saturday's 10 a.m. PST test, it'll be difficult to tell which team fared better. The game will start a weekend of four nationally televised playoff games. Oakland hosts Pittsburgh in the second Saturday game and Cincinnati is at Miami and Los Angeles is at Dallas in the two Sunday games.

On Wednesday, the snow was so bad in Tulsa that the Vikings had to practice indoors. And when one of the team buses was stopped behind stalled cars, some of the playeers got out and pushed to clear up the jam.

"Some of the drivers looked a little startled," chuckled one player. "I don't think some of them knew what was happening. Here were all these big guys appearing from nowhere and pushing their cars. But the Vikings cleared the way."

On Thursday, coach Bud Grant was able to have his team practice outdoors on Tartan turf.

LOCAL-NATIONAL

Sports

By Minnesota standards, the forecast for Saturday isn't that bad. The weatherman predicts temperatures highs in the teens or low 20s. That'll be nothing like the famous "ice bowl" title game between Green Bay and Dallas in 1967.

Of course, cold during a game doesn't concern Grant and he won't let the team use heaters or wear gloves.

"Cold is a state of mind," he said. "Our job is to play football, whether it's cold or not. We're like contruction workers or telephone repairmen. They can't stop working just because of the whether. And we can't, either."

The Vikings flew to Bloomington Thursday night from Tulsa and will have a workout Friday there.

The Redskins are going to practice at Redskin Park outside Washington today before flying to Bloomington. Coach George Allen, who doesn't like distractions, is skipping a workout in Minnesota. He'd rather have his team practice at home.

Allen has to decide whether to start Billy Kilmer or Sonny Jurgensen at quarterback against the Vikings.

Kilmer was hospitalized earlier in the week with a stomach ailment while Jurgensen is hobbling on a bad knee that will need surgery at the end of the season. Kilmer got his first practice of the week in Thursday.

"Billy took nearly all the practice today and he did a good job," Allen said. "We'll see how he is tomorrow. He has been on liquids so he's bound to be a little weak.

"Right now Sonny has the edge because he's worked out all week, but I'd prefer Billy because he is sounder physically," he said.

Allen said it is possible he will activate reserve quarterback Sam Wyche but does not want to because it would weaken the Redskin specialty teams.

If Allen doesn't activate Wyche, his only healthy quarterback, and both Kilmer and Jurgensen are sidelined during the game, the Redskins will be in desperate trouble.

Mainly because of the shaky Redskin QB situation, the Vikings are favored by a touchdown.

The Oakland-Pittsburgh rivalry is starting to become one of the most bitter ones in sports. This is the fourth meeting between the two teams in the last two seasons and Pittsburgh has won the first three.

But Oakland still contends it was robbed by the referee's decision in the playoff game between the two clubs in Pittsburgh last year when Franco Harris made his celebrated deflected catch and ran for a touchdown. The Raiders insist it was an illegal play.

Feelings between the two teams didn't improve this year when Pittsburgh went out to Oakland, beat the Raiders and then charged them with dirty tricks like throwing an under inflated ball into the game and wearing grease on jerseys. A league investigation cleared the Raiders.

Then last week, Oakland caught three Pittsburgh scouts in its press box scouting the Denver game, using writers' credentials. The men were ejected and the Pro Football Writers Association has protested because the writers didn't know their names were being used.

Oakland, with the home team field edge, is listed as a fourpoint favorite.

On Sunday, Miami, which won the Super Bowl last year with a perfect 17-0 record, is a nine-point choice over Cincinnati. Dallas is listed by two over Los Angeles although the Rams won a regular season meeting 37-31 when John Hadl threw four touchdown passes to Hal Jackson.

Kind Mr. Hayes arrives

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Watch out, John McKay. Woody Hayes is going to kill you with kindness.

Hayes and his Ohio State football team arrived in Southern California's bright sunshine from the frigid Midwest Thursday and Hayes immediately began lavishing praise on his Rose Bowl coaching counterpart.

"I think it's about time someone realizes what John McKay has meant to American collegiate football," the Buckeyes' coach said at a Los Angeles Airport news conference.

"He's been the chief innovator in the last 10 years. He's outdistanced all of the other coaches and its no secret that a lot of us one way or another have tried to copy the things he does in his "I" formation.

"I think he utilizes the running of his tailback and the passing of his quarterback better than anyone else does in college football."

The 59-year-old Hayes, often bombastic in his previous Rose Bowl trips from Columbus, was smiling and affable during his news conference.

He also lauded McKay's University of Southern California players, calling Trojans' flanker Lynn Swann "the fastest man in the country."

"Last spring Paul Brown (coach of the Cincinnati Bengals) visited the West Coast and he came back and told me he'd seen this fella (Pat) Haden," recounted Hayes. "He said, 'Boy, he's about as good a college quarterback as I've ever seen' and Paul doesn't lavish praise like that."

Making his sixth trip to the Pasadena, Calif., classic in 23 years at Ohio State, Hayes will be out to end a string of four straight New Year's Day wins by the Pacific-8. Two of the defeats were suffered by his Buckeyes, including a 42-17 thrashing at the hands of USC last season.

The news conference which had gone smoothly ended suddenly when a radio newsman asked Hayes about shoving a camera into the face of Los Angeles Times' photographer Art Rogers before last season's Rose Bowl game.

"Okay, now we've been around long enough," said Hayes, standing up. "We've given you a good interview and we're not going to rehash that one now. We're here to play football."

The Buckeyes begin the Southern California phase of their workouts today, practicing at Citrus College at Azusa, Calif. They're scheduled to visit Disneyland Saturday.

Rams plan ground war in Dallas

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams wound up heavy practice Thursday for their playoff game against the Dallas Cowboys, concentrating on offensive formations.

The Rams led the National football League in total offense, averaging 350.4 yards per game as they progressed to a 12-2 record to win the NFC West.

Their rushing average was 208.9 per game and their passing accounted for 141.5 so the stress is on the ground game.

Coach Chuck Knox has relied mainly on Lawrence McCutcheon (1,097 yards) and Jim Bertelsen (854 yards) but he has good bench strength in Tony Baker, Larry Smith, Lester Josephson and Rob Scribner.

"McCutcheon is obviously our best runner but he is also a good blocker," says Knox. "Bertelsen does some excellent blocking for McCutcheon."

Knox makes no secret of the Ram running tactics, the key being option blocking and option running.

"Our ball carrier," he expalins, "Is not committed to one hole. He watches the blocker ahead of him. If the blocker takes his man inside, the runner goes outside. If the blocker takes his man outside, the runner goes inside."

Lakers trying to keep pace

INGLEWOOD , Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers, who upset the Milwaukee Bucks 109-107 on Jim Price's shot at the buzzer Tuesday night, try to make it two in a row tonight when they face the Philadelphia 76ers.

Winners of only two of 10 games before beating the Bucks, the Lakers will be trying to keep pace with the Golden State Warriors in the Pacific Division. The Warriors lead the division by only .012.

Philadelphia captured only nine games last season but already have 11 wins this year.

Morningside, Verbum Dei eye title

Ganesha dumps Saints

By CRAIG TRAVIS

WALNUT — A total of nine points determined the outcome of three basketball games Thursday night in the semifinal round of the San Dimas Tournament of Champions at Mt. San Antonio College.

In the only lop-sided decision of the day, Ganesha defeated San Dimas easily 58-38 while Covina edged Murphy 60-57 in the other consolation contest. In the championship bracket, Verbum Dei edged Pasadena, 56-54, with Morningside holding off a fourth quarter St. Elizabeth comeback to edge the Mustangs, 69-65.

Championship

Verbum Dei vs. Morningside, 8:30 p.m.

Tonight's title contest will be a rematch of last year's finals in which Morningside beat Verbum Dei, 62-53.

St. Elizabeth may have lost two talented trees from last year's team, in All-American Wolfe Perry and supersoph Northern Shavers, who transferred to Oakland Tech, but the Mustangs still have a Louis in their Woods.

In the most exciting contest of the day, St. Elizabeth's Louis Woods poured in 37 points and broke a tourney record for the most field goals in a game despite the Mustangs' four-point loss.

The 6-foot-4½ senior center connected on 16 of 20 shot attempts to surpass the old mark of 15 field goals by Cliff Pondexter of San Joaquin Memorial last year.

Woods canned 12 of his teams' 14 first quarter points and then sat out the entire second quarter with three personal fouls.

That first stanza looked like a grudge match between Woods and Morningsides' 6-foot-7 center Mike Santos, who retaliated with 11 points. In the second stanza with Woods on the bench Santos and the Monarchs took advantage by taking a 36-28 lead to the lockers at intermission.

Woods started and tallied 13 points in the third eight-minute segment. Oscar Williams picked up the offensive for the Monarchs with 10 points, hitting on five of five attempts.

Woods again ended the stanza on the bench after being charged with his fourth personal foul. And again the Monarchs took advantage outscoring the 'Stangs 20-18 to take a 56-46 lead into the final quarter.

Woods immediately gave St. Elizabeth the momentum and concluded the night by scoring 12 points and drawing his team to a 66-63 deficit when he went to the bench with his fifth foul and 1:05 to play.

Santos and Morningside again took advantage of Woods' departure with the big center icing the game on a three-point play.

Santos finished the night with 19 points and seven rebounds to run his two-game totals to 42 points and 12 caroms. Woods' two-game stats list him with 56 points, high for the tourney, and 20 rebounds. Woods has made good 23 of 33 shot attempts.

Dave Greenwood scored 21 points, connecting on nine of 17 attempts, grabbed 15 rebounds and blocked seven shots to lead Verbum Dei to its 56-54 win over Pasadena.

Greenwood missed first round action due to a sprained ankle suffered Friday in a game with Blair.

Pasadena's Glenn McGiven scored on a field goal with 1:57 left in the game to tie the contest at 51-51.

Greenwood then extended Verbum Dei's lead to 56-52 with 50 seconds remaining before Pasadena's Mike Cooper added a two-pointer with 34 seconds to play.

Guard Michael Grey, who scored 26 points in Pasadena's 78-75 win over Ganesha Monday night and had already scored 12 points in this game, drove the length of the court in a final attempt to tie the game and got off a desperation shot, at the buzzer, that rolled off the buckle of the hoop.

Broderick Hunter and Cleve Porter combined for 38 points to lead Ganesha to its 20-point win over San Dimas.

Hunter tallied 22 points and hauled down 10 rebounds while Porter accounted for 16 points, including eight in the fourth quarter, and grabbed 10 caroms. Greg McCrary led San Dimas with 17 points and five rebounds.

Saint coach Bob Espinoza said prior to the tipoff, "We'll have to slow down their offense to even stay close." And stay close they did . . . for two quarters.

San Dimas trailed 18-17 at halftime before the Giants outscored the Saints 40-21 in the second half to blow the game wide open.

Cal Poly faces rugged weekend

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly basketball coach Don Hogan will soon learn how well his team can bounce back.

The Broncos, just off a bruising battle with Long Beach State Wednesday night, is busy this weekend. North Dakota State is escaping the winter blizzards by visiting Kellogg Gym tonight. Poly then gets up early Saturday to try its luck at Nevada Las Vegas Saturday night.

Tipoff for both games is 8 p.m.

Hogan gave his team a day of rest Thursday, figuring relaxation is the biggest thing his team needs.

"It was a rough game Wednesday and we have been working the team hard recently," Hogan said.

While disappointed about Wednesday's 79-54 loss to Long Beach, Hogan is encouraged by the good showing his undermanned team displayed against the 49ers' might and power.

"We're starting to respond as a team," Hogan said. "We're getting closer to our goals and we should be there by the first of the year if we keep progressing."

Poly enters tonight's game with a 2-4 record with three of the losses being to major college opponents. North Dakota State is 3-2 while Nevada Las Vegas has won six in a row after the stunning opening loss to Texas Tech.

Forward Horace Aubrey, the transfer from Compton College, has taken over the scoring lead with his 15-points at Long Beach. He is now averaging 14.7 points a game.

Center Lee Roy Williams, who was plaqued by foul problems Wednesday, fell off his season pace against Long Beach with four points and eight rebounds. He is now averaging 13.8 and 14.3 respectively.

The other probable Poly starters are Malcolm Kennedy, John Carrillo and Alphonso Adair but it's hard to tell with the rotating system Hogan has been using.

Coach Marv Skaar's North Dakota State team is enjoying the warm Southern California climate after escaping the below zero temperatures in Fargo Tuesday morning.

The Bison have lost to two major colleges in Wisconsin and San Jose State. Skaar says his team shoots (49 per cent) and rebounds well but is lacking in experience and quickness. He starts one junior, three sophomores and a freshman.

Forward Mark Gibbons (6-5) is North Dakota State's top scorer with a 18.2 average. Also averaging in double figures are guard Mark Emerson (6-3) at 17.8, forward Steve Saladino (6-6) at 14.0 and guard Randy Trine (6-3) at 11.8. Freshman center Warner Huss (6-7) is the fifth starter.

Poly will have a reunion with former coach Dan Ayala Saturday night when the Broncos play the Rebels at the sold-out Las Vegas Convention Center.

Ayala took the job as Jerry Tarkanian's top assistant at UNLV when Tarkanian left Long Beach for the Nevada sunshine.

"I am looking forward to seeing all my Cal Poly friends," Ayala said about Saturday's visit.

After the stunning loss to Texas Tech, Tarkanian's talented team has recorded wins over Stetson, Colorado, Oklahoma City, Oregon State, Washington State and UC Santa Barbara.

As expected, Tarkanian has been busy recruiting in collecting All-Americans from various parts of the country. Two of the Rebels' big guns — senior forward Bob Florence (6-4) and freshman center Lewis Brown (6-9) of Verbum Dei — have been out of action this week because of ankle injuries.

Tarkanian will probably start a lineup of: forwards Eddie Owens (6-6) and Jackie Robinson (6-5) of Morningside High, center Jimmie Baker (6-9) plus guards Ricky Sobers (6-3) and Pat Bolster (6-1).

There is also a lot of talent on the bench. George Schader, a 6-6 freshman from Covina, is averaging 18.2 points and 13.9 rebounds per game for the junior varsity. He also sees some varsity action.

UCLA goes for 80th in row

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Coming off a brilliant 84-66 victory over North Carolina State in last weekend's college basketball dream game, UCLA's Bruins go after their 80th straight victory tonight against Ohio University.

UCLA is also at home at Pauley Pavilion Saturday night, facing St. Bonaventure.

"My philosophy is that we don't try to rise to heights occasionally because of certain opponents," said Bruins' coach John Wooden, "but rather we attempt to maintain our pride through our own play regardless of the supposed strength of any opponent."

That means of course, Wooden doesn't expect any letdown following his club's prestigious victory at St. Louis last Saturday.

Bill Walton, college basketball's Player of the Year as a sophomore and junior, leads the Bruins in scoring with a 19.3 points per game average and 17.5 rebounds per game in his team's first four games this season.

Ohio University has a 2-2 record while St. Bonaventure is unbeaten in six starts.

Garey wins in Las Vegas tourney

Valley teams were very active in tournament play Thursday, with varied results.

Garey High put together its' finest game of the young season to edge Reno Roosevelt 81-80 in overtime in the opener of the Warrior Classic Tourney in Las Vegas.

Walnut downed Norwalk 62-49 in the Laguna Beach Tourney, while Ontario lost a squeaker to host Laguna Beach by a 56-54 count as part of the same tourney.

Rowland was ripped by Troy 93-60 in the opener of the Troy Tourney, while Western Christian posted a 60-50 win over La Sierra in consolation play of the Valley Christian Tourney..

The Vikings showed flashed of last years' form in downing Reno, a team rated as the number-two hoop power in Nevada. Delbert McDonald paced a balanced Viking attack with his 17 points, while Gary Carpenter added 15.

Center Art Hieckley of Reno led all scorers with 35 points in a losing effort.

Pancho Thomas tied the contest at 76-all and sent it into overtime with two free throws as time ran out on regulation play. Jerry Loftis' free throw with six seconds left clinched the win for Garey.

Garey will ccontinue play in the Las Vegas-based tourney tonight against Bullard of Fresno in a 7 p.m. contest.

Norwalk triple-teamed star forward Kirk Christ and held him to 14 points, but the Mustangs got balanced scoring from their other four starters to win 62-49. Lance Parrish led all scorers with 18 points, and Marcello Maurin added 16 for the Mustangs.

Walnut will continue play in the championship bracket of the Laguna Beach Tourney, facing University High at 9 p.m. tonight.

Ontario did not fare as well in the tourney, being edged by Laguna Beach 56-54. Jim Donaldson led all scorers with 17 points as the Jaguars made a run at the host school before falling short in the final period.

Ontario was slated play Sierra Vista at 4:30 p.m. in the Fifth Place semifinals.

Troy's superstar center Mark Wolfmeyer went to work against Rowland and dumped in 47 of his team's 93 points as Troy coasted past the Radiers 93-60. Wolfmeyer, a 6-1 center, connected on 20 of 31 shots from the floor as he upped an already-impressive 44.2 scoring average on the season.

Only high spot for Rowland was guard Robert Malave, who continued to play well and tossed in 22 points in the lsoing effort.

Western Christian got 23 points from Bruce Sider in beating a stubborn La Sierra five by a 60-50 count in the Valley Christian Tourney.

Western Christian will play Chaminade tonight at 5:00 p.m. for the consolation title.

Damien will also be in tourney action tonight as they face Notre Dame in the championship semifinals of the Pius X Tourney, in a gamee slate for an 8 p.m. tipoff.

Charlie Finley is gloating; Dick Williams job hunting

BOSTON (UPI) — Dick Williams can't manage in New York and won't manage in Oakland.

And unless the clouds part and a miracle saves him, Dick Williams has managed himself out of baseball for two years.

Williams officially became tied to his Oakland Athletic contract—and to A's owner Charlie Finley—Thursday when American League President Joe Cronin put the kabosh on the New York Yankees' signing of Williams while he still was under contract to the Athletics.

"I still hope to be the manager of the Yankees," said Williams, who guided Oakland to two straight world championships. "I definitely will not be going back to manage Oakland. I think I made that clear on several occasions."

The undisputed winner in the case was Finley and he gloated in his triumph.

"I immediately called Joe Cronin in Boston after hearing the decision and told him I was proud of him and so happy for baseball," said Finley, who somehow always gets his way in the end. "There's no question in my mind but that he made the right decision. I think the decision he reached was so obvious."

The decision was less obvious to Cronin who, at 67, had to make his "most complex decision in 15 years as league president." Cronin, eagerly awaiting a Jan. 1 retirement, heard more than 11 hours of testimony over two days on the Williams case and a similar matter involving Ralph Houk's jump from the Yankees to the Detroit Tigers before making separate rulings.

Cronin ruled in favor of Houk, reasoning that he had resigned and his resignation had been accepted by the Yankees before he signed with Detroit.

The outgoing league president said he was glad the problems arose because they showed "that some baseball rule must be applied to cover managers' contracts. There is no such rule now."

If Williams was left jobless by the ruling, the Yankee management was left speechless. New York came out of the hearings 0-2--losing one manager and unable to hire the other.

Yankee President Gabe Paul couched the team's disappointment in soft terms but it is known that privately New York officials feel "we was robbed."

There still is a chance Williams can manage the Yankees next season, but only if Finley is allowed to grab the heart from New York's farm system.

Finley reportedly would cut the legal ties that bind Williams for outfielder-first baseman Otto Veloz and pitcher Scott McGregor—the cream of the Yankees' minor league crop.

But, in Finleyesque fashion, the A's owner said after the decision that he may not want to give Williams away "for any compensation" now that he holds all the cards.

"It's true that I had said I would before but as far as my thoughts on that subject now, I have no comment," Finley said from his LaPorte, Ind.,home.

So, unless the Yankees can file suit and win that suit, Dick Williams is a clay pigeon in Charlie Finley's legal cage.

Offensive show in the Fiesta Bowl

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) — Arizona State sends its awesome offensive machine against Pittsburgh and its freshman wonder named Tony Dorsett in the third annual Fiesta Bowl Friday night.

The tenth-ranked Sun Devils led the nation in total offense, averaging 565.5 yards, and scoring, 44.6 points, with a veteran backfield in which each man got more than 1,000 yards in his specialty this season. Their only loss in 11 games was to Utah.

The 19-year-old Dorsett ran for 1,586 yards, averaging 5.4 yards a carry, as he propelled Pitt to its first winning season in 10 years, first bowl appearance in 17 years and to a 6-4-1 record after a disastrous 1-9 mark in 1972. The Pitt comeback earned Johnny Majors the Football Writers of America Coach of the Year honor.

The game will be a battle between a predominantly senior Arizona State team and a Pitt squad that has only four senior starters on offense and three on defense.

Coach Frank Kush admits Arizona State practices have been more low key than usual, but says, "We have a lot of seniors and they should know what they're doing." He is not taking the game lightly, however, saying it could bring Arizona State, the Western Athletic Conference co-champion, prestige in the East and have a great effect on its program in the future.

Majors is interested in slowing down "as much as possible" the fleet Devil runners, led by Seniors Woody Green and Ben Malone, each of whom rushed for more than 1,000 yards this year.

"Green and Malone are two of the best backs we've faced," said Majors. "And then there's the versatility of the Arizona State offense. Danny White is one of the best quarterbacks in the country."

White, the starting quarterback in the previous two Fiesta bowls, passed for 2,609 yards this year and finished second in the nation in total offense with 2,862 yards. He and Green joined Dorsett in the second team All-America backfield. Arizona State junior Morris Owens caught 50 passes for 1,076 yards.

Dorsett and junior quarterback Bill Daniels were responsible for 3,196 of Pitt's 3,805 yards total offense, a school record. Fullback Dave Janasek and flanker Bruce Murphy, both juniors, join them in the backfield.

Claremont, Damien win in soccer tournaments

Claremont and Damien continued their winning ways on the soccer field Thursday, as the Wolfpack posted two wins in the South Torrance Tourney while the Spartans remained undefeated in the Alemany Tourney and on the season.

Claremont got by Agoura easily 4-0 in their morning contest, but got a real struggle from South Torrance, which is the host team in the tourney.

South Torrance and the 'Pack tied 0-0 at the end of regulation time but Claremont connected on four straight penalty goals, while South Torrance clicked on only two of four attempts, thus the Pack recorded a 1-0 win, remaining undefeated in the tournament.

Claremont will play Mitty of San Jose this morning in the championship semifinals, and will play an afternoon game as well. The 'Pack is now 8-1 on the year.

Damien posted its' second victory in two days in the Alemany Tourney, dumping Monrovia, 4-0. Bart Sullivan booted two goals, while Rick Davis and Tom Fahey added a goal apiece.

The Spartans will meet Montebello tonight at 8 p.m. as they shoot for the tourney crown. Damien now holds a 5-0 season mark.

U.S. golfers lead Japan

ONTARIO — The United States jumped out to a 15½-4½ lead over Japan in the first international good-will match Thursday at Ontario National Golf Club.

In the opening 20 best ball matches, the Americans won 14, tied 3 and lost 3.

Forty golfers from 17 California colleges are competing in this 54-hole match against a like number of Japanese students, who are representing 16 universities.

Eighty points will be at stake in today's final two rounds with a stroke scoring system in effect for the 40 individual matches. The top American players, led by U.S. Amateur champion Craig Stadler and All-America Mike Haney, both of USC, crushed the top Japanese teams.

Florida State coach resigns

TALLAHASSEE, Florida (UPI) — Florida State head football coach Larry B. Jones, whose Seminoles lost all 11 games this year, has resigned Friday, saying that he is quitting is "in the best interests of the university and the intercollegiate athletics program."

Jones,who is vacationing at an undisclosed Texas location, advised FSU President Stanley Marshall of his decision by telegram.

"It is with regret that I submit my resignation as head football coach at Florida State University," said Jones. "I hope my action brings back together Florida State University's fans and alumni."

Irvine JVs rally to beat Citrus, 69-63

AZUSA — Citrus College played a good game against UC Irvine's junior varsity Thursday night but eventually succumbed to the more experienced visitors, 69-63.

The game was tied 61-61 with 3:25 left, but the Anteaters scored six straight points over a two-minute period with their deliberate style of play and that broke it open.

UCI, with only four underclassmen, outrebounded the Owls 43-29. The Anteaters now are 6-1.

Roy Hickman of Citrus was the game's leading scorer with 26 points. Center Tim Conklin had 11 points and 11 rebounds.

The Owls, now 3-7 for the season, meet L.A. Trade Tech next Thursday at 5:30 p.m. in the opening round of the College of the Desert Tournament at Palm Desert.

Giants play Covina for consolation

Covina withstood a fourth quarter scare by Murphy to nip the Nobles by three points.

The Colts were enjoying a 57-47 lead with 2:25 left in the game when coach Doc Sooter pulled the starters to give the reserves some playing time.

The move nearly backfired as Murphy, due to a full-court press, forced three straight turnovers and pulled to a 59-55 deficit.

Noble leading scorer Ollie Matson, who tallied 23 points, scored and was fouled with nine seconds to play to make it 59-57.

Matson's free throw went awry with Covina's Bob Waldusky, who had 17 points, grabbing the rebound and drawing a foul. He sank the charity to ice the game and put a halt to the scare.

Free throws hurt Bonita in setback

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
P-B Correspondent

LA VERNE — Coach Remi Tray of the Bonita Bearcats is still trying to find someone in the La Verne area who is over 6-2. If he could, the Bearcats might have been able to beat the Temple City Rams, Thursday night, but Bonita came up short 64-59.

Coach Tremblay also wishes the team could shoot free throws. Bonita hit on 11-21 free throws, while the Tams were hitting a sizzling 20-27 from the charity stripe.

Alan Aylor, Temple City forward, hit 13 baskets in 16 attempts and 6-7 from the free throw line to lead all scorers with 32 points. Harold (H.P.) Drake had 26, but had a hard time at the foul line.

The game for the first three quarters was a see-saw, back-and-forth battle with the biggest margin seven points. Late in the third period the Bearcats led 42-35, but Bonita began to get in foul trouble, and a team shoudln't do that against a team shotting 75 per cent from the foul line.

In the second half, 15 of the Ram's 35 points were free throws. Aylor being the only player to get more than one field goal.

Drake had his usual consistent game scoring eight in the first period and six in the other three. Scott Johnson was the only other Bearcat to hit double figures. Johnson ended up with 19 points. He and Drake shot all of Bonitas free throws.

For the season, in the six Bearcat games, Drake has scored 169 pts. ofr a 28.1 average. Johnson is averaging approximately 15 pts.

Next week, both these teams have a chance to meet each other again in the Chino Tournament. Bonita will open the Tournament against Upland at 9:30, Wednesday morning the 26th.

The following game will find the Rams facing off against the Pacifica Pirates at 11 p.m. If both teams win or both lose, they will face each other.

Meets UCR for Cal Baptist title

Pomona plays like Sagehawks

RIVERSIDE — Playing more like Sagehawks than Sagehens, Pomona-Pitzer has a shot at the Cal Baptist Tournament title!

Les Nagler's young team, with freshman center Geoff Northrop scoring 25 points, defeated host Cal Baptist 63-60 Thursday night to put them into tonight's championship game against UC Riverside at 8 p.m.

UCR walloped Lubbock Christian 115-82 in spite of a 39-point output by Lubbock's Russ Russwurm.

La Verne edged Cal State Dominguez 73-69 in overtime. The Leopards were scheduled to play Fresno Pacific for the Consolation title at 4 p.m.

Bill Rockwood and Chuck Davis scored 51 points between them, 28 for Rockwood, who was the game's leading scorer, and 23 for Davis.

The wild-shooting CSD team put the ball up 105 times but hit on only 33. La Verne connected on 25 of 62 shots.

In the P-P-Cal Baptist game, Nagler's team successfully carried out his game plan which was not to allow themselves to get into a running game with the Lancers. They did that by slowing down play and taking only good percentage shots.

The Sagehens took a 16-11 lead but were outscored 6-1 to knot the count at 17-17 in the first half. The Lancers held a two or three-point lead most of the rest of the half and led by two, 33-31 at intermission.

Cal Baptist Tournament
Thursday's Results

La Verne vs. Fresno Pacific, 4 p.m.
(3rd place)
Cal. Baptist vs. Lubbock Christian, 6 p.m.
(Championship)
Pomona-Pitzer vs. CR, 8 p.m.

Cal Baptist opened up a second half lead of 47-41, but the Sagehens caught up at 49-49. The game stayed almost even to 55-55 when the 'hens outscored the Lancers 4-1 on baskets by Northrop and Dick Arbenz to make it 59-56.

Nagler's crew widened it to 62-56 then was guilty of two straight turnovers. Cal Baptist capitalized on both to pull within two, 62-60 with five seconds left.

Nagler's hair almost turned white on the spot when the 'Hens threw the ball away attempting to inbound it. But the Lancers did exactly the same thing and the Pomonans got the ball back.

Northrop was fouled with one second left and sank a free throw to clinch the victory. He would have made two free throws except for a lane violation call against Bob Hoehn which nullified the second.

For the game, Pomona-Pitzer hit on 26 of 57 field goal attempts and 11 of 16 free throws. Cal Baptist connected on 27 of 61 field goal attempts and six of 10 free throws.

The Lancers outrebounded the Sagehens 40-34. Doug Howard of Cal Baptist was game high rebounder with 12. Arbenz led the Pomonans with eight.

La Verne held a 35-30 halftime lead in its game with CSD but was outscored in the second half 37-32 to end regulation play tied at 67-67.

CSD held a 67-62 lead with two minutes left. In spite of the fact their coach told them to hold the ball and stall, they kept shooting and, fortunately for the Leos, missing.

Davis came through with two baskets and a free throw to tie the game and send it into overtime.

The Leos won the game on free throws. CSD committed 24 fouls and the Leopards sank 23 free throws in 33 attempts while CSD made only three of seven.

Center Allen Taylor set a new tournament record by grabbing 26 rebounds. Rockwood, back at forward had 18 for the Leos.

USC wants recognition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tenth-ranked University of Southern California, which has won four of five starts this season, hosts the Houston Cougars at the Sports Arena tonight.

Bob Boyd's Trojans, who have won three straight, are at home against Ohio University Saturday night.

Boyd is attempting to win all the games he can in order to draw fans.

"Hardly anyone knows Louis Dunbar is in town this weekend," the USC coach lamented. "The fact we are in the top 10 on the UPI poll, and I'm sure the coaches think are knowledgeable, is good.

"But we don't get enough recognition for it. There is a distortion in this town because of UCLA."

Dunbar is Houston's gifted 6-9 forward-guard. His picture is on the cover of the NCAA's Official Basketball Guide this season.

Chino varsity beats alumni

CHINO — Youth bested experience Thursday night at the Chino High gym, as the Cowboy varsity squad edged the Chino Alumni, 56-54.

Mark Milton dumped in 16 points for the varsity, Tim Smith added 14, and Bob Hairston posted 12 to lead a balanced attack.

Former star guard Joe Murillo popped in 12 points to top alumni scoring.

Four Rams make All-NFC team

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Minnesota Vikings and the Dallas Cowboys, who are favored to meet in the NFC title game on Dec. 30 for a Super Bowl berth, Thursday each placed five players on the United Press International 1973 National Football Conference All-Star team.

The Vikings are favored by a touchdown over the Washington Redskins on Saturday and the Cowboys are a two-point choice over the Los Angeles Rams on Sunday. If they both win, they'll meet in Dallas on Dec. 30 for the NFC crown.

Los Angeles had four players named to the squad while the Redskins were one of three teams to get three players on the team.

The team was selected by a nationwide panel of 39 sportswriters—three from each of the 13 conference cities.

Minnesota posted a 12-2 record this season while winning the Central Division crown while Dallas had a 10-4 mark while taking the Eastern Division title and making the playoff for a record eighth straight season.

The five Vikings on the team are wide receiver John Gilliam, tackle Ron Yary, end Carl Eller, tackle Alan Page and safety Paul Krause while the five Cowboys are tackle Rayfield Wright, guard John Niland, running back Calvin Hill, middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan and cornerback Mel Renfro.

The other 12 players on the squad are wide receiver Hal Jackson of Los Angeles, tight end Ted Kwalick of San Francisco, guard Tom Mack of Los Angeles, center Forrest Blue of San Francisco, quarte back John Hadl of Los Angeles, running back John Brockington of Green Bay, defensive end Claude Humphrey of Atlanta, defensive tackle Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles, outside linebackers Chris Hanburger of Washington and Dave Wilcox of San Francisco, cornerback Ken Ellis of Green Bay and safety Ken Houston of Washington.

Hadl and Houston made the NFC all-star squad in their first year in the conference. Hadl joined San Diego in 1962 and Ken Houston started his pro career with the Houston Oilers in 1967. But Hadl was traded to Los Angeles and Houston was traded to Washington this season and both players became instant successes with their new clubs.

Hadl's quarterbacking played a major role in Los Angeles' surge to a 12-2 record and the Western Division crown after the Rams failed to make the playoffs for the previous three seasons. Houston strengthened the Redskin secondary and was more than worth the five players coach George Allen gave up to get him.

Holiday soccer tourney set

CLAREMONT — The Claremont Kings of the Pacific Soccer League will host a Holiday Invitational Youth Soccer Tournament for Division Three teams (ages 13 and 14) Saturday at El Roble School in Claremont.

The tourney, sponsored by Peterson's Pharmacy, will include the Culver City Stars, Celtic Rangers, Claremont Stars and the host Kings. Round-robin play will begin at 9 a.m. with a match between the two Claremont teams and will continue through the afternoon.

FUN AT THE FARM — Billy Joe Royal, popular singing star, will perform in the John Wayne Theater of Knott's Berry Farm next Friday and Saturday nights. Davy Jones will appear there Wednesday and Thursday nights, and the Hager Brothers Dec. 30 and 31. Rick Nelson and the Stone Canyon Band will play at the Berry Farm in Buena Park Jan. 1 through 6.

On the rock beat

By BRUCE MEYER

The Doobie Brothers used to be just another comfortably unknown rock band. But now, with three hit singles and two LPs under their collective belt, they're being mobbed after shows and other such foolishness that goes with being stars. The Doobies reportedly had to excape one post-show crowd in a police speedboat. On the other hand, the band has a few markets left to crack: I'm told that a radio station in Idaho had them on the playlist as the Booble Brothers.

★ ★ ★

London Records, in an important new step backwards, is rereleasing the original Zombies album, cleverly titled "The Zombies." It is a fine album, though — and the London people have had enough taste not to change the cover or remix the music.

★ ★ ★

Probably the best thing Randy Bachman ever did was to leave the Guess Who and form a new band, called Bachman-Turner Overdrive. Because while the Guess Who has produced one truly great single ("American Woman," which Bachman helped write) and 10 ho-hum albums, BTO's first album on Mercury is an absolute knockout.

★ ★ ★

Jim Seals and Dash Crofts are recording "Summer Breeze" again — but this time in Japanese. That ought to help the balance of payment . . . and while we're discussing the Orient, take note all you Kung Fu movie freaks: Warners has released the sound track to one of the late Bruce Lee's classic demolition derbies, "Enter the Dragon."

Theater group cancels show

LOS ANGELES — The UCLA Committee on Fine Arts Productions announced this week that Al Carmines' "The Making of Americans," scheduled for a performance on campus Jan. 6, has been canceled because of a conflict with the Carmines theater group's European tour.

Scandinavian Theater: Studio II will present "Possession" and "Huh" in Schoenberg Hall at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 19.

Formed in 1969 within the framework of the Inter-Scandinavian Theater Laboratory for the Art of the Actor in Holstebro, Denmark, Studio II is a theater workshop directed by Yves Lebreton. It engages in research and teaching, as well as being a performing group.

Lebreton views Studio II's mission as that of creating an "abstract theater." "The language of the body," he explains, "becomes the essence and the regulator. In effect, then the body of the actor is the dynamic center around which all other elements—voice, costumes and objects, light, scenery—are developed progressively and finally take their form."

Illustrative of this theatrical process is "Posession." Credits for this single-act play include Lebreton as producer and also as actor, along with actor Gilles Maheu. Bernardette Arsac is assistant.

Wall Street Briefs

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI) — National Utilities & Industries, Inc., announced Monday it will double gas and oil exploration activities next year as a result of a Federal Power Commission decision allowing one of the company's subsidiaries in New Jersey to receive gas from its Texas operations.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Shenandoah Oil Corp. has brought in a gas and oil discovery well 35 miles northwest of Oklahoma City that flowed at 280 barrels of 43.5 degree gravity oil plus about two million cubic feet of gas daily from depths of around 9,600 feet.

Solons move to rebuild 7 bankrupt rails

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is putting the finishing touches on legislation today to begin the slow and expensive process of rebuilding the seven bankrupt railroads of the Northeast and Midwest into one healthy rail system.

The House passed the compromise $2 billion bill Thursday 284 to 59, and swift Senate approval was expected, sending the bill to President Nixon.

The new railroad would be drawn up over a 20-month planning period, and those lines not included—redundant lines or low-density branch lines— would be abandoned unless states and local communities agreed to pay 30 per cent of the losses.

Although the bill is primarily intended to beef up freight service between New England and the Mississippi River, it also mandates a speedup of passenger train in the densely travelled Northeast Corridor between Boston, New York and Washington.

The bill stops short of outright government ownership of the railroads. They would be purchased from their present creditors largely with a stock in a new federally created corporation.

These "stockholders" would have no control over the new railroad until it began making a profit and paid off its federal debt, when it would return to private ownership and operation.

Two new corporations would be created: one to plan the new system and to funnel federal loan money into it, and the other to actually run the railroad.

The United States Railroad Association (USRA) would be granted $1.5 billion in federal loan guarantees, to be used mainly to rebuild and upgrade rail lines. USRA would be the main planning agency although the Transportation Department and the Interstate Commerce Commission would have an input. The Consolidated Railway Corporation would run the railroad.

Our Customer Payroll Service
SAVES

Your time.
Security Pacific Bank's Customer Payroll Service cuts down on the time your people give to payroll procedures, including preparing, signing and storing checks. It even includes complete reports for tax purposes, with regular and special types of pay.

Your money.
Since our Service reduces the time your people devote to payroll activities, it frees them for more productive work. And the same goes for your computers.

Your office space.
If you take advantage of our Service, your entire payroll operation can be handled in a fraction of its former space.

Your employee's time.
Our Customer Payroll Service has an automatic deposit option which means your employee's net pay is automatically deposited in their checking account. Even if they're out of the office or on vacation on payday.

If you have twenty-five or more employees, we can't imagine why you wouldn't take advantage of our Customer Payroll Service, especially with the new year coming up. Let us enroll you on our Service now and save half the conversion costs. (At the beginning of the year, there is no tax history to convert, and no employee data required on terminated employees.) So get in touch with any one of our more than 460 branches. We promise you a real saving experience.

Quiet defense by this pair

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If you don't think that Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela of Toronto are one of the best pairs in the world just look at this quiet defense. They were sort of fixed on the bidding.

North's pass of one diamond redoubled was for business. Eric sitting East didn't care. He would have made an overtrick if allowed to play there, but South ran to one heart. Sammy doubled and opened the four of diamonds.

South rose with dummy's ace; discarded a club and led a spade. Eric won with the ace and led a trump whereupon Sammy cashed the ace and queen and led a third trump.

South won in his own hand and led a club toward dummy's queen and right here is where Sammy separated the men from the boys. A lesser player would have let the club go whereupon there would have been no way left to beat one heart, but Sammy hopped up with his king and thought for a while.

Then he led the only card that would enable him to beat the contract. He played his low trump.

South's only choice was to cash his good spades and concede the last three tricks for down one.

For Saturday, Dec. 22

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be a very pleasant person to be around today. Others will seek you out. You're at your best in a large group.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A good day to hobnob with the big shots. Those in a position to do you some good will look favorably upon your requests.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be very fortunate in partnership matters or with anyone you deal with on a one-to-one basis. Conditions are ideal for agreements.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're in a good cycle to receive rewards or bonuses for work or services for others. It could be more than you expect.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Let go. Have a ball the next few days. You're entitled to it. Others will agree. Your social calendar will be a busy one.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Center your activites around home and family today and tomorrow. You'll enjoy more pleasure with them than in being elsewhere.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The urge to visit loved ones will be very strong at this time, particularly if they are not too distant. Warm up the car.

SCROPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) At this time you'll have a very generous attitude toward your family and they for you. Each will try to do something big to please the other.

SAGGITARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today should be one of those lucky days where nice things happen to you just because others think you deserve it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may not have to wait much longer for something you've wanted very strongly. Your aspects indicate fulfillment of wishes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone you've not known too long is going to be very lucky for you. You share a common interest and ideal. Good will come from this relationship.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Pursue your goals vigorously at this time. What you desire can now be achieved. Be optimistic. Your attitude is important.

Your Birthday Dec. 22

This should be one of your better years materially. You will be getting some breaks just when you need them. It's a good year to build and a good year to build and save.

Some areas of forest to be closed

PASADENA — Sections of the Angeles National Forest officially will be off limits to off-road vehicle traffic Jan. 1, according to Forest Supervisor William T. Dresser.

Purpose of the vehicle control plan is to minimize damages to natural resources, protect public safety and reduce conflicts among users of public lands, Dresser said.

Dresser said that one-third of the 690,000-acre forest will be open to cross-country travel by off-road vehicles, and in other areas use will be restricted to designated roads and vehicles.

Signs will mark areas open to forest users.

Restriction policies will be strictly enforced, Dresser said.

Pets subject of story in supplement

Writer Judith Schmidt reminds readers in Sunday's Family Weekly in the Progress-Bulletin, that many thousands of American households will welcome the gift of an animal, a pet to be loved, enjoyed and cared for.

And, she explains, there are nearly 65 million cats and dogs that have no homes.

Her article is entitled, "A Christmas Call to Conscience: Do You Hear the Animals Crying?"

The subject of this week's "People Quiz" is "What's True Friendship?"

Writer John E. Gibson deals with the positive emotions that contribute to harmonious human relationships.

Actor George C. Scott is the subject of the "Star Chat" interview. "I think I'm as happy as one can expect to be," Scott says. "Middle age has a lot to do with a man's disposition. He becomes less self-destructive. He mellows."

From 1895 to 1897, Theodore Roosevelt was police commissioner of New York City.

What's True Friendship?

TRUE OR FALSE?: We tend to pick friends who see us not as we are, but as we would like to be.

In this week's True-False Quiz, Family Weekly contributor John E. Gibson deals with the positive emotions that contribute to harmonious human relationships. One of the most precious conditions of man's experience, true friendship is dependent upon a variety of psychological factors and sociological influences that have been studied and evaluated by scientists. Match your awareness and knowledge of the real basis for mutual esteem and warm attachments against the experts' conclusions in "Do You Know the Inner Nature of Friendship?"

The doctor comments

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In a recent article you said that huge doses of vitamins, including the water soluble type we ordinarily consider safe, can be harmful. Would you please cite the facts you relied upon when you made that statement concernng water solubie vitamins. That statement appears to be in contradiction to the articles I've read about water soluble vitamins.

DEAR READER — Perhaps you have already read by now that the Food and Drug Administration has moved to require a prescription for those tablets containing large doses of vitamins. This is because in these larger doses they are considered as medicines and not as simple dietary supplements.

Ascorbic acid, vitamin C, in large doses can cause diarrhea. None other than the vitamin C champion, Nobel laureate Dr. Linus Pauling, advises taking the huge doses he recommends after meals or in divided doses because of its "laxative effect." This is not altogether innocuous, since there are a number of people who have irritated digestive tracts, and a tendency to diarrhea to begin with.

In addition, "The Medical Letter," and other publications have pointed out the possibility of the formation of kidney stones when large doses of vitamin C are taken. Irritation of the urinary tract is also a possibility.

This is just for vitamin C. It is true that the problem is more serious for the fat soluble vitamins A and D. But, these observations about vitamin C, with the FDA's actions, should be ample warning about overdoing it on your own.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Here is a clipping from today's paper about a doctor who can cure problems of taste and smell. I would greatly appreciate your opinion on this.

In my case I had the measles when I was forty and lost part of my sense of taste and smell. I can smell strong odors and taste things like sugar that have no smell. I am interested in taking this up with my doctor to get a prescription for the medicine if it has any likelihood of working.

DEAR READER — I can't see any good reason for not trying it. About two years ago I mentioned this work a couple of times in my column. At that time the emphasis was on loss of taste.

Dr. Robert I. Henkin has been studying problems of taste and smell for some time. Any of the readers of this column who have this problem can ask their doctor to contact Dr. Henkin at the National Heart and Lung Institute, Neuro-endocrinology section, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, for more information.

There is nothing sadder in this world than to awake Christmas morning and not be a child.

Not to feel the cold on your bare feet as you rush to the Christmas tree in the living room. Not to have your eyes sparkle at the wonderment of discovery. Not to rip the ribbons off the shiny boxes with such abandon.

What happened?

When did the cold, bare feet give way to reason and a pair of sensible bedroom slippers? When did the sparkle and the wonderment give way to depression of a long day? When did a box with a shiny ribbon mean an item on the "charge?"

A child of Christmas doesn't have to be a toddler or a teen. A child of Christmas is anyone who believes that Kings have birthdays.

The Christmases you loved so well are gone. What happened?

Maybe they diminished the year you decided to have your Christmas cards printed to send to 1,500 of your "closest friends and dearest obligations." You got too busy to sign your own name.

Maybe it was the year you discovered the traditional Christmas tree was a fire hazard and the needles had to be vacuumed every three hours and you traded its holiday aroma for a silver one that revolved, changed colors, played "Silent Night" and snowed on itself.

Or the year it got to be too much trouble to sit around the table and put popcorn and cranberries on a string. Possibly you lost your childhood the year you solved your gift problems neatly and coldly with a checkbook.

Think about it. It might have been the year you were too rushed to bake and resorted to slice-and-bake with no nonsense. Who needs a bowl to clean — or lick?

Most likely it was the year you were so efficient in paying back all your party obligations. A wonderful little caterer did it for you for $3 per person.

Children of Christmas are givers. That's what the day is for. They give thanks, love, gratitude, joy and themselves to one another.

It doesn't necessarily mean you have to have children around a tree. It's rather like lighting a candle you've been saving, caroling when your feet are cold, building a fire in a clean grate, grinding tinsel deep into the rug, licking frosting off a beater, giving something you made yourself.

It's laughter, being with people you like, and at some time falling to your knees and saying, "Thank You for coming to my birthday party."

How sad indeed to awake on Christmas and not be a child.

Time, self-pity, apathy, bitterness and exhaustion can take the Christmas out of the child, but you cannot take the child out of Christmas.

No tax cut on gift of Nixon's two homes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman for President Nixon says the chief executive has no intention of reaping a huge income tax deduction from the eventual gift of his San Clemente, Calif., home to the government.

The New York Times reported Sunday that such a gift could give Nixon a tax deduction of between $390,000 and $870,000 spread over six years.

"Any assertion that the President would use the gift of his home to the American people as a short term tax deduction in 1974 is false," said Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren.

"The idea that the President would utilize the gift of the home to the American people for a short term tax benefit completely misses the spirit of the gift."

Nixon had said earlier that the gift would be made after both he and his wife are dead.

The Times quoted tax lawyers familiar with Nixon's financial affairs as saying such a tax break could come at the time that another huge tax deduction is expiring, the President's gift to the National Archives of his pre-presidential papers.

White House press aide Bruce Whelihan told the Times that the actual deed giving the San Clemente property to the American people has not yet been drawn up because the President's lawyers have not had the time and added that "nobody has figured out the tax consequences" of the planned gift.

In the statement of the Nixon's net worth made public last weekend, the value of the San Clemente property was set at $571,000. But that figure was based on the original cost of the property and tax experts say the value has increased considerably.

The property is currently valued at $1.3 million by California authorities, the Times said, and some public officials in the state have argued that it ought to be valued as high as $2.9 million.

Brown urges rationing as only fair way

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. says rationing is the only fair method to meet the "urgent need" of conserving gasoline.

"There is an obvious, urgent need to decrease gasoline consumption but equitable rationing is the only fair way to do that," Brown said Monday in a letter to the nation's energy czar William Simon.

The Democratic gubernatorial hopeful said low-income persons will be the only segment of society hurt if a large price hike in gasoline is allowed. He said most low-income persons use their cars for essential purposes, such as getting to work and buying groceries.

FRIENDS,
Here are just a few of the many written comments we receive from our happy customers:

Courteous, cooperative, considerate attention on every detail from all your personnel.
H. & B. RUSH, Mira Loma

Cooperation and concern of your personnel made the transition to mobile home living a pleasant experience.
L. HUTCHINSON, Pom.

Thanks for the fine way you have treated us in our new mobile home and we love every minute of it
R. & M. BLAND, Pom.

Your Service Personnel have been exceptional, both in workmanship and pleasant attitude. Thanks so much.
A. & D. KRUGER, La Puente

Yes folks, our entire staff of efficient, cooperative personnel are at your service to provide you with courteous customer relations for the rest of your life!
Sincerely

Air crash fatal to Mt. Baldy pastor; 2 others injured

CHINO — A Mt. Baldy minister taking a flying lesson was killed and two other West End residents severely injured Thursday when a single engine airplane crashed in a cow pasture in the Prado flood control basin about four miles from Chino Airport.

The Rev. Glen Wiley Terry, 40, pastor of the Mt. Baldy Community Church, was killed instantly in the crash about 11:30 a.m. Flight instructor Rex H. White, 58, of 1205 Council Ave., Ontario, sitting in the front seat by Rev. Terry, was listed in critical condition this morning with multiple injuries at Riverside County Hospital.

Passenger Michael Wood, 18, of 5457 Evart St., Montclair, sitting in the rear seat of the aircraft, was listed in serious condition at the Riverside hospital this morning with head injuries and a broken arm.

Federal Aviation Administration inspectors and the Riverside County Sheriff's Office investigating the crash said the aircraft owned by White, an instructor for the Chaffey College Aero-Club, had taken off from Ontario International Airport minutes before the plane went down. A pheasant hunter in the Prado flood control basin reported the crash to the U.S. Forestry Service, which then contacted the Chino Fire Department.

The Corona Fire Department and Riverside County sheriff's officers went to the scene. Deputies said that Rev. Terry was found lying about 15 feet from the wreckage. Wood and White were still inside the cockpit unconscious.

The plane appeared to have come down from a northeasterly direction, hit on its left wing and spun around. FAA Officials at OIA this morning said cause of the crash has yet to be determined.

The FAA spokesman did say, however, that it is believed that Rev. Terry was piloting the aircraft, instructed by White. The FAA said that since there was a fatality in the airplane crash, the National Transportation and Safety Board will conduct the investigation into cause of the crash.

Both White and Wood were first taken to the Corona Community Hospital for first aid treatment and then transferred to the Riverside County Hospital.

The FAA said the four-place, single engine Piper Cherokee aircraft was demolished in the crash.

Besides his pastorate at Mt. Baldy, Rev. Terry was vice president of the World Gospel Crusade, Inc., and a member of the Upland Nazarene Church.

He is survived by his widow, Betty; four children, Mrs. Valerie Cornelius, a student at Bethany Nazarene College in Bethany, Okla., and Andrea, Gwendolyn and Vance at home.

Rev. Terry was a graduate of Bethany College and the Nazarene Seminary in Kansas City, Mo. He was ordained as a minister in 1953 and had served as a pastor in Colorado before moving to California.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Stone Funeral Home in Upland.

Asks Reagan for emergency aid

Bradley sends SOS over crisis

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Today is the day the lights and a lot of other things, go out in Los Angeles —or else.

The energy shortage came home to Southern Californians with a bang, as the first stage of a tough city program ordering electricity cuts went into effect at 12:01 a.m. today.

The cuts, ranging from 10 to 33 per cent, are backed by penalties of fines and mandatory suspension of service for up to 30 days for those who exceed their quota. Some uses were banned outright, and others limited by law.

The immediate results were not dramatic but power officials said that once the cuts go into full swing as adjustments to them are made, the curtailments will be even greater than those of World War II.

Even with the cuts, the city-owned Department of Water and Power expects to be pushed into rotating blackouts by spring.

Mayor Tom Bradley said Thursday Los Angeles faces the worst power shortage problem of any major city in the nation. He said he would ask Gov. Ronald Reagan to declare an emergency to force privately-owned electrical companies— which made provisions in the past and are much better off than municipally owned suppliers that relied more on Arab oil —to share their fuel supplies with the municipal generators.

"If this is not an emergency, then I've never seen one," Bradley said.

Plans were being made for establishment of three-member appeals boards, expected to hear an enormous number of complaints from those challenging their quota or faced with fines or service cutoffs.

The mandatory reductions apply to 633,000 homes and apartments, —all but the one third lowest users —126,000 commercial users and 11,000 industrial users.

Meanwhile, county supervisor James Hayes strongly protested a federal call for limiting drivers to 10 gallons of gasoline a week, saying such a limit may be realistic in the East, where people have shorter distances to travel, but is not fair to those who live in the sprawling cities of the West.

The proposal by energy czar William Simon is "unfair, unreasonable and totally unworkable" in the Los Angeles area, Hayes said. "Such a restriction will cripple the county and many other sections of the United States," he said. Such a limit "may be workable in an area such as New York City, but to impose such a restriction on Los Angeles Basin area residents brings us right up to the day of doom," said Hayes, who heads an energy task force formed by county governments throughout the nation.

Under the city's mandatory cutback plan, residential and industrial users must immediately cut their electricity consumption 10 per cent below their average level of last winter. Offices, shops and other commercial users must cut back by 20 per cent.

If a second phase is needed —and city and power officials regard it as almost inevitable —it will go into effect Jan. 15 and the cutbacks will climb to 12 per cent for residential users, 15 per cent for industry and 33 per cent for commercial users.

Under the first phase, the electric heating or lighting of swimming pools has been outlawed. Streetlighting was ordered reduced by 25 per cent but city workers said it would take weeks to get that many lights turned off. Businesses must reduce heating and air conditioning, turn off decorative lights, business signs and billboards after 10:30 p.m.

There are limits on sports events, school plays, concerts and amusement parks, and on lights in closed shops, stores, offices and parking lots.

Under phase two, the cutbacks will become much more severe. All billboard lights and lights for nighttime, noncommercial, recreation would be banned.

Pomona man dies as cycle strikes auto

POMONA — A 43-year-old Pomona man was fatally injured Thursday evening when the motorcycle he was riding collided head on with a car on Indian Hill Boulevard north of Hoover Avenue.

Robert Eugene Peterson of 1680 Granada Place was pronounced dead at Pomona Valley Community hospital about 8 p.m.

Police reported Peterson was southbound on Indian Hill at about 6:20 p.m. when a car driven by Wilma Frances Strob, 60, of 9675 Mills Ave., Montclair, began a left-hand turn from the northbound lane of the boulevard into a business driveway on the west side of the street.

Police said Miss Strob's vehicle stopped abruptly during the turn and then continued on toward the driveway. Peterson, approaching at a moderate rate of speed, was unable to stop his motorcycle in time, collided with the car and was thrown over it.

Miss Strob was uninjured.

Some progress, but food strike talks broken off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Contract negotiations between 61 Southern California supermarket groups and four striking unions have broken off after seven days of virtually around-the-clock talks failed to produce agreement.

Director W. J. Usery of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said Thursday "considerable progress had been made, but the parties were unwilling to change their positions on certain issues sufficiently to enable a full settlement."

Negotiators for the Food Employers Council and the Butchers, Teamsters, Machinists, and Operating Engineers unions were not immediately available for comment.

Usery said the negotiations were "recessed indefinitely with no further meetings scheduled". But he said they would be resumed at the request of either side or of the Mediation Service.

Energy tip

Clean lamp is brighter lamp

Keep light bulbs and fixtures clean. Accumulations of dust can lower lighting levels. Clean lamps may mean fewer lamps.

Readers with energy-conserving suggestions are invited to send them to the Progress-Bulletin, City Desk, 300 S. Thomas St., Pomona 91766.

Would 'violate the spirit'

MSAC trustees reject salary for themselves

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Contending that getting money for what they do would "violate the spirit" in which they serve, the five trustees of Mt. San Antonio College turned down a proposal Thursday that they be paid.

The trustees were notified by Eldon E. Pearce, president of the college, that under a new state law, effective Jan. 1, they would be entitled to receive $30 a meeting or a maximum of $200 a month each.

He said this was based on the college's average daily attendance last year which at 10,347 cleared the 10,000 to 25,000 classification. Presently, the trustees get nothing.

"If you gentlemen wish to avail yourself of this provision," he said, "I bring it to your attention now."

Board Chairman William Temple set the tone of the response when he declared that he'd rather continue to serve without pay.

"My feeling is that the districts which are really having troubles today are the ones who are going for this," he said. "My prediction is that most community college boards will not go for it."

Trustee Robert Hickson said he had "no desire to have any financial compensation."

And for Trustee Lance Smith, being on the college board was "a privilege, a way of serving the community. I certainly don't want to get paid for it."

"I have often heard," board member Richard Todd said, "that if we pay the politicians more, we'll get better politicians. I don't believe this. I'll just keep the pay I'm getting now."

Trustee Robert Hutchison said he, too, was on the board to serve the community, and did not want any money.

"Gentlemen," President Pearce concluded the matter almost apologetically, "I had to bring the issue up!"

Report Kissinger will marry soon

GENEVA (UPI) — A U.S. spokesman today would neither confirm nor deny reports that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger would marry New York socialite Nancy McGinnis Dec. 28.

Reports that Kissinger would marry Miss McGinnis, who has been his frequent companion at social events for the past several years, have been circulating around Washington and New York for several weeks.

Issue demands, threaten reprisals

Out to get Americans, Palestine guerrillas warn

BEIRUT (UPI) — A statement attributed to the Palestinian guerrillas group that staged Monday's bloody airport attack and hijacking today demanded the release of all Palestinians held in European jails "by not later than the end of this month" or face reprisals the newspaper An Nahar reported.

The statement warned Arab commandos would carry out attacks in any country that failed to release guerrillas.

It also warned the American people that if the U.S. government continued its support for Israel, "We shall keep our promise to our people, namely to chase you everywhere and at all times to strike at you and crush you."

Guerrillas would take retaliation against Americans, the statement warned, because of American support of Israel during the October Middle East war.

"We asked you to reduce your absolute support for Israel," the group said. "But as soon as the October war began, your government and the president you elected began to mount airlifts and naval supply lines, providing the usurping authorities (Israel) with war equipment, tools of destruction and human resources."

The statement purported to be from two guerrilla factions named after dead Arab heroes and which organized Monday's attack at Rome airport and the subsequent hijacking of a West German airliner to Athens, Syria and Kuwait.

The death toll of the operation was 32, all of them killed at Rome. Today's statement said the Rome airport was attacked because it had been used by the United States in shipping supplies to Israel.

"We issue a final warning to all European countries which still hold Palestinian commandos in their jails that they must release them by not later than the end of this month," the statement said.

"If this is not carried out all the institutions and establishments of those countries will be considered hostile and will become targets for strikes by our revolutionary heroes."

Congressional negotiators OK emergency powers for Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate-House negotiators agreed today on legislation to grant President Nixon emergency energy crisis powers but Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., threatened to try to kill the bill.

Fannin, senior Republican among Senate negotiators, called the compromise measure "absolutely unreal and unworkable."

He did not say how he would attempt to kill the legislation although it would presumably be by filibuster. Nor did he indicate whether he was speaking solely for himself, for the administration, or for other interests.

The conferees, working against pressure for congressional recess by nightfall and with the threat of a White House veto over their heads, met nearly an hour this morning before announcing the agreement.

The big bone of contention dealt with windfall profits to oil companies and other energy producers. A House amendment to the bill would have allowed Nixon to control profits at a set level.

Under the compromise approved for House and Senate action, the profits section would allow the President to set guidelines and definitions of "windfall profits" now. But the rebates he could order would not be set until Jan. 1, 1975, unless a separate law was passed in the interim.

Fannin and some other conferees wanted any legislative action on profits put off until 1975 at the earliest.

"This is a can of worms," one source said of the profits control section. "We already proposed separate legislation on that Wednesday." He said the White House wanted the profits section postponed until 1975.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., sponsor of the Senate bill, said the agreement "was a satisfactory one" and that there were only two "no" votes on the profits section.

The White House, through legislative liaison men, said Thursday it objected to other sections of the bill.

In advance of the meeting of the conferees, Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., predicted the logjam would be broken and the bill would be enacted.

Calley conviction upheld by court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The conviction of 1st Lt. William L. Calley for the slaying of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai was upheld Friday by the U.S. Court of Military Appeals.

The nation's highest court of military law also upheld a 20-year sentence given Calley.

The slayings took place in the South Vietnamese village of My Lai in March, 1968 during a sweep by an Army unit led by Calley.

The military court, composed of three civilian judges, heard the case 11 weeks ago and spent the intervening time reviewing thousands of pages of testimony and legal briefs that have been filed since Calley was charged four years ago.

Gangland slaying may signal underworld upheaval

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard Cain, a top Chicago lawman before he became chauffeur for the city's most feared mobsters, was gunned to death Thursday in an apparent gangland execution when he walked into a sandwich shop.

His face was completely disfigured from the blast and it took authorities hours to identify him. He was carrying no identification papers.

Cain, 49, was the onetime protege of ex-gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and later courier and chauffeur for gangster Sam "Mooney" Giancana. He was killed by two gunmen wearing ski masks as he stood against a wall in Rose's Sandwich Shop not far from the Loop. The gunmen escaped.

Witnesses told authorities that only 15 minutes earlier the former chief investigator for the Cook County Sheriff's office had been seen conferring with four men in the restaurant.

Police gave this account of the shooting:

Two gunmen wearing ski masks entered the restaurant carrying a shotgun, a pistol, and a two-way radio. They conducted themselves as if they were about to commit a robbery.

The killers forced about seven persons, including restaurant owner Sam Cozzo, against a wall and waited. During their wait, the gunmen conferred by two-way radio with a lookout outside the shop.

Suddenly, witnesses said, the words "here he comes now" came over the walkie-talkie. Cain entered the restaurant, was forced to join other hostages along the wall, and was shot at close range, police said. No one else was hurt.

Lee Schooler, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, said Thursday night that the murder "seems to indicate an upheaval in the underworld ... and may not be the only one (murder)." He said Cain, who recently returned to Chicago from Mexico where he was living with Giancana, was very close to the mobster and this "may indicate a falling out" between the two.

Cain, regarded by some of his colleagues as brilliant, came to attention in 1956 when he joined the Chicago Police Department. By 1960 he was chief investigator for Cook County Sheriff's Department. Ogilvie was then sheriff.

During his two years as chief investigator, Cain allegedly forced suspected mob informers to take lie tests at taxpayers expense to determine if they were giving away underworld secrets.

His efforts to work both sides of the law, serving as gangster and policeman, came to an end in 1964 when Ogilvie, who became governor in 1968, forced his resignation.

Cain later was convicted of robbery for his part in a 1963 Franklin Park bank robbery— committed when he was chief investigator. He served three years in prison for the bank job and for lying to a grand jury about a $240,000 robbery of a suburban warehouse.

In the end, Cain, who fled to Mexico to join Giancana, had 82 cents in change in his pocket, $15 in cash, and a key.

Although it was bitter cold in Chicago, Cain, known to many as the mystery man, was not wearing an overcoat at the time of the shooting.

CIW INMATES ENTERTAINED

Singer Helen Reddy entertains at California Institution for Women in Chino Thursday as part of a tour of women's prisons the Australian singer has scheduled for the holiday season. Ms. Reddy says this is her "contribution to women who do not receive their equal share of entertainment."

Controversial foreign aid bill okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has sent President Nixon the biggest foreign aid bill in 20 years despite warnings that $2.6 billion included for Israel could wreck the Mideast peace talks due to open today in Geneva.

The $5.8 billion aid appropriation passed the House on a 216-149 vote Thursday and later was approved on a voice vote in the Senate.

Earlier the Senate gave final approval to a $2.2 billion authorization bill for emergency aid to Israel.

The compromise appropriation measure was worked out in an all-day House-Senate conference Wednesday, after a bitter argument on how to finance the war in Cambodia. It directs the Pentagon to draw on current inventories to supply the Phnom Penh government.

Arguments against the aid bill came mainly from Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, who was cut down by other Democrats in the group, as well as by the Senate itself later.

Fulbright argued that a big new aid commitment to Israel now would make the Tel Aviv government intransigent in the talks. Other senators said the aid would simply maintain the Mideast military balance and make negotiations more rather than less likely to succeed.

Rightists mar Carrero funeral

MADRID (UPI) — Rightwing demonstrators marred the state funeral mass of Prime Minister Luis Carrero Blanco today with jeers and shouts of "assassin, assassin" at the archbishop of Madril, liberal-minded Cardinal Enrique Vicente y Taracon.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, afraid of his own emotions, did not attend.

Police moved in to protect the cardinal when he left the government building after saying the first of two masses over the open casket of Carrero.

As the car carrying Vicente y Taracon pulled away, the demonstrators jeered him and police ringed his car and jogged alongside until it cleared the band of right wingers.

The demonstrators apparently believed members of the anti-government left wing, including the militant Basque separatists supported by some Roman Catholic clergymen, were responsible for Carrero's death Thursday.

Christmas carnival slated for 450 carriers of P-B

POMONA — Approximately 450 boys and girls, carrier sales personnel for the Progress-Bulletin, are expected to attend the circulation department's fourth annual Christmas Carnival Saturday.

It will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and will take over both floors of the newspaper's distribution garage at 300 S. Thomas St.

Circulation Manager Dan Palmer said that the department's five district advisers — all women — will decorate five game booths and also dress in Christmas costumes for the carnival.

Their booths and costumes will be judged and prizes awarded winners. Judges will be General Manager Bob Bush, Editor Joe Gendron and Business Manager Richard Sharpe.

All employees of the circulation department will be present to enjoy the carnival with the boys and girls, including Lee Bock, assistant circulation manager, and Ed Nelson, circulation-promotions manager. Supervisors will be in costume.

The carriers will be allowed to use points earned in circulation contests to bid on gifts which will be auctioned off by Santa Claus.

They also may use the points to purchase hot dogs and soft drinks.

The Pomona Fire Department will place on exhibit at the carnival one of its rescue units for the carriers to view. This is an educational service offered the public by the fire department. Newspaper carriers long have been noted for their quick action in reporting fires and assisting during emergencies.

Palmer said that parents of P-B carriers are invited to attend the carnival with their sons and daughters.

The newspaper employs 600 carrier sales people. Not all, however, will be able to attend, Palmer said.

'Enemies list' probe concluded

IRS didn't buckle under pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators have concluded that the Internal Revenue Service did not buckle under pressures from John W. Dean III, author of a "screw our political enemies" memo, when he came up with a list of 575 "enemies."

At the same time, former IRS Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters did not complain to the Justice Department about White House efforts to turn the IRS into a political apparatus— an apparent violation of the law.

Reporting Thursday on the results of a six-month investigation into the IRS' behavior under political pressure, the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation said it found no evidence the taxmen conducted harassing audits against the 575 taxpayers on Dean's list.

Laurence N. Woodworth, chief of staff for the joint committee, was not as sanguine about the IRS' response to reported White House suggestions that the taxmen take it easy on seven "friends."

Woodworth refused to identify any of the friends except one— New York osteopath Kenneth Riland, who treated President Nixon and accompanied him to China and who is under indictment for evasion of taxes.

Others who reportedly were singled out for favorable tax treatment include actor John Wayne and evangelist Billy Graham, who has denied trying to use his influence with the chief executive to get out of tax troubles.

The existence of the list of 575 "enemies" was not known until Woodworth's staff began its investigation.

He said most of the enemies appeared to be supporters of 1972 Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern or his contributors or wealthy supporters of liberal causes.

Among the prominent people on the list were:

Jean Westwood and Lawrence O'Brien, both former Democratic national chairmen; entertainers Burt Lancaster, Shirley MacLaine, Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Polly Bergen, Gene Hackman, Joseph E. Levine, and Herb Alpert; Painter Georgia O'Keefe; Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.; Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y.; former IRS Commissioner Mortimner Caplin; former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford; Frances "Sissy" Farenthold, former Texas Democratic gubernatorial nominee; Howard M. Metzenbaum of Cleveland, who was designated Wednesday to fill the vacant Senate seat of William B. Saxbe, the new attorney general.

Also Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner, diplomat Angier Biddle Duke, Harvard Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, cosmetic maker Max Factor, Xerox executive Max Palevsky, liberal philanthropists Philip Stern and Stewart Mott, Harvard Professor George Wald, Sculptur Alexander Calder.

Senate OK's 'take it or leave it' S.S. hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed and sent to the House today for final congressional approval a bill to give 30 million Americans an 11 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

The extra benefits will be paid for with a payroll tax increase on middle and upper income workers.

In the Senate, no move was made to derail the politically popular bill after Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield warned that members had a choice of the compromise bill "or no bill at all."

"It's a case of either this or nothing," Mansfield said.

The first 7 per cent installment of the increase would come in April checks, with the remaining 4 per cent in July checks.

To pay for the $2.3 billion-a-year increase, the base pay on which Social Security taxes are calculated would be increased to $13,200 in 1974. It was $10,800 in 1973 and had already been scheduled to go to $12,600 in 1974.

The tax rate of 5.85 per cent would remain the same, meaning that the entire increase would fall on those in the upper income brackets.

Because of the delay in reaching a compromise, the Social Security Administration may not be able to program its computers in time for April checks, and the April increase may be paid retroactively in May checks.

The bill would increase the present $84.50 minimum Social Security payment to $90.50 in April and $93.80 in July. The average old age benefit would rise from $167 in $178 in April and $186 in July, and the average benefit for an aged couple would go from $277 to $296 in April and $310 in July.

On Thursday, the conference committee agreed on a compromise involving a series of Senate amendments which involved the Senate's taking the House bill and the House accepting a few Senate amendments. Most of the Senate amendments remain in conference, and they will be considered early next year.

This led to the unusual parliamentary situation in the Senate. Instead of considering a normal conference report, the original House bill had to be passed along with the amendments agreed upon in conference.

Energy powers bill lone obstacle to adjournment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill to give President Nixon emergency powers to deal with the energy crisis was the only major obstacle to wrapping up the first session of the 93rd Congress today.

"It all depends on the energy bill," said Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield as Congress convened for what many weary members hoped would be their last day before a month-long Christmas vacation.

But the energy bill, loaded with amendments that could invite a veto and including areas of disagreement among its authors, could delay adjournment until Saturday and possibly send the session into next week.

Americans' demonstrated willingness to cooperate voluntarily in cutting gasoline consumption has buoyed the government's hopes for avoiding the burden of rationing, energy chief William E. Simon indicated today.

Simon stressed that no final decision had yet been made on the rationing question —and said none would be made until about next week. Rationing has not been ruled out, he emphasized.

Senate OKs U.S. 'humiliation day'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has passed a resolution calling on Americans to fast and pray for "clemency and forgiveness" April 30, proposed as a "national day of humiliation."

The resolution, adopted by voice vote with no debate or opposition, now goes to the House for consideration. If the House approves it, the measure will go to President Nixon.

Gunman flees under cover of repellent

CLAREMONT — An armed gunman robbed a Stater Bros. grocery clerk of a small amount of cash Thursday night and made good his escape by spraying the clerk, another employe and two patrons with a chemical animal repellent.

Police reported the gunman entered the store at Indian Hill and Foothill boulevards around 8:30 p.m. and asked clerk Charles Gill for a carton of cigarettes.

Gill had to leave his register to get the brand the gunman wanted. When he returned, the gunman pulled out a .38-caliber revolver and ordered Gill to put the money from his register into a bag with the cigarettes.

The man grabbed the bag and sprayed Gill, boxboy Steven Cross of 755 Occidental Drive, Willard Gaynor of 1053 Alamosa Drive and another unidentified patron with the chemical repellent.

The gunman, described as a Caucasian about 20, 6 feet 2, 170 pounds, wearing a blue stocking cap and a knee-length gray tweed coat, ran out of the store and escaped in a car driven by an accomplice.

At Gallery Theater

'Carol' is a real gift

By JOE GENDRON

ONTARIO — If you want to capture the Christmas spirit, you should see the Gallery Theater's interpretation of Charles Dickens' unforgettable story of "A Christmas Carol."

This little novel has spread its glad influence throughout the world for more than a century without ever losing any of its power that has helped create the image we have of Christmas today.

The play will be repeated tonight and Saturday night at 8:30 in the theater at 126 E. C St. and again next week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. Thursday's performance is at 8 p.m.

Director Mark Shipley has put together a large cast of players, dancers, and carolers whose combined talents add up to great entertainment for the entire family.

The costumes are authentic, the carolers are in good voice, and the players give their roles their best efforts.

Robert M. Allan is believable as Scrooge, the miserly money changer who, haunted by his past, promises "to honor Christmas in his heart and keep it all through the year."

Steve Fowler as Bob Cratchit, Ron McCorkindale as Marley's ghost, and David Young as Tiny Tim are all excellent in the other featured parts. A crowd pleaser is Duane Thomas who hams it up as the ghost of Scrooge's present.

The audience hardly notices the movement of stage props in and out of the theater because of the Christmas caroling which is also part of the intermission entertainment. You'll feel better this Christmas season for having seen "A Christmas Carol."

Candle-making project ends in $400 fire

POMONA — Ten-year-old Steve Bowman's plan to make a few Christmas candles ended in disaster Thursday when his project caused a fire in the family kitchen.

Steve told firemen he was heating wax in a pan on the kitchen stove. The wax overheated and finally exploded when Steve added water to put out the fire.

The fire resulted in $400 damage to the kitchen but Steve wasn't injured. His mother, Mrs. Sandra Wright, was at work when the fire started.

50% chance of storm bringing area rain

The weatherman has forecast a 50 per cent chance of rain tonight from a fast-moving storm that is expected to pass through the area.

The stormy weather is expected to clear by Saturday afternoon and fair but windy weather is forecast for Sunday.

Rain is reported today in most areas of Northern California.

The expected high temperature today will be 68 degrees followed by a low tonight of 47 degrees. Thursday's high temperature was 72 degrees. This morning's low was 44 degrees.

Brave he may be, but also stupid

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — San Jose officials may have encountered the ultimate in bravado.

Someone stole a sheriff's patrol car — complete with siren, red lights and sheriff's seal —and drove it three miles from the county garage to downtown.

It was recovered when a San Jose police officer thought it strange that a sheriff's car would be parked for three hours in one spot.

Study reveals errors in welfare aid; some ineligible, others underpaid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger says a report showing that four out of every ten welfare families were ineligible or incorrectly paid was "conservative, if anything."

"Perilously close to half the people in this program are not getting the payments they should," he said Thursday during a media seminar. "I think this is a national scandal."

The nationwide survey said that $1.17 billion a year goes to families ineligible for such aid.

The report resulted from an intensive six-month study of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Program (AFDC), the nation's largest and costliest welfare program.

Based on a national sample of 44,000 recipients this year, the report said 10.2 per cent of the 10.8 million AFDC recipients are ineligible, 22.8 per cent are overpaid and 8.1 per cent are underpaid.

Weinberger said he didn't ascribe a significant amount of the incorrect payments to fraud, but said cause of the payment errors was "inept administration with no will or necessity to do anything about it."

He said the fact states will now face loss of part of their federal aid should get them down to the desirable error percentages.

Weinberger said a leading factor in AFDC mispayments was a rule that a state could not move to verify information on an application for welfare assistance unless the applicant gave written permission for such a verification.

"That regulation was absurd," Weinberger said. "We have issued new regulations which will permit this simple verification, and other similar management necessities."

On other subjects, the HEW chief said the $1.1 billion in Education and Health money President Nixon released from impoundment Wednesday had always been available for payment. The argument the administration had with congress, Weinberger said, was on how to spend the funds.

"Rather than prolong the uncertainty," he added, "the President decided to release the funds even though we think there are better ways to spend them."

Weinberger also said the administration was getting ready for Jan. 3, 1974, the mailing of the first Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks in the history of the country.

"It's the biggest civilian job government has ever undertaken," he said.

Under SSI, the nation's three million aged, blind and disabled, who have received varying state payments, will receive a national minimum income of $130 a month for individuals and $195 a month for couples, with some recipients receiving greater payments because their states chose to supplement the federal effort.

Weinberger said the government was engaged in a nationwide effort to reach an estimated three million additional aged, blind and disabled people who may be eligible for benefits for the first time but who do not know it.

Those not previously eligible, he said, had been made so through the national standardization of payments and eligibility.

Obituaries

Mrs. Edna M. Hall

POMONA — Mrs. Edna M. Hall of 842 E. Ninth St. died Thursday in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a long illness.

Mrs. Hall was born Jan. 18, 1911, in O'Neill, Neb. She came to Pomona in 1951. Mrs. Hall was a member of the First Assembly of God Church.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Constance Walters of O'Neill, Neb., Mrs. Sharon Wilson of Cambria, and Mrs. Carolyn Wershing of Phoenix, Ariz.; a son, Richard Rosenkran of Pomona: two sisters, Mrs. Velma Crawford and Mrs. Elsa Redlinger, both of Pomona; and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 4 p.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Harold Bither, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, will officiate. Services will conclude in the chapel and private committal will be made.

Benjamin Hendricks

POMONA — Benjamin F. Hendricks of 2055 S. Towne Ave. died Thursday in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a long illness.

Mr. Hendricks was born June 10, 1894, in Kellerville, Ill. He came to Pomona in 1923. He was a member of the First Christian Church and Pomona Masonic Lodge.

Besides his widow, Ethel, he is survived by two sons, J.G. of La Verne and Harold of Redding; two daughters, Mrs. C. G. Farr and Mrs. Frank A. Warren, both of Chino; two sisters, Mrs. Lyman Yancey and Mrs. Ray Mercer, both of Quincy, Ill.; and 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Monday at 10 a.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Morgan R. Sly, pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate, and Joseph Bellot of Pomona Masonic Lodge will conduct the Masonic ritual. Private entombment will be made in Pomona Mausoleum.

Michael Jay Madsen

POMONA — Michael Jay Madsen, 23, son of Mrs. Martha Madsen of 1294 N. Park Ave., died early Wednesday in a Bell Gardens hospital, the victim of a mistaken-identity stabbing.

Mr. Madsen had lived about 12 years in Pomona before going to Bell Gardens two years ago to live with his father, Gordon Madsen, at 59341 Gotham St.

He was born June 3, 1950, in Illinois.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by five brothers, Mark in the U.S. Army, Matthew of Ogden, Utah, Bradford with the Peace Corps at Colorado Springs, Colo., and David and Douglas of Pomona, and one sister, Mrs. Lee Delannoy of Illinois.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at the Allen Funeral Service in Bell Gardens.

Burial will be private.

Helen H. O'Reilly

POMONA — Mrs. Helen H. O'Reilly of 850 Sobre Colinas Place died Wednesday at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Fontana.

Mrs. O'Reilly was born Feb. 27, 1926, in Columbus, Mont. She was a graduate of the University of Montana and at the time of her death was doing graduate work at USC.

She came to California in 1953 and lived in Los Angeles before moving to Pomona in 1955. Mrs. O'Reilly was a case worker with the San Bernardino County Welfare Department. She had held that position five years.

Suriviving are two sons, Cyril and Kevin, and a daughter, Ann, all at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Rothwell of Hemet; and a brother, John Rothwell of Ravenswood, W. Va.

Private funeral services will be held. Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

Friends may make memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society, 111 W. Center St., Pomona 91768.

Mrs. Julia Majsa

POMONA — Mrs. Julia Majsa of 1550 N. Park Ave. died Wednesday night in a local convalescent hospital.

Mrs. Majsa was born Feb. 15, 1891, in Hungary. She came to the United States in 1909. In 1946 she moved to California from Cleveland, Ohio. She lived in Compton and Chino before moving to Pomona 23 years ago.

She was a member of the Faith Assembly of God Church.

Surviving are a son, William of Pomona, and four grandchildren.

Private services were held today in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Virgil G. Price, pastor of the Faith Assembly of God Church, officiated.

Burial was in Pomona Cemetery.

Harry E. Scoville

POMONA — Harry E. Scoville of 842 N. Huntington Blvd. died Thursday morning in a local convalescent hospital following eight years of illness.

Mr. Scoville was born June 3, 1884, in Abercrombie, N.D., and came to Pomona in 1928 from Seattle, Wash. He was a mail carrier in Pomona for 31 years and was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Besides his widow, Blanche H., he is survived by a son, Sidney J.Hills of Redlands; a daughter, Mrs. Lois H. Fisher of Whittier; a brother, the Rev. Ralph C. Scoville of Los Angeles; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Paul B. Ryan and the Rev. Ralph Scoville will officiate. Private entombment will be made in Pomona Mausoleum.

Youth hostels group slates skiing trips

CLAREMONT — The San Gabriel Valley Council of American Youth Hostels has scheduled several skiiing trips in its winter program.

This will begin with a three-day ski trip to June Mountain starting Dec. 28.

Officials said the winter-schedule includes five weekend trips to June Mountain for downhill skiing. All expenses except tow fees will be shared by group members.

The council has also planned three weekends of cross-country skiing. Two trips will feature clinics in snow survival. The third trip will be to the Ostrander Lake area north of Yosemite.

The American Youth Hostels is a non-profit organization dedicated to year-round recreation through the hosteling experience, officials said.

Supreme Court to review disability pregnancy rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed Monday to decide whether California is violating the constitution by excluding normal pregnancy from coverage under a disability insurance program for state employes.

State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger has appealed a ruling by a special three-judge federal panel in San Francisco on May 31, 1973, that the practice violated the 14th Amendment's guarantee of "equal protection of the laws."

The court will hear arguments later this term and issue a written opinion.

The program was first proposed in 1946 when Earl Warren was governor to supplement the state's unemployment insurance.

It provides benefits for almost any incapacity, including psychiatric disorders, sex change operations, cosmetic surgery and attempted suicide, according to lawyers for the group of women who brought the suit.

An employe who has contributed 1 per cent of a $300 minimum income during a one-year base period may receive basic benefits ranging from $25 to $105 a week, depending on the amount earned, for a maximum of 26 weeks.

The payments start on the eighth day of disability or the first day of hospitalization. Hospitalized employes are eligible for additional benefits of $12 a day for 20 days.

Pursuant to a state court decision in a different case, the law starting Jan. 1 will allow payments for abnormal pregnancies.

The state contends that including normal pregnancy would make the program too costly. But the three-judge panel said last spring the increased costs could be "accommodated quite easily" by making reasonable changes in the contribution rate, the allowable benefits and other variables.

Younger said the total annual cost of the program is $362.1 million. He said the disability insurance programs of New Jersey, New York and Rhode Island treat pregnancy differently from other disabilities.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce urged the Supreme Court to review the California situation. It said employers need to know whether they may exclude maternity and related conditions from their disability plans without being guilty of sex discrimination and what "deference" is due the new maternity guideline issued by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

They also need to know how the equal opportunity provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act set into the picture, the chamber said.

The lawsuit was brought on behalf of Carolyn Aiello, Augustina D. Armendariz, Elizabeth B. Johnson and Jaqueline Jaramillo.

Chino area dubbed high priority in park development

CHINO — An area in northwest Chino was recommended for high priority in park development during a meeting this week of the park committee.

The Committee discussed alternatives to be recommended to the county for priorities in park planning. The group unanimously decided to recommend Service Area 2, which is located north of the Pomona Freeway to Phillips Boulevard and from Central Avenue west to Ramona Avenue, for highest priority.

Art Hern, manager of city services, explained the proposition to be placed on the June 1974 ballot for a $258 million state bond act for parks.

"Ninety million dollars is to be distributed to the counties for final distribution to cities and specal districts within each county. San Bernardino County is tentatively scheduled to receive $3,017,000. What the county Regional Parks Commission is doing now is attempting to formulate a priority park program to be submitted to the state for use of that money," Hern continued.

He said the priority plan must be submitted to the state sometime in early 1974.

The county Parks Commission, he noted, has asked each city for a presentation on its highest park project. These presentations from throughout the county will be evaluated and a final listing will be issued to the cties for approval. The final plan must be approved by 50 per cent of the people within 50 per cent of the cities, said Hern, or "it's not a viable plan."

The mechanics of that acceptance, either by council action or a vote of residents, is undecided at this time.

Once approval has come from the Board of Supervisors, along with the required percentages, the program will be sent to the state. If the state approves the plan and the state bond passes, the state will then deal directly with the affected cities, he reported.

The park committee recommendation is for a proposed five-acre park acquisition and development. No specific site was designated. The matter will be submitted to the council after the holiday season.

Sailor who wore turban receives court martial

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Ronald Singh Sherwood, 22, San Diego, was convicted of being out of uniform in a court-martial Wednesday and was reduced from petty officer to recruit status.

Sherwood, scheduled for discharge Jan. 14, was tried for wearing a turban while on duty at Miramar Naval Air Station. He was acquitted of charges of disobeying a superior officer and being late for work.

He was transferred from Fighter Squadron 92 to the chaplain's office and permitted to wear the turban and civilian clothes after he took vows with the Sikh religion last month. He contended a requirement that he remove the turban violated his religious freedom.

Sherwood began wearing the turban about a year ago but not while on duty.

It's Almost Too Late!

A Versatile Four-Channel Receiver and a Decoder

Eight-track cartridges are one of the most readily available forms of "discrete" four-channel music, and the sound separation is really impressive. We have a specially priced four-channel receiver with a cartridge player built in for both quadraphonic and regular stereo tapes. It also offers a four-channel amplifier, an AM/FM stereo radio, and inputs for a record player. The original price, including a walnut case, was $199.95, but right now you can have one for only $189, and we'll include a $79.95 SQ decoder so you can listen to matrixed four-channel material too.

If Purchased Separately $279.90

But Take Heart— We Saved Our Best Holiday Sale for You Late Shoppers

Christmas is only a few days away now, and those last few names on your shopping list probably have you in a mild state of panic. Why not bring your list into Pacific Stereo and consider our gift suggestions? We've never heard of anyone who was disappointed with a piece of good stereo gear, and these last minute specials are so attractively priced, probably all you'll have left to do is the gift wrap. By the way, if you were planning to buy yourself some new equipment this year, now's the time to do it. You won't find better prices or easier terms, and you'll be sure there's fine music in your home in time for the holidays.

We've Knocked Off $95 for Last-Minute Savings

This attractive system won't crowd even the tiniest of rooms, yet it delivers the full-bodied sound that only components can give you. The TRANSAUDIO 5502 stereo receiver normally sells for $149.95, including the walnut case, and its AM/FM tuner section offers noise-free reception of any station within range.

The 5502 has a 16-watt (RMS) amplifier, and that's all the AUDIO DESIGN 806 speakers need. Their two-way, eight-inch design produces the clear, natural bass lines you can't get by turning up the bass control on a portable phonograph. 806's are an excellent value at their regular price of $79.90 a pair.

BSR's 260A automatic record player has a cueing control to protect records from scratches, and it sells for only $44.45, complete with a base and a Shure magnetic cartridge. The regular total for these components is $274.30, but this week you can buy the system for $95 less; and like every system we sell, it comes with a written, five-year warranty.

If Purchased Separately $274.30

Tremendous Savings on a Compact Music System

The PIONEER H-7000 stereo compact combines a 16-watt (RMS) AM/FM receiver with a full-featured 8-track cartridge player. Jacks are provided for headphones and a record player, and it even comes with a pair of Pioneer acoustic suspension speakers. Pioneer's original price for this system was $239.95, so you late shoppers can save over $100 at our special holiday price.

Cassette Portables for People on the Go

The WOLLENSAK 4150 is an attractively styled unit with convenient pushbutton controls. Normally $54.95, our price this week is just $39.

With its remote control microphone, built-in battery recharger, and automatic level control, the WOLLENSAK 4055 is ideal for saving lectures or live concerts. Our regular price is $69.95, but we've just reduced it to $49.

The WOLLENSAK 4500 has a larger speaker for good sounding playback of music recordings; and instead of the original price of $79.95, you pay just $49.

SONY's CF200A combines an AM/FM radio with a full featured cassette recorder, and it offers automatic shutoff at the end of a tape. The original price was $109.95, but if you hurry, you can pick one up for just $82.

We've Knocked Off $96 for Last-Minute Savings

We chose the HARMAN-KARDON 330A as the basis for this system because it offers unusually good performance at a very reasonable price. There's 45 watts (RMS) of power inside and an AM/FM tuner section that lets you hear all your favorite stations free of background noise. The 330A also has an impressive array of controls that lets you adjust the sound just the way you like it. Our normal price is only $199.95; the walnut case is extra.

GARRARD's 40B record player keeps discs in mint condition thanks to damped cueing and a gentle record changing mechanism. Our regular price is $50.95, including a base and an Empire 999XE/X elliptical cartridge. The TRANSAUDIO 1010 two-way speaker systems have ten-inch bass drivers for low notes you can feel; you wouldn't expect such big sound from systems that normally sell for only $119.90 a pair. Purchased separately, these components would total $370.80, but you can buy them now for $96 less; and you know this system will continue to bring pleasure because it's backed by our no-hassle five-year warranty.

If Purchased Separately $370.80

HOW TO ENJOY YOUR MUSIC SYSTEM

A Few Good Reasons to Visit Pacific Stereo Before Christmas

Free Headphones or Records. If you choose a system before Christmas, we'll make you a present of either stereophones which normally sell for $15, or 3 stereo albums selected from current titles.

Extended Warranties and Exchange Privileges. We won't start counting the elapsed time on our warranties until Jan. 1, so you get coverage for the full period plus however much time there is between your purchase and the 1st of the year. Our FIVE-YEAR SYSTEM WARRANTY covers free parts for five years and free labor for three years on absolutely everything but the needle on the record player. SIXTY-DAY EXCHANGE PRIVILEGES allow you to exchange anything you aren't happy about within 60 days (counted from Jan. 1), and the ONE-YEAR SPEAKER TRIAL lets you receive your full purchase price on any speakers costing up to $200 in trade toward more expensive speakers any time during 1974.

Free Connecting Wire and Installation Manual. Along with your new system we'll give you everything you need to start enjoying it right away with no hassles. We've found that many owner's manuals aren't as easy to read as they could be, so we've prepared our own complete guide to setting up a component system.

Layaways 'Til Christmas. If you want to be sure of getting what you want at the advertised special price, but aren't quite ready to buy, just put a $10 deposit on the system. It's refundable and you're under no obligation.

Pay 'Most Any Way You Prefer. We'll be happy to accept your MASTERCHARGE, BANKAMERICARD, or PERSONAL CHECK with proper identification. We can arrange 90-DAY INTEREST-FREE FINANCING, and also longer credit terms.

No Down Payment, No Monthly Payments 'Til March, 1974. You can use our special holiday credit terms to finance your purchases at Pacific Stereo. On approved credit, there are no payments at all until March, 1974, on contracts of 24 months or longer.

WILLIAM BRADLEY

Rotarian board chooses Bradley as president

POMONA — William E. Bradley has been elected president of the Rotary Club

His selection by the board of directors was announced at the club's Christmas program which featured selections by Pomona High School choir and brass ensemble under the direction of Weldon Moody.

Bradley will succeed Harry McBeth next July 1 after attending the Rotary International Convention in Minneapolis, Minn.

Bradley, a 16-year member of Rotary, is a partner in the firm of Elswell Averbeck Co. He is a senior active Rotarian in the classification of marine insurance.

He is a member and past director of the Insurance Brokers Society of Southern California. He is in his second year on the Rotary board and is directory chairman of international service.

He and his wife, Barbar, live at 1470 Scott Ave. They have two daughters, Blaire, a student at the University of Denver, and Bonita, who attends Pomona High School.

Nixon Supporters chairman plans big Yule party

POMONA — The chairman of the Supporters of the President group says he will match any community contribution that he receives toward a Christmas Party for the President.

Fred Chandler, the leader of the group, says the party will be held at his place of business, Pomona Auto Action, 1664 E. Mission Blvd., from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited free of charge.

Those who want to help defray the expense of the party may mail contributions to the group, Box 2134, Montclair, 91763.

Chandler says he is taking on the task not so much to pay tribute to Richard Nixon, as to honor the highest office in the nation, and to provide the opportunity for people to reaffirm their faith in America.

Poly personnel join to replant burned acreage

POMONA — Students, staff and faculty at Cal Poly are working together to replant a five-acre area of the campus partially destroyed by fire last October.

The university's groundskeeping staff, headed by Frank Halterman Jr., is coordinating replanting efforts with Los Robles, the student horticulture club. David L. Lannom, an ornamental horticulture lecturer and club adviser, said some 40 students will participate in the project when it begins next quarter.

The club also plans to buy up to $800 worth of plants and trees for the fire-damaged Palm Canyon area.

The fire destroyed three palm trees and damaged many others which, according to Halterman, are expected to recover. The estimated loss in the fire may range up to $36,000 depending on the number of trees that fail to grow back in the spring, he said.

Fresno boy yearning for dog lost in Pomona

I am 10 and I live in Fresno.

Could you help me find my dog? Her name is Lisa. She is a Pekingese.

We went to Pomona for my grandfather's funeral. We lost Lisa but we found her in the dog pound Nov. 28. My mother paid $15 to get her out.

The next day when we were leaving for Fresno, she jumped out of the car. We didn't notice that she was gone until a half hour later. We looked and looked but we couldn't find her.

The following Monday my mother called the dog pound long distance from Fresno. She found out that a lady at Hamilton School had Lisa.

My grandma walked a long way to get her. Grandma has a mean dog, so she couldn't keep Lisa for me. She took her over to my uncle's house on Fourth Street. Last week we called my uncle and he said someone took Lisa from his yard.

I cry and cry for my dog because I am worried about her. I miss her very, very much and I know she misses me. Please help me find her. Thank you. — Victor Rodriguez.

A picture you sent shows us your dog is tan on top and white underneath.

You added a postscript asking anyone who knows of Lisa's whereabouts to call your grandmother, Mrs. Carmen Hernandez, at 629-6232.

My son, who is in the Navy and stationed at Long Beach aboard the U.S. Point Defiance, and others on the ship were approached by a representative of a Long Beach firm to sign up for a week-end diving excursion.

This was done at a meeting held on board the ship.

The following Saturday my son made a deposit of $40 toward the fee. During the next week and a half he was out at sea between Long Beach and San Diego with no way to get in touch with the firm.

During this time he learned that he would be on duty the weekend of the excursion. It would cost him $25 for a standby for one day, making the trip too costly for him.

He went to the firm the following Saturday to give notification that he could not make the trip. He asked for his deposit.

He was first informed by the clerk that there would be no refund but credit or merchandise could be given in place of the money.

My son agreed. The clerk made a phone call and then said it was not company policy to refund or give credit on any deposits made. There was no mention of this when he signed up for the excursion nor was any sign to that effect posted in the store.

I feel that the store is not being fair because he is a Navy man and possibly not a future potential customer.

My son will be leaving Long Beach right after Christmas and will be stationed elsewhere. I would appreciate anything that could be done on his behalf. — Mrs. C. W., Pomona.

We received no reply when we wrote to the general manager of the firm but we learned from you that the $40 has been refunded.

Is a completely phony spiritualist allowed to stay in business legally?

My friend and I went to a Pomona "spiritualist" for a reading. She asked a $5 donation from each of us before our reading.

She gave no specifics. She asked for more information than she gave us and just told us anything we wanted to hear.

I have been to good spiritualists who were really "mediums" and I was totally shocked by this woman. She has no gift of any kind. She does not pick up vibrations.

Does she have a license? — Mrs. K. W., La Verne.

We don't have a ghost of a notion as to how to judge the merits of a medium.

We learned from a staff member at the city clerk's office that no business license has been issued in the name that you gave us. There is one in another name at the same address. The city clerk will investigate.

Fortune-telling of any type is against the law in Pomona. It is suspected that some people get around this law by obtaining licenses as "spiritual advisers."

Pomona firemen acting as Santa at 3 locations

POMONA — The Pomona Fireman's Association again this year will have Santa Claus riding atop a fire truck distributing candy to children.

Santa will carry out the tradition Satuday from three locations.

St. Nick will be stationed at the southeast corner of Garey Avenue and Foothill Boulevard from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

The period between 1 and 2:30 p.m. will see Santa riding back and forth distributing candy on Pomona Mall East and Pomona Mall West.

From 3 to 4:30 p.m., Santa will be at Garey and Philadelphia Street. Children of all ages are invited to join in.

Carnation Co. fined for political gift

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Carnation Co. and board chairman, H. Everett Olson, have admitted making illegal corporate political contributions of $8,900 to 1972 Republican presidential and congressional campaigns.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Wednesday imposed maximum fines of $5,000 against the condensed milk company and $1,000 against Olson.

CHRISTMAS FOR LONG BEACH VETS

At Veterans Hospital

Valley delegation plans Yule party

Elected officials from seven Pomona Valley area cities will distribute gifts to 150 paraplegic veterans at the Long Beach Veterans Hospital at a Christmas party Sunday sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2018 in Pomona.

The city officials are Mayors Ray J. Lepire of Pomona, Howard Snider of Ontario, Mike Morales of La Verne, Thomas Nuss of San Dimas, Abner Haldeman of Upland, and Harold Hayes of Montclair and Claremont Vice Mayor Bertye Smith.

They will be accompanied by Retired Army Maj. Clodeon Adkins of Homeland, a former prisoner of war. The visiting group will be greeted by Long Beach Mayor Edwin B. Wade.

The Claremont High School Chamber Singers under the direction of Don Brinegar will sing carols in three hospital wards and will also perform in the hospital auditorium.

The post, at 637 W. 2nd St., Pomona, will be open tonight and Saturday until 10 p.m. to accept donations of gifts or checks for the veterans.

Funds received will be used to purchase canteen books patients use in the hospital commissary. The donor's name and address will be included with the book or gift.

Checks may be made out to Post 2018 Christmas party and mailed to the post headquarters. Further information may be obtained by contacting Fred Klein at 985-5005.

SANTA VISITS CLASSROOM

Nick Durel, a first grader in Mrs. Eula Jackson's room at North San Antonio Elementary School in Pomona, tells Santa what he wants for Christmas. Santa is Alan Love, 18, a senior at Pomona High School, who volunteered for the task. Assisting Love distribute candy to the youngsters is Harry Yelton, beside Nick. Pomona students spent $10 on candy. Other Santa helpers were Linda Stolsworth, Karen Hill and Michelle Spotville.

Make long-distance Yule calls early, avoid b-z-z-z-z

POMONA — Those planning to make a long-distance phone call to someone special this Christmas should plan ahead.

The General Telephone Co. is expecting one of the busiest days of the year on Tuesday.

More than 500,000 long-distance calls were handled last Christmas and that number is expected to climb even higher this year with more people staying home because of the energy crisis, said officials.

The best times for making out-of-town calls are this weekend and early Christmas Eve when long-distance circuits will be readily available.

Lower rates for direct distance dialing will be in effect from Friday at 5 p.m. to Monday at 8 a.m. Low evening rates will also be effective Christmas Eve.

The volume of Christmas Day calls will start to peak after 8 a.m. and some difficulty in completing calls may be experienced as the holiday progresses, they added.

The quickest way to make a Christmas call is by direct distance dialing. This is also the least expensive, officials noted.

Dinner for seniors

POMONA — A free Christmas dinner for senior citizens will be held by members of the Head Start Pre-School Sunday, at 3 p.m. in the Mt. Sinai Church.

A stitch in time

Not all the oil shortage comes from the Arab blockade, gas guzzling autos, controls imposed by environmentalists and bumbling bureaucrats.

Recent surveys indicate almost a third of the heat used in industrial processes is wasted. That translates into the equivalent of 5.6 million barrels of petroleum a day. Preventing that waste, which is possible with existing technology would cover predicted petroleum shortages for the last half of 1974 and all of 1975. Installation costs would be more than met by lower fuel bills. Major savings would be possible within months.

These would require no new equipment — only better management, maintenance and repair practices. Numbers of the devices required for additional waste prevention could be produced and installed rather quickly.

Cement kilns now being introduced in West Europe can cut operating fuel requirements almost a third.

Engineers at the Hoogovens Ijmuiden steel plant in the Netherlands reduced fuel consumption 25 per cent and increased production 12 per cent by installing a computer-controlled program to manage the fuel flow to furnaces.

Experts in metal processing have estimated that if currently-known economically-justifiable technology were to be applied fully to furnace design, heat soaking pit designs and thermal management of processes, the over-all fuel requirements of steel making could be cut as much as 20 per cent.

Overall, the regular adjusting of industrial furnaces every two to four weeks could save as much as 15 per cent of the fuel used.

A. F. Waterland of Du Pont gives examples of energy savings of $500,000 a year by closing leaks in an oil refinery.

Careful management of large refrigeration plants has been shown to conserve as much as 12 per cent of the electrical energy required without sacrifice of performance.

Approximately half of the heat generated by combustion in industrial plants escapes in the flue gas exhausted from the furnace. But Sani Dairy of Johnston, Pa., has installed a recovery system that warms their 13,600 square foot warehouse with heat developed from the flue gasses of the process boilers.

Further, in certain cases, the reject heat from large thermal processing plants such as cement kilns would be more than sufficient to heat nearby small towns. The technology and equipment are readily available.

Warm exhaust air could be used in some industrial plants to preheat incoming cold fresh air and conserve 20 to 60 per cent of the fuel required.

G. Decker of Dow Chemical Company has reported that by changing from water to a special fluid, as a heat transfer medium, approximately 50 per cent of the fuel consumption in one process steam operation could be saved.

By replacing direct heating of polymeric resin coatings as a method of curing, with curing by ultraviolet radiation, some manufacturers have been able to reduce the total fuel requirements for one resin curing operation from 12 million BTU to 300,000 BTU.

Alcoa Corporation experts believe a new already-developed smelting process could cut electricity use 30 per cent in the aluminum industry, which uses about 4 per cent of the nation's electricity.

Some of these techniques and devices are new. Some have been around for some time, but not adopted because the emphasis in much of industry has been on increased production, not on fuel efficiency. A share of the new devices could have been developed years ago were it not for the fact that 98 per cent of the federal energy research funds have been devoted to fuel development, power generation, power transmission and supply of energy and less than 2 per cent to more efficient ways of using fuel.

What is written above does not by any means apply to all companies. Some firms have been in the forefront of energy conservation and efficient energy use. Some have very active programs aimed at assisting their consumers in fuel saving techniques.

Energy coordination

With White House announcement of a new energy czar, William E. Simon, and the coordination of all energy matters under Simon's jurisdiction, if Congress approves, the nation can hope for more action and less talk about new programming.

In a little noted aside, Simon, in his first public appearance as energy boss, came up with one extremely practical proposal for consideration. That proposal would be for a second trans-Alaska pipeline to parallel the one presently approved in order to move more oil more quickly to the rest of the nation from Alaska's major North Slope oil field.

Not knowing the economics or what feasibility studies have preceeded Mr. Simon's suggestion there is no way to say let's hop to it, or not. The fact is, however, that it is the kind of practical thinking to meet a major need at an early date which is overdue. Interior Secretary Morton's go ahead for oil shale development on a trial basis is another. And there are others — coal degasification, nuclear, geothermal, solar and renewed offshore drilling that need some hard-headed viewing. We have had enough wringing of the hands and buck passing. Hopefully Mr. Simon's office can get some action.

The foul-ups go on and on

WASHINGTON — The government has wasted millions on sophisticated communications equipment that has failed and the responsible officials have swept their mistakes under the secrecy stamp.

Last February, we broke through the tight security and exposed some of the costly communications goofs. These failings contributed to such disasters as the sinking of the spy ship Liberty by the Israelis in 1967 and the capture of the spy ship Pueblo by the North Koreans in 1968.

Now here is another fascinating installment. Like our first story, this gives away no legitimate secrets but merely exposes mistakes the government has tried to hide.

About eight years ago, for example, the Pentagon sent aloft a family of sturdy, if primitive communication satellites. These provided the military with an alternate channel for vital messages.

"Internal clock"

Built into the satellite system was an "internal clock," which was set to silence the signals after more sophisticated satellites would be ready to replace the old models. The purpose of the silencing mechanism was to prevent excessive space static.

The new satellites, with their intricate workings, were scientific wonders. They were blasted, with pride and precision, into space. The only trouble was that they didn't work right.

One staggered in space like a holiday drunk while the Pentagon signalmen frantically tried to fix their antennae on it. Another lost its "transponder" signal, which is a little like a blind man losing his seeing-eye dog.

Desperately, the Pentagon hotshots aimed their radio beams back on the old Model T satellites, which may not have been fancy but which at least worked. Unhappily, the "internal clock" also worked and began cutting off the signals. The silencing mechanism, which should have been controlled from the ground, automatically caused the satellites to go mute.

Ready new system

Humiliated, the Pentagon people are now obliged to use NATO satellites until a third system is ready for launching. Our sources say the next satellites may also be scientific monstrosities which, out of sheer complexity, could easily go on the blink.

This fascination with delicate equipment also fouled up our secret communications during the Vietnam War. Security no longer restricts us from telling about the two Autodin, written-message communications systems, which the Pentagon established in Vietnam.

Each Autodin required total air conditioning, a dust-tight building and protection from both the power surges that burn out circuits and the power lapses that give its computers amnesia. These Autodin systems simply weren't designed for Vietnam's rugged climate and combat conditions.

Result: It took the Defense Department nine months to set them up and to get them working right, instead of the few hours that a proper strategic system should require. Although $5 million was spent on the delicate workings, failures sometimes blocked important CIA messages and the frustrated spies were compelled to use non-secure telephone lines.

Shipped back

When U.S. forces withdrew from Vietnam, they didn't want to leave the two "autodinosaurs" behind. They were both too complicated and too secret to be entrusted to the South Vietnamese. So the secret orders went out to cannibalize one for parts and to ship out the other intact.

This operation cost far more, say our sources, than the equipment is worth. "We'd have done better to blow them up," one Pentagon cost expert told my associate Les Whitten.

BRUCE BIOSSAT
Wanted: Bush beaters for Rocky

Those Republicans and others who are interested in Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's prospects for the presidency in 1976 have to hope he will in fact mount a real quest long before the late 1975 he mentioned in his governorship resignation announcement.

Indeed, the note of hesitancy he struck in that announcement was poor strategy, if it be assumed that his intent ultimately is to run. Just a short time ago, his top aides assured me it is. They have been saying so since mid-spring.

It is an article of faith in the Rockefeller camp that the glaring errors of his prior presidential campaigns in 1964 and 1968 are not to be repeated in any future bid. Chief among them were indecision and, most particularly, the failure to move early all over the country on a determined, highly skillful hunt for national convention delegates.

Late-hour decision customarily mean that other candidates already have moved to gain critical advantage which cannot be taken away by the indecisive starter.

Election laws and rules have changed, and there are many more primaries today than in the years of Rocky's earlier efforts. But, whatever the formalities, the unwritten law of presidential nominating politics is unchanged: Those who want to pile up a winning delegate total can hardly begin too soon in laying the major groundwork. For instance, by January of 1967 Richard Nixon had hundreds of southern and other delegates largely tucked away for the 1968 elections.

Vital to the quest, of course, are the very special kinds of skills needed to "work the states" in preparation for the actual delegate-choosing. To put it most charitably, for all his resources and his ability to command talent, Nelson Rockefeller in past times never was blessed with the skilled delegate-hunters a winning candidate requires.

Potential managers with this requisite grasp of the field situation in the 50 states are never a plentiful crop. Right now, a bare handul of proven ability are still available to Rocky. He knows their names. And he seems from all private accounts to have some notion what it cost him not to have such talents at his disposal in his prior races.

If word does not filter out by at least mid-spring of 1974 that the governor had quietly taken aboard and put to work one or more of these skilled agents, then his 1976 candidacy will have to be seriously downgraded. He will be on the way to repeating rather than wiping out his strategic errors of the past.

Despite Rocky's declared assurances that there is no political gimmickry in his taking command of the Commission on Critical Choices, a group bent on searching out long-range U.S. goals, most observers see it as a political vehicle and question its value on many counts. The shelves already groan with goals studies, and besides this is not what the governor needs to be doing unless he has truly lost some of his resolve for 1976. We'll know by next May, from the number of his road trips and his naming of political helpers (if any), how serious he is.

Those are his personal critical choices.

Beginning of wisdom

Now that we are approaching the season commemorating the birth-date of our world savior, let us make it a time for the beginning of wisdom. When will the world cease inventing scapegoats upon whom to pass off their sense of guilt and frustration? In Old Testament times, it was the sacrificial lamb. In the New Testament era, it was Jesus. Now that the Bible has about run its course, we turn to flogging our President.

As recently as three years ago we were warned of the impending fuel shortage if certain measures were not taken. We were told that too much reliance on foreign nations was inimical to our welfare and survival. The opposing political party said this was all hog-wash and the ecologists gave weight to this assertion by adding that it would ruin us and pollute the environment to drill or mine natural resources from our land.

We all feel betrayed by the present energy crisis and, like immature children, the political party out of office is helping by heaping all the blame on one man for the bungling and mismanagement they themselves created. This would not have happened if those whom we elect to guide us had been more civic minded instead of political-party oriented. When party interest comes before the well-being and protection of the people, the world is in trouble. The news media is of no help because they allow self-interest to overrule common sense fair play and impartiality.

Anyone familiar with economics would have surmised that if the rest of the world needs our food supply and the American dollar needs stabilizing, the simple thing to do would be to insist that these countries help balance our currency in exchange for our food.

What has all this misinformation done for us? It has earned us a fuel shortage. Millions have been made jobless because gas powered vehicles and electrically operated industries cannot function without fuel or energy. We have the pleasure of cold sub-temperature homes and offices and near empty stomachs because our dollar has no value and our food supply continues to diminish. It is clear that we follow leaders who have lost contact with nature, wisdom and reality.

For Christmas, why don't we all unite in sending greetings and well-wishes to our President and his First Lady? — Ruth Leerskov, Montclair.

Gossip for today

It never rains but it pours! It is bad enough to have to listen day after day to the dire warnings of the Big Shots in the government and the electrical industry who insist we are going to have brown-outs, black-outs and arbitrary rotating turn-offs if we don't mend our ways and cut down on our use of electricity. But look what may happen to us if we attempt to do our patriotic duty and start paracticing conservation. According to Ralph Nader, there's the possibility that if we decide to substitute candle lights for electric lights, we may be exposing ourselves to lead poisoning.

INSIDE REPORT
Israel key to anti-U.S. embargo

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The easing of the Arab oil embargo promised last week was so slight as to be almost imperceptible, but it marked a psychological breakthrough partially easing Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's fear of bargaining "at the point of a gun."

The new position of the Arab oil states — that the embargo against the U.S. will end when Israel totally agrees to withdraw from "all territories" seized in 1967 — also marked the first slight willingness by militant Kuwait to open the door so much as a crack.

The promise to end the anti-American embargo when Israel agrees to withdraw was first pressed at the meeting of Arab oil moguls in Kuwait Oct. 18. Saudi Arabian oil minister Zaki Yamani formally proposed a resolution that merely Israeli agreement, not Israeli action, should be sufficient to end the anti-American embargo.

According to those present, Yamani argued long and persuasively but never had a chance. Instead, the Kuwaitis, who unlike the Saudis are militantly anti-American on the Israeli question, gave an unyielding no. To preserve the unity which is essential to make good on the oil embargo against the U.S. and the production cutback for other countries, Saudi Arabia went along. Not until last week, when the oil ministers met in Kuwait for the third time since the Yom Kippur war, was Saudi Arabia able to get the new policy adopted.

Militant Kuwait agrees

Far less important than the barely perceptible difference between the old policy (no end of the boycott until Israel actually withdraws) and the new one is the fact that militant Kuwait agreed to it. Kuwait, which has a popularly elected assembly, has been even more intransigent than Algeria and Libya.

The switch to this slightly less extreme policy was pressed hard by Kissinger, partly because the dangerous American energy crisis is now a ticking time-bomb. The end of the boycott and the resumption of full-scale production will at least lengthen the fuse of that bomb.

Moreover, Kissinger fears the political impact on the Nixon administration of the U.S. co-hosting the Middle East peace conference (with the Soviet Union) under the threat of "Arab blackmail." Says one expert here: "Kissinger doesn't want the President placed in the odious position of bargaining at the point of a gun."

Thus, ever since the Nov. 4 meeting of Arab oil ministers, Kissinger has been negotiating with the major Arab oil states to ease his and the President's domestic political liabilities.

The slight easing of the Arab position was the first stage. The second stage is to extract a more visible and meaningful concession on ending the boycott and renewing full production, this time geared to Israeli agreement to pull back from the west bank of the Suez Canal captured from Egypt in the latest war. Under this formula, the embargo would end as soon as Israel showed good faith by starting to pull out of the west bank.

Amenable to concessions

Kuwait's switch between Oct. 18 and Dec. 9 proves that the Arabs are amenable to making concessions so long as they are convinced that the U.S. means what it says about pushing for Israeli withdrawal from territories seized in 1967.

Just how broad those concessions may eventually be is impossible to predict. But there have been several private "understandings" with Kissinger that could ease the tortuous course of the peace conference.

For example, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia has assured the U.S. that, although he regards eventual disposition of Jerusalem as by far the most important part of the Arab-Israeli deadlock, he has set no conditions.

Instead, he has informed the U.S. that any settlement of Jerusalem agreed to by the Arab states taking part in the peace conference will have his support. Jerusalem is a highly emotional issue for all Moslems but most of all for Faisal, spiritual leader of Islam. Hence, his pledge not to intervene in the peace conference negotiations on Jerusalem, probably the most difficult issue the diplomats will face, is highly significant.

The switch by Kuwait and the King's agreement to stay out of the Jerusalem bargaining may seem extremely minor parts of the complex negotiating canvas about to be unveiled in Geneva. But considering the lack of any movement at all in 25 years of the irreconcilable conflict, they also have the quality of uniqueness.

STUDENT ART SHOW

Doreen McOwen, 15, and her little sister, Dawn, 11, of Diamond Bar, pause to admire paintings exhibited in the semiannual Esther Taylor Student Art Show which was held last Saturday at the Diamond Bar Plaza. Both Doreen and Dawn won honorable mention ribbons on paintings they entered in the show.

Diamond Bar art show winners are announced

DIAMOND BAR — Seven art students won first-place ribbons in the semiannual show held Saturday at Diamond Bar Plaza by teacher Esther Taylor.

In the category for those 6 to 9, Yvonne Medine, 9, received a blue ribbon in pastels; Donna Damiano, 8, in landscape-seascape; and Ingrid Barauskas, 8, in portraits and figures.

In the 10-to 15-year-old category, Chad Stubbs, 12, won blue ribbons in still life and florals and in portraits and figures. Troy Gutierrez, 11, won the blue ribbon in landscapes and seascapes.

Lynn Tosti, 14, won a blue ribbon awarded for landscape-seascape in oils. Jackie McIntrye, 15, won the blue ribbon awarded for portraits in that classification.

Mrs. Taylor said some 50 boys and girls ranging in age from 6 to 15 entered works in the show. Some 200 paintings were shown. A number were sold.

Lucile and George Taylor of La Puente judged the show. Ribbons were provided by owners of the Diamond Bar Home Center.

Post offices limit window service on 2 coming Mondays

Window service on the days before Christmas and the New Year will be limited to the mornings by local post offices.

Pomona Postmaster Warren Lynch announced that while all post offices in the Pomona Valley area will maintain normal delivery and collection schedule next Monday and again on Dec. 31, the windows will be open from 8:30 a.m. to noon on those days.

Educators protest porno film showing

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Showing of the film "Deep Throat" at Flack's Fifth Avenue Theater has drawn a protest from the Rowland school board which has been relayed by the superintendent to the state attorney general.

"The Board of Education wishes to record its opposition to this film on the basis of its content, that it is not suitable to a residential community, and they join with other organizations and individuals in this community in asking you to do everything in your power to take approprate legal action to prevent future showings of the film 'Deep Throat' in the Rowland Heights community," Supt. Stanley G. Oswalt wrote Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger.

"The school district has worked cooperatively with groups and individuals to provide recreation services and other facilities suitable for youth in our community.

"The exclusive showing of this film denies our teen-age population as well as younger children the opportunity to view appropriate films in this area.

"The theater in question is the only facility of its kind within a seven-to 12-mile radius."

Copies of Oswalt's letter were sent to Mrs. Carolyn Rosas, chairman of the Rowland Heights Coordinating Council; Joseph Busch, Los Angeles County district attorney; and Peter Schabarum, a member of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

School band, new choir perform at Yule program

WALNUT — During the recent Christmas program at Suzanne School parents, teachers and students heard presentations by the school band and a newly formed choir.

Richard Massaro directed the band in such selections as "Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer," "Christmas Gift" and "Santa's Holiday."

Larry Cline introduced the new school choir in tunes "Joyous Christmas" "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and "Now Is the Caroling Season." Margaret Frazier was accompanist.

Among the guests at the affair were Dr. David L. Brown, superintendent of Walnut Valley Unified School District, and school board member J. Edwin Nettell.

During the program, Mrs. William Wentworth, president of the school Community Club, announced that the club had allocated $1,000 in dedication to Mrs. Barbara Rossi for the purchase of books for the school library. Mrs. Rossi served as librarian for the district.

Mrs. Wentworth also asked for volunteers to serve hot dogs on Monday of each week. Interested persons should call Mrs. Kenneth Boyd, 595-1414.

Mrs. Richard Laughter was ratified as vice president of the Community Club.

State motorists buying more gas

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians are still buying gasoline in record volume despite last summer's gas shortage and the current fuel crisis.

Records provided Tuesday by the state showed Californians purchased about 8.68 billion gallons of gas through October of this year. For the same 10 months of 1972, the total was 8.35 billion gallons.

The figures were compiled by the state Board of Equalization, which collects tax on all gas distributed in the state.

It doesn't take a lot of energy to save a lot of energy.

For some years the Gas Company has been suggesting ways you can cut back on the amount of gas you use without cutting down on your comfort. In today's energy situation they are more important than ever.

Can you, as an individual, really make a meaningful contribution to energy conservation? "What effect will it have if I turn my heat down 6 degrees?" For the answer just multiply this energy saving by over 3,000,000 Gas Company customers. That's a lot of heat, a lot of energy and a lot of money saved.

******

A little wash can waste gas. Wait till you have a full load before starting your clothes washer or dryer or the dishwasher. Saves work, saves energy.

Don't use more flame than you need. Adjust it to fit the pan. Turning the burner too high burns up a lot of gas—and sometimes the food. Other savers: If the food you're cooking calls for a preheated oven, don't preheat the oven too long—not over 10 minutes. Cover saucepans while cooking. And never use the oven to heat the kitchen.

Always wash full loads. Every time you turn on the hot water faucet, you're using gas as well as water. So get all the use you can out of your hot water before it goes down the drain. Step in the shower as soon as the water heats up. And don't fill the tub any higher than need be.

Don't heat the great outdoors. At night draw the drapes to help keep the day's heat indoors. In the morning set your thermostat at the recommended 68° and leave it there. Turn it down when you go to bed or leave the house for the day. And on sunny days open the draperies and let the sun do some of your heating. It's free.

Gas logs may cure cold feet, but.. ...they aren't meant to warm your whole house. You'll be gas and money ahead if you don't use them frivolously. And be sure the damper is closed when the fireplace is not in use.

Turn off lights you don't need. Outdoor gas lights are very romantic. But so is the light from above. And it's not reflected on your gas meter. If you have gas lights for security or safety, fine. If they're purely decorative and you would like us to shut them off for you, just call us.

Why heat it when you're not using it? This time of year a morning dip can be too shivery an experience for most of us. But if the outside temperature doesn't faze you, then perhaps you're rugged enough to turn down the pool heater a few notches, too. In fact, during this period, pool heaters should be used as little as possible. Call us if you would like us to shut yours off for you.

******

At the Gas Company we've taken a hard look at our own operation and have cut our energy consumption.

We're turning off all ornamental and display lighting outside. We're cutting down on lighting inside our buildings. And we're adjusting heating temperatures downward and cooling temperatures upward.

We urge other companies that haven't yet done so to take similar energy-saving steps, and we hope they can do even better than we have.

We have more ways to save energy around your home, and we've put them all in a helpful hints booklet. For a free copy write to Consumer Information Dept., Mail Location 24, P.O. Box 3249, Terminal Annex, Los Angeles 90051. Or pick one up at your local Gas Company office.

Grow vegetables hydroponically— easy, inexpensive

By PATRICK SPENCER
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Tired of the high price of vegetables? Fancy you'd like to grow your own, but are too busy to contend with the demands of traditional soil gardening?

Then consider soilless, weed-free hydroponics gardening. Better yet, jump right in. It's ridiculously easy on both you and your pocketbook. For less than the price of two steak dinners, you can outfit yourself with the necessary equipment to grow your favorite vegetables with little fuss in any sunny spot around the house.

While hydroponics has a sicience-fiction ring to it, the technique is centuries-old. It was used in the floating gardens of Xochimilco, Mexico, in the 1500s. There's even some evidence that the hanging gardens of Babylon were partly soilless.

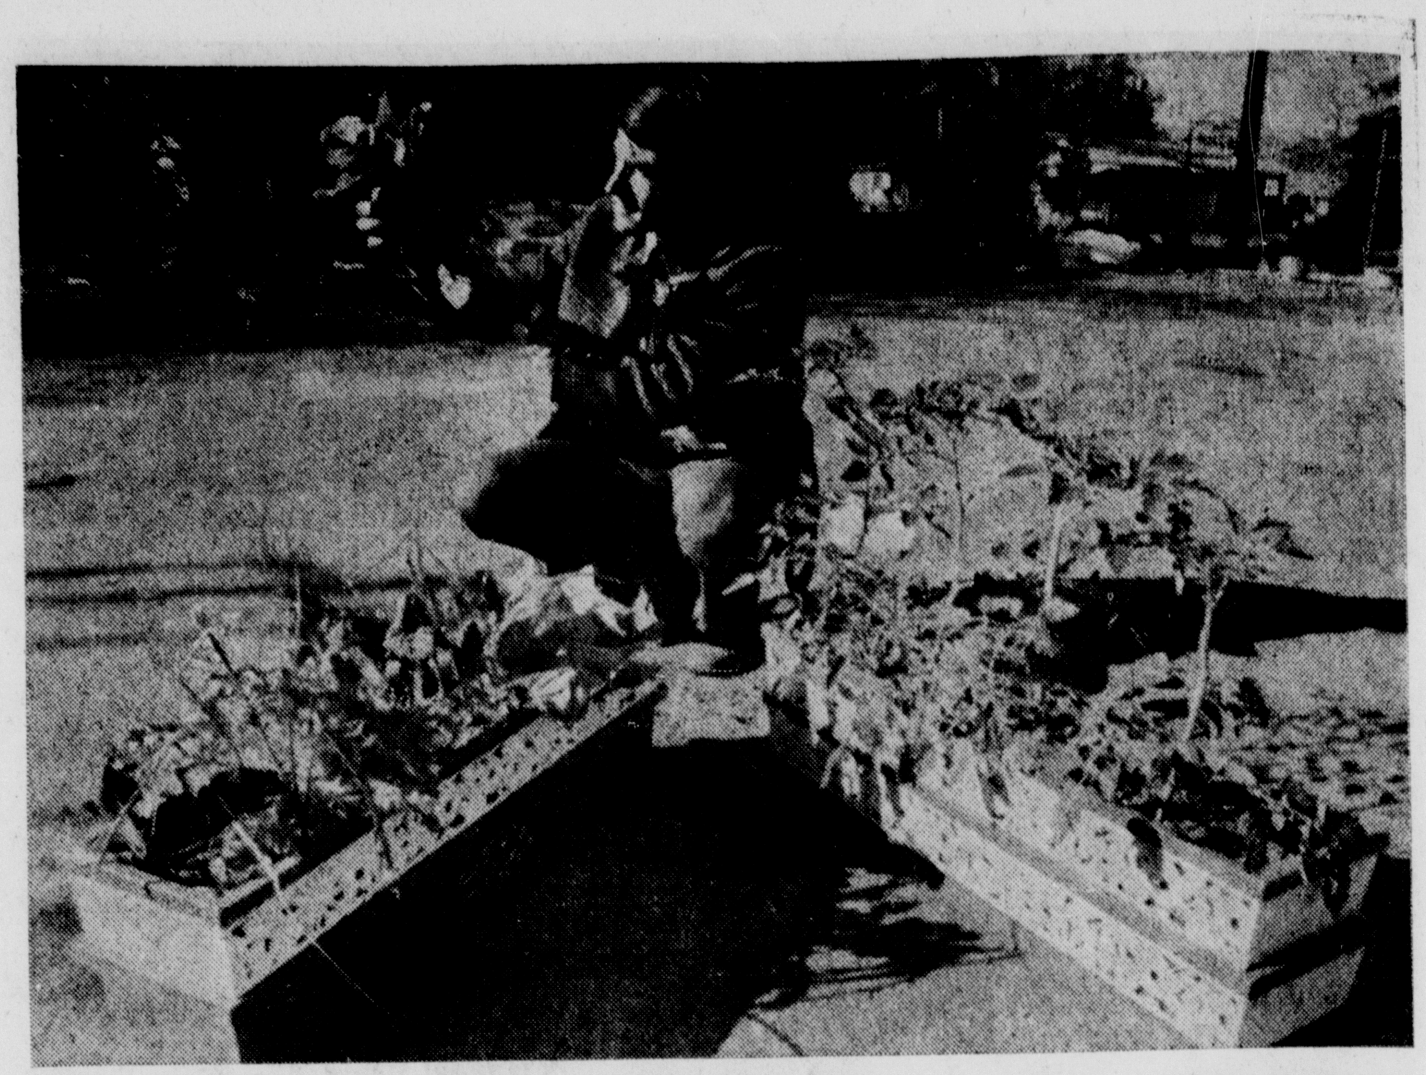
The idea was dusted off in the Thirties when serious research began, got a boost during World War II as an inexpensive way to supply fresh produce to troops, flourished in both private and commercial operations all over the world and is now popping up in backyards across the nation.

Essentially the process involves growing plants in trays of a water solution containing some 13 plant nutrients. No soil is involved, but natural or artificial rock, or sand is used to support the plant while it grows.

A few years back, the home hobbyist had to mix his own nutrients and build his own containers, but now the nutrients are ready-mixed, growing media are pre-packaged and a variety of clever growing containers are available.

While buckets, wading pools and kitty-litter boxes can be used, you can purchase a twin-tray affair in plastic that fits together like a double-boiler and operates like an old-fashioned cigarette lighter.

A two-week supply of nutrient solution goes into the bottom and is drawn up to the plants by several wicks extending down from the top tray.



EASY GARDENING — Art Aslesen, a Pomona hydroponic gardening equipment dealer, examines a young lettuce plant ready for transplanting. The trays brimming with fresh salad makings are the latest wrinkle in soilless gardening gear. Made like double-boilers, the trays are self-feeding for up to two-week periods. Nutrient solution is sucked from the bottom tray through a series of wicks extending down from the top tray to keep the plants well fed.

The self-feeding kit comes with seeds, nutrients, growing medium and instructions for just under $15.

On the other end of the scale are fully automated, air-conditioned greenhouses that run from $1,000 to $2,000.

Providing the ultimate in comfort and luxury, the greenhouses are equipped with timed pumps that transfer nutrient solutions from large holding tanks at regular intervals. Fans and heaters maintain temperatures at a constant 85 degrees, and virtually eliminate smog damage, insect and disease problems.

While the basic techniques are simple, hydroponics, like soil gardening, requires a little specialized knowledge. That, too, was once hard to come by, but a number of paperback books are now on the market, attesting to the growing popularity of hydroponics.

In addition, schools and YMCA's are beginning to teach the techniques. In the local area, the Pomona Y will start a second four-week course Jan. 15. The Claremont Y also plans classes in the near future and several high schools are installing hydroponic gardens for teaching purposes.

If you'd like to try your green thumb out on hydroponics, you might visit the area's only present dealer, Art Aslesen, at his store at 637 W. Holt Avenue.

Aslesen, a Cal Poly business graduate, started out with a wadding pool in his backyard about five years ago. Bitten hard by the hydroponics bug, he and his wife traveled the country researching the field before opening up their own dealership several months ago.

In addition to carrying various lines of basic equipment and providing a wealth of knowledge on the subject, Aslesen is manufacturing his own line of backyard greenhouses.

Besides providing fresh produce year-round, Aslesen says the green houses with their comfortable temperatures and high oxygen atmosphere are good places to relax in.

"It's more than just a hobby," he says, "it's therapy and great place to have fun."

Patience helps—but not necessary

Guide for budding Bonsai artists

If you'd like,to grow one of those picturesque, dwarfed or shaped in Japanses fashion, don't let the name Bonsai intimidate you.

It is true that in Japan a gardener may start a young bonsai plant that will come to perfection in the lifetime of his grandchildren. Patience is a big factor in shaping and training a specimen to the desired form.

But, if patience isn't a virtue of yours, most nurseries offer pre-started or already-grown Bonsai plants in pots. You can grow and enjoy the creation at home.

Many nurseries have Bonsai kits available, but for those who wish to start one from a seedling, or shop for unique-looking specimens to train, there are simplified procedures to follow that will yield faster results. A Bonsai fashioned from a year-old seedling can be a prized possession in less than ten years and perhaps five, depending upon the plant. If you find a larger specimen in a nursery container you can have an attractive piece immediately.

When starting with older plants, look for irregular growth rather than shapely ones. Prune unwanted branches to add interest to your creation. Keep in mind, as you prune, the shape you are trying to achieve. There are books available that provide in-depth information on the art of Bonsai, and illustrations to give ideas on structure and shapes.

Shopping for year-old seedlings to bonsai is an entertaining adventure. Using young plants has certain advantages. The trunk and branches will be pliable and easy to train. Authoratative Bonsai literature will show how to wire the branches and trunks to achieve artistic shapes. Pruning young plants is confined to removing a few unwanted branches with sharp shears, then pinching back new growth as it appears. This results in stouter trunks and smaller foliage.

Start your seedling in a small pot. A variety of Bonsai containers is available at most nurseries. These are usually shallow—longer and wider than they are deep. Increase the size of the container from year to year until the plant has reached the ultimate size you desire.

When placing the plant in the container, try tilting it slightly for dramatic effect. If the bowl is oblong, set the plant closer to one end than the other. If the container is round, place the bonsai in the center.

Soil for Bonsai specimens should be porous and not excessively rich. Your nurseryman can recommend a planting mixture to use. Drainage holes in the container are necessary and should be covered with a fine wire screen or pieces of broken crockery—set over the holes to prevent soil loss. After putting in a layer of gravel in the bottom of the container, add a layer of sand. Place the plant in the container, spread out its roots and then add the soil mixture. Firm the soil and water thoroughly with a fine spray.

Carying for Bonsai plants is different than that of shrubs or trees in the garden, or growing in redwood tubs. The Bonsai plants depend on your help to live in a small area of soil. Watering is very important—once a day with a fine mist is average. In hot weather the plants may need water two or three times a day.

Gardener's Checklist ✓

1. If you haven't already invested in a Christmas tree, look over the "living" Christmas trees at local nurseries. These can be kept in containers and brought indoors each year for a while and finally planted outdoors permanently.

2. Hardy garden lilies for bloom next spring and summer should be planted now.

3. America's favorite flower makes a wonderful Christmas gift. Why not give rose bushes to homeowners on your Christmas list?

4. Make you first planting of gladiolus as soon as they show up in nurseries. Some are already there, waiting for you to take home and plant.

5. For the amazement of your children, grow a bulb or three in a bowl filled with gravel and some water or in a hyacinth glass. Even adults like it.

Hot seat for Whitelaw

Britain's Kissinger will need miracle

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Lights are browning out all over Britain, facing Prime Minister Edward Heath with perhaps his greatest challenge.

To meet it he has called upon the man already credited with a near-miracle in Northern Ireland. He is William Whitelaw, who as minister of state for Ulster is credited with bringing Catholic and Protestant together in a joint effort toward ending 300 years of religious warfare.

With that accord still in its fragile infancy, Heath called him home to take over an economic problem which many believe Heath's government cannot survive.

Whitelaw's title is minister of employment, which falls far short of describing the responsibilities he will bear in the search for escape from the quagmire in which Britain finds itself.

As the man in charge of jobs, prices and wages, it will be his task to find a meeting ground between the rebellious unions and the government's tough phase III of its economic program, which sets a general ceiling of seven per cent on wage and price rises.

These are some of the problems with which Whitelaw must deal immediately:

—Coal miners have rejected a 13 per cent increase and, along with electric power engineers, are refusing to work overtime. The result is a gradually spreading brownout. The miners are threatening to go out on total strike as they did two years ago.

—Locomotive engineers have been offered a 15 per cent increase but are demanding more. A decision by the railmen to join in the refusal to work overtime could be the crowning blow to Christmas plans for tens of thousands of Britons.

—Also in the queue for higher wages are engineering workers, teachers, some civil workers, mailmen and shop workers. Ambulance men are taking only emergency cases.

As theater marquee lights have blinked out and offices have darkened early in response to a government plea for a 10 per cent cut in power and fuel consumption, chilled Britons were going through the coldest November in 100 years.

Nor was that all. Hundreds of gasoline filling stations had run dry because of the Arab oil boycott. Others were rationing their customers, some doling out as little as a gallon at a time.

October's trade deficit was the worst in British history.

Foreign trade figures to be announced soon also were expected to be deeply in the red. Currency speculators pushed the pound to an all-time low against the U.S. dollar.

With inflation already high, it was considered inevitable that prices of essential goods would go still higher and that unemployment would increase. The government increased its lending rate and was expected also to increase taxes to limit credit and discourage buying.

Heath has insisted he will stand by his guns and in Whitelaw has called in the man in whose prestige as a conciliator undoubtedly is the highest in Britain to help him do it.

If Whitelaw is to succeed he will need all his talents.

Colson finds inner serenity with prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former White House political operative Charles W. Colson, who once boasted "I would walk over my own grandmother if necessary," says he has undergone an intense religious experience and "found a relationship with Christ."

Colson, 42, now a Washington lawyer, is reputed to have masterminded many of the Nixon re-election campaign "dirty tricks" and is reported to be under investigation by a Watergate grand jury.

His newly found feelings of "a great inner serenity" were printed recently in an interview in the Washington Post.

His uncharacteristic conversion has brought him into kinship—and regular prayer sessions—with Iowa Sen. Harold Hughes, a liberal Democrat who has announced he will not run for re-election and will instead become a lay religious worker.

Colson said his awareness of Christ began in March of this year, before his name was linked to any of the Watergate-related incidents. He did not elaborate on the specific revelation he said caused his conversion.

Colson said he was influenced by a friend, Boston businessman Tom Phillips, and a book by British philosopher C.S. Lewis.

The Post said it learned of Colson's new beliefs two weeks ago when he was spotted in the White House and asked what he was doing there. He said he was attending a prayer breakfast.

"Someone asked me last week whether people wouldn't say I was hiding behind God to escape from the Watergate," he was quoted as saying. "My answer to them was . . . I'll pray for them. That's all I can say.

Benson and Hietikko vows are exchanged

Miss Darlene Jane Hietikko and Robert Allen Benson were married in a candlelight ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church. Officiant was the Rev. George A. Wilson.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hietikko of Pomona was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Benson of Pomona.

A floor-length gown of organza with pearled chantilly lace was worn by the bride. Laced outlined the oval neckline, the cuffs and the A-line skirt. Her cathedral-length illusion mantilla veil was edged with matching lace and held by a Juliet cap.

A cascade arrangement of white daisies, white carnations, baby's breath and a few deep red roses was carried by the bride.

Miss Amy Lyons was maid of honor and Mrs. Robert Hietikko, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid. Miss Christine Michaels was flower girl and Mrs. Chuck Michaels handled the guest book.

Rick Benson was best man and Terry Hietikko was groomsmen. Ushers were Andy Benson and Jim Coley.

Among the special guests at the wedding and reception at the American Legion Hall were the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Van Luven, Sault Ste Marie, Mich.

After a honeymoon trip to Big Bear Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Benson will reside in Pomona.

Ready for emergencies

Be a relaxed hostess

Here comes the holidays jetting down faster than the speed of sound with all the last-minute things to do plus worrying about how to get the house in shape for the festivities.

Susann Akers, Johnson Wax consumer information specialist, says it's a good idea to start off with a little survey. What needs attention the most? The floors? If they're wood, do they need a wall-to-wall waxing or will a good buffing and some patch waxing do the job? If you don't need to do the entire floor, patch wax at entryways and where traffic will be heavy or where food and drink are likely to be spilled. The additional coat of wax in strategic areas will keep your floors from taking a beating and help protect them from spills.

Seeing spots on the wall-to-wall carpeting? It's easy to shampoo carpeting or a rug with either a liquid or spray foam rug cleaner that dries in about four hours. You'll get much better resuts if you spot-cean first, then do the entire carpet, being sure to follow directions on the label. Warning: don't do this on a damp or humid day; it will take longer to dry. And be sure to test a corner of the rug for color fastness before proceeding.

You can give any wall in your house a quick facelift with an aerosol wall washer that requires no water and little effort, and makes no mess. Just squirt onto the wall, stand back and watch the dirt foam up, then wipe with a clean damp sponge. The wall washer does a great clean-up job on painted walls, washable wallpapers, ceilings, woodwork.

Now the furniture. If you habitually use an aerosol dusting wax on your furniture, before holidays when you will be entertaining a great deal it's wise to switch to a paste wax. Apply a small amount with a clean cloth, buff well. Two or three coats of paste wax applied to coffee, end, and dining room tables, sideboards, buffets and other surfaces where food and drink are going to be set down can help protect the surface from damage. A well-waxed surface doesn't spot as easily and, should damage occur, it's easier to correct.

For a pleasant-smelling atmosphere no matter what's cooking or who's smoking, keep a couple of the new natural scented air-fresheners on hand. They come in true-to-life scents of lime, lemon and rose and are indispensible for routing out unpleasant odors and giving the atmosphere a lift.

When the inevitable holiday mishaps occur, here are suggestions for coping from the Johnson Wax consumer information specialist. To get rid of candle wax on your table top, harden the dripped wax by holding an ice cube on it ten seconds. Crumble off as much wax as possible with your fingers, then scrape gently with a dull knife or plastic cooking tool such as a nylon spatula. Rub briskly with a cloth saturated with polish and wipe dry with a clean cloth. Repeat until the mark disappears.

For alcohol spots: Try to wipe up alcohol spills as quickly as possible because it has a tendency to dissolve the finish on furniture. If the finish has been protected with wax, immediate attention may prevent a spot. If damage occurs, dip your finger in paste wax, linseed oil, silver polish — or even moistened cigar ash — and rub over the damaged area. Then rewax. This should work if the damage hasn't gone too deep.

For accidents on rugs: Liquids should be blotted up, using tissues, paper towels or clean white cloths. Blot with a light touch to prevent spreading liquid or working it into fibers. Thick or solid substances should be lifted off with a spoon or the dull edge of a knife or spatula.

TODAY'S Women

New course planned for women by Chaffey

Chaffey Community College will offer a new course, especially for women in the community, beginning Jan. 3, in the Ontario Public Library, 215 E. C St., from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, for 10 weeks. There is no tuition charge.

The course, "Exploring Alternatives for Women," is designed to help women understand their aptitudes, interests and values in an effort to help them make decisions for change in their lives. Registration will be accepted at the first class.

Maggi Wargin, the instructor, returned to school at 36, received her A.A. from Chaffey, her B.A. from Pitzer College, Claremont, and her M.S. in counseling from California State University at Los Angeles.

It is hoped that women who are considering college, work or creative volunteerism will take the class. The course is offered through the assistance of the Human Services Center at Chaffey in conjunction with the Continuing Education program, and will earn the student who takes the course four units of college credit toward an Associate in Arts degree.

NFL's Super Bowl tourney begins

By United Press International

The Minnesota Vikings and the Washington Redskins, preparing for Saturday's NFC playoff match, have spent the week looking for one thing.

The Vikings were searching for a place to practice that wasn't covered by a foot of snow and the Redskins were looking for a starting quarterback.

Both had varying degrees of success in the search Thursday.

The Vikings, who had gone from Bloomington to Tulsa, Okla. in search of a field that wasn't covered by snow only to be hit by a snowstorm, were able to practice outdoors Thursday.

And the Redskins got Billy Kilmer out of the hospital and on the field practice.

But until Saturday's 10 a.m. PST test, it'll be difficult to tell which team fared better. The game will start a weekend of four nationally televised playoff games. Oakland hosts Pittsburgh in the second Saturday game and Cincinnati is at Miami and Los Angeles is at Dallas in the two Sunday games.

On Wednesday, the snow was so bad in Tulsa that the Vikings had to practice indoors. And when one of the team buses was stopped behind stalled cars, some of the playeers got out and pushed to clear up the jam.

"Some of the drivers looked a little startled," chuckled one player. "I don't think some of them knew what was happening. Here were all these big guys appearing from nowhere and pushing their cars. But the Vikings cleared the way."

On Thursday, coach Bud Grant was able to have his team practice outdoors on Tartan turf.

By Minnesota standards, the forecast for Saturday isn't that bad. The weatherman predicts temperatures highs in the teens or low 20s. That'll be nothing like the famous "ice bowl" title game between Green Bay and Dallas in 1967.

Of course, cold during a game doesn't concern Grant and he won't let the team use heaters or wear gloves.

"Cold is a state of mind," he said. "Our job is to play football, whether it's cold or not. We're like contruction workers or telephone repairmen. They can't stop working just because of the whether. And we can't, either."

The Vikings flew to Bloomington Thursday night from Tulsa and will have a workout Friday there.

The Redskins are going to practice at Redskin Park outside Washington today before flying to Bloomington. Coach George Allen, who doesn't like distractions, is skipping a workout in Minnesota. He'd rather have his team practice at home.

Allen has to decide whether to start Billy Kilmer or Sonny Jurgensen at quarterback against the Vikings.

Kilmer was hospitalized earlier in the week with a stomach ailment while Jurgensen is hobbling on a bad knee that will need surgery at the end of the season. Kilmer got his first practice of the week in Thursday.

"Billy took nearly all the practice today and he did a good job," Allen said. "We'll see how he is tomorrow. He has been on liquids so he's bound to be a little weak.

"Right now Sonny has the edge because he's worked out all week, but I'd prefer Billy because he is sounder physically," he said.

Allen said it is possible he will activate reserve quarterback Sam Wyche but does not want to because it would weaken the Redskin specialty teams.

If Allen doesn't activate Wyche, his only healthy quarterback, and both Kilmer and Jurgensen are sidelined during the game, the Redskins will be in desperate trouble.

Mainly because of the shaky Redskin QB situation, the Vikings are favored by a touchdown.

The Oakland-Pittsburgh rivalry is starting to become one of the most bitter ones in sports. This is the fourth meeting between the two teams in the last two seasons and Pittsburgh has won the first three.

But Oakland still contends it was robbed by the referee's decision in the playoff game between the two clubs in Pittsburgh last year when Franco Harris made his celebrated deflected catch and ran for a touchdown. The Raiders insist it was an illegal play.

Feelings between the two teams didn't improve this year when Pittsburgh went out to Oakland, beat the Raiders and then charged them with dirty tricks like throwing an under inflated ball into the game and wearing grease on jerseys. A league investigation cleared the Raiders.

Then last week, Oakland caught three Pittsburgh scouts in its press box scouting the Denver game, using writers' credentials. The men were ejected and the Pro Football Writers Association has protested because the writers didn't know their names were being used.

Oakland, with the home team field edge, is listed as a fourpoint favorite.

On Sunday, Miami, which won the Super Bowl last year with a perfect 17-0 record, is a nine-point choice over Cincinnati. Dallas is listed by two over Los Angeles although the Rams won a regular season meeting 37-31 when John Hadl threw four touchdown passes to Hal Jackson.

Kind Mr. Hayes arrives

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Watch out, John McKay. Woody Hayes is going to kill you with kindness.

Hayes and his Ohio State football team arrived in Southern California's bright sunshine from the frigid Midwest Thursday and Hayes immediately began lavishing praise on his Rose Bowl coaching counterpart.

"I think it's about time someone realizes what John McKay has meant to American collegiate football," the Buckeyes' coach said at a Los Angeles Airport news conference.

"He's been the chief innovator in the last 10 years. He's outdistanced all of the other coaches and its no secret that a lot of us one way or another have tried to copy the things he does in his "I" formation.

"I think he utilizes the running of his tailback and the passing of his quarterback better than anyone else does in college football."

The 59-year-old Hayes, often bombastic in his previous Rose Bowl trips from Columbus, was smiling and affable during his news conference.

He also lauded McKay's University of Southern California players, calling Trojans' flanker Lynn Swann "the fastest man in the country."

"Last spring Paul Brown (coach of the Cincinnati Bengals) visited the West Coast and he came back and told me he'd seen this fella (Pat) Haden," recounted Hayes. "He said, 'Boy, he's about as good a college quarterback as I've ever seen' and Paul doesn't lavish praise like that."

Making his sixth trip to the Pasadena, Calif., classic in 23 years at Ohio State, Hayes will be out to end a string of four straight New Year's Day wins by the Pacific-8. Two of the defeats were suffered by his Buckeyes, including a 42-17 thrashing at the hands of USC last season.

The news conference which had gone smoothly ended suddenly when a radio newsman asked Hayes about shoving a camera into the face of Los Angeles Times' photographer Art Rogers before last season's Rose Bowl game.

"Okay, now we've been around long enough," said Hayes, standing up. "We've given you a good interview and we're not going to rehash that one now. We're here to play football."

The Buckeyes begin the Southern California phase of their workouts today, practicing at Citrus College at Azusa, Calif. They're scheduled to visit Disneyland Saturday.

Morningside, Verbum Dei eye title

Ganesha dumps Saints

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B staff Writer

WALNUT — A total of nine points determined the outcome of three basketball games Thursday night in the semifinal round of the San Dimas Tournament of Champions at Mt. San Antonio College.

In the only lop-sided decision of the day, Ganesha defeated San Dimas easily 58-38 while Covina edged Murphy 60-57 in the other consolation contest. In the championship bracket, Verbum Dei edged Pasadena, 56-54, with Morningside holding off a fourth quarter St. Elizabeth comeback to edge the Mustangs, 69-65.

Tonight's title contest will be a rematch of last year's finals in which Morningside beat Verbum Dei, 62-53.

St. Elizabeth may have lost two talented trees from last year's team, in All-American Wolfe Perry and supersoph Northern Shavers, who transferred to Oakland Tech, but the Mustangs still have a Louis in their Woods.

In the most exciting contest of the day, St. Elizabeth's Louis Woods poured in 37 points and broke a tourney record for the most field goals in a game despite the Mustangs' four-point loss.

The 6-foot-4½ senior center connected on 16 of 20 shot attempts to surpass the old mark of 15 field goals by Cliff Pondexter of San Joaquin Memorial last year.

Woods canned 12 of his teams' 14 first quarter points and then sat out the entire second quarter with three personal fouls.

That first stanza looked like a grudge match between Woods and Morningsides' 6-foot-7 center Mike Santos, who retaliated with 11 points. In the second stanza with Woods on the bench Santos and the Monarchs took advantage by taking a 36-28 lead to the lockers at intermission.

Woods started and tallied 13 points in the third eight-minute segment. Oscar Williams picked up the offensive for the Monarchs with 10 points, hitting on five of five attempts.

Woods again ended the stanza on the bench after being charged with his fourth personal foul. And again the Monarchs took advantage outscoring the 'Stangs 20-18 to take a 56-46 lead into the final quarter.

Woods immediately gave St. Elizabeth the momentum and concluded the night by scoring 12 points and drawing his team to a 66-63 deficit when he went to the bench with his fifth foul and 1:05 to play.

Santos and Morningside again took advantage of Woods' departure with the big center icing the game on a three-point play.

Santos finished the night with 19 points and seven rebounds to run his two-game totals to 42 points and 12 caroms. Woods' two-game stats list him with 56 points, high for the tourney, and 20 rebounds. Woods has made good 23 of 33 shot attempts.

Dave Greenwood scored 21 points, connecting on nine of 17 attempts, grabbed 15 rebounds and blocked seven shots to lead Verbum Dei to its 56-54 win over Pasadena.

Greenwood missed first round action due to a sprained ankle suffered Friday in a game with Blair.

Pasadena's Glenn McGiven scored on a field goal with 1:57 left in the game to tie the contest at 51-51.

Greenwood then extended Verbum Dei's lead to 56-52 with 50 seconds remaining before Pasadena's Mike Cooper added a two-pointer with 34 seconds to play.

Guard Michael Grey, who scored 26 points in Pasadena's 78-75 win over Ganesha Monday night and had already scored 12 points in this game, drove the length of the court in a final attempt to tie the game and got off a desperation shot, at the buzzer, that rolled off the buckle of the hoop.

Broderick Hunter and Cleve Porter combined for 38 points to lead Ganesha to its 20-point win over San Dimas.

Hunter tallied 22 points and hauled down 10 rebounds while Porter accounted for 16 points, including eight in the fourth quarter, and grabbed 10 caroms. Greg McCrary led San Dimas with 17 points and five rebounds.

Saint coach Bob Espinoza said prior to the tipoff, "We'll have to slow down their offense to even stay close." And stay close they did . . . for two quarters.

San Dimas trailed 18-17 at halftime before the Giants outscored the Saints 40-21 in the second half to blow the game wide open.

Rams plan ground war in Dallas

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams wound up heavy practice Thursday for their playoff game against the Dallas Cowboys, concentrating on offensive formations.

The Rams led the National football League in total offense, averaging 350.4 yards per game as they progressed to a 12-2 record to win the NFC West.

Their rushing average was 208.9 per game and their passing accounted for 141.5 so the stress is on the ground game.

Coach Chuck Knox has relied mainly on Lawrence McCutcheon (1,097 yards) and Jim Bertelsen (854 yards) but he has good bench strength in Tony Baker, Larry Smith, Lester Josephson and Rob Scribner.

"McCutcheon is obviously our best runner but he is also a good blocker," says Knox. "Bertelsen does some excellent blocking for McCutcheon."

Knox makes no secret of the Ram running tactics, the key being option blocking and option running.

"Our ball carrier," he expalins, "Is not committed to one hole. He watches the blocker ahead of him. If the blocker takes his man inside, the runner goes outside. If the blocker takes his man outside, the runner goes inside."

Lakers trying to keep pace

INGLEWOOD , Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers, who upset the Milwaukee Bucks 109-107 on Jim Price's shot at the buzzer Tuesday night, try to make it two in a row tonight when they face the Philadelphia 76ers.

Winners of only two of 10 games before beating the Bucks, the Lakers will be trying to keep pace with the Golden State Warriors in the Pacific Division. The Warriors lead the division by only .012.

Philadelphia captured only nine games last season but already have 11 wins this year.

Barcena KOs Alvarez

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Flavio Barcena, 117 ¾, Los Angeles, knocked out Mexico City's Chango Alvarez, 114, at 2:43 of the ninth round in a scheduled 10-rounder at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

Cal Poly faces rugged weekend

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly basketball coach Don Hogan will soon learn how well his team can bounce back.

The Broncos, just off a bruising battle with Long Beach State Wednesday night, is busy this weekend. North Dakota State is escaping the winter blizzards by visiting Kellogg Gym tonight. Poly then gets up early Saturday to try its luck at Nevada Las Vegas Saturday night.

Tipoff for both games is 8 p.m.

Hogan gave his team a day of rest Thursday, figuring relaxation is the biggest thing his team needs.

"It was a rough game Wednesday and we have been working the team hard recently," Hogan said.

While disappointed about Wednesday's 79-54 loss to Long Beach, Hogan is encouraged by the good showing his undermanned team displayed against the 49ers' might and power.

"We're starting to respond as a team," Hogan said. "We're getting closer to our goals and we should be there by the first of the year if we keep progressing."

Poly enters tonight's game with a 2-4 record with three of the losses being to major college opponents. North Dakota State is 3-2 while Nevada Las Vegas has won six in a row after the stunning opening loss to Texas Tech.

Forward Horace Aubrey, the transfer from Compton College, has taken over the scoring lead with his 15-points at Long Beach. He is now averaging 14.7 points a game.

Center Lee Roy Williams, who was plaqued by foul problems Wednesday, fell off his season pace against Long Beach with four points and eight rebounds. He is now averaging 13.8 and 14.3 respectively.

The other probable Poly starters are Malcolm Kennedy, John Carrillo and Alphonso Adair but it's hard to tell with the rotating system Hogan has been using.

Coach Marv Skaar's North Dakota State team is enjoying the warm Southern California climate after escaping the below zero temperatures in Fargo Tuesday morning.

The Bison have lost to two major colleges in Wisconsin and San Jose State. Skaar says his team shoots (49 per cent) and rebounds well but is lacking in experience and quickness. He starts one junior, three sophomores and a freshman.

Forward Mark Gibbons (6-5) is North Dakota State's top scorer with a 18.2 average. Also averaging in double figures are guard Mark Emerson (6-3) at 17.8, forward Steve Saladino (6-6) at 14.0 and guard Randy Trine (6-3) at 11.8. Freshman center Warner Huss (6-7) is the fifth starter.

Poly will have a reunion with former coach Dan Ayala Saturday night when the Broncos play the Rebels at the sold-out Las Vegas Convention Center.

Ayala took the job as Jerry Tarkanian's top assistant at UNLV when Tarkanian left Long Beach for the Nevada sunshine.

"I am looking forward to seeing all my Cal Poly friends," Ayala said about Saturday's visit.

After the stunning loss to Texas Tech, Tarkanian's talented team has recorded wins over Stetson, Colorado, Oklahoma City, Oregon State, Washington State and UC Santa Barbara.

As expected, Tarkanian has been busy recruiting in collecting All-Americans from various parts of the country. Two of the Rebels' big guns — senior forward Bob Florence (6-4) and freshman center Lewis Brown (6-9) of Verbum Dei — have been out of action this week because of ankle injuries.

Tarkanian will probably start a lineup of: forwards Eddie Owens (6-6) and Jackie Robinson (6-5) of Morningside High, center Jimmie Baker (6-9) plus guards Ricky Sobers (6-3) and Pat Bolster (6-1).

There is also a lot of talent on the bench. George Schader, a 6-6 freshman from Covina, is averaging 18.2 points and 13.9 rebounds per game for the junior varsity. He also sees some varsity action.

UCLA goes for 80th in row

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Coming off a brilliant 84-66 victory over North Carolina State in last weekend's college basketball dream game, UCLA's Bruins go after their 80th straight victory tonight against Ohio University.

UCLA is also at home at Pauley Pavilion Saturday night, facing St. Bonaventure.

"My philosophy is that we don't try to rise to heights occasionally because of certain opponents," said Bruins' coach John Wooden, "but rather we attempt to maintain our pride through our own play regardless of the supposed strength of any opponent."

That means of course, Wooden doesn't expect any letdown following his club's prestigious victory at St. Louis last Saturday.

Bill Walton, college basketball's Player of the Year as a sophomore and junior, leads the Bruins in scoring with a 19.3 points per game average and 17.5 rebounds per game in his team's first four games this season.

Ohio University has a 2-2 record while St. Bonaventure is unbeaten in six starts.

Rowland was ripped by Troy 93-60 in the opener of the Troy Tourney, while Western Christian posted a 60-50 win over La Sierra in consolation play of the Valley Christian Tourney..

The Vikings showed flashed of last years' form in downing Reno, a team rated as the number-two hoop power in Nevada. Delbert McDonald paced a balanced Viking attack with his 17 points, while Gary Carpenter added 15.

Center Art Hieckley of Reno led all scorers with 35 points in a losing effort.

Pancho Thomas tied the contest at 76-all and sent it into overtime with two free throws as time ran out on regulation play. Jerry Loftis' free throw with six seconds left clinched the win for Garey.

Garey will ccontinue play in the Las Vegas-based tourney tonight against Bullard of Fresno in a 7 p.m. contest.

Norwalk triple-teamed star forward Kirk Christ and held him to 14 points, but the Mustangs got balanced scoring from their other four starters to win 62-49. Lance Parrish led all scorers with 18 points, and Marcello Maurin added 16 for the Mustangs.

Walnut will continue play in the championship bracket of the Laguna Beach Tourney, facing University High at 9 p.m. tonight.

Ontario did not fare as well in the tourney, being edged by Laguna Beach 56-54. Jim Donaldson led all scorers with 17 points as the Jaguars made a run at the host school before falling short in the final period.

Ontario was slated play Sierra Vista at 4:30 p.m. in the Fifth Place semifinals.

Troy's superstar center Mark Wolfmeyer went to work against Rowland and dumped in 47 of his team's 93 points as Troy coasted past the Radiers 93-60. Wolfmeyer, a 6-1 center, connected on 20 of 31 shots from the floor as he upped an already-impressive 44.2 scoring average on the season.

Only high spot for Rowland was guard Robert Malave, who continued to play well and tossed in 22 points in the lsoing effort.

Western Christian got 23 points from Bruce Sider in beating a stubborn La Sierra five by a 60-50 count in the Valley Christian Tourney.

Western Christian will play Chaminade tonight at 5:00 p.m. for the consolation title.

Damien will also be in tourney action tonight as they face Notre Dame in the championship semifinals of the Pius X Tourney, in a gamee slate for an 8 p.m. tipoff.

Charlie Finley is gloating; Dick Williams job hunting

BOSTON (UPI) — Dick Williams can't manage in New York and won't manage in Oakland.

And unless the clouds part and a miracle saves him, Dick Williams has managed himself out of baseball for two years.

Williams officially became tied to his Oakland Athletic contract—and to A's owner Charlie Finley—Thursday when American League President Joe Cronin put the kabosh on the New York Yankees' signing of Williams while he still was under contract to the Athletics.

"I still hope to be the manager of the Yankees," said Williams, who guided Oakland to two straight world championships. "I definitely will not be going back to manage Oakland. I think I made that clear on several occasions."

The undisputed winner in the case was Finley and he gloated in his triumph.

"I immediately called Joe Cronin in Boston after hearing the decision and told him I was proud of him and so happy for baseball," said Finley, who somehow always gets his way in the end. "There's no question in my mind but that he made the right decision. I think the decision he reached was so obvious."

The decision was less obvious to Cronin who, at 67, had to make his "most complex decision in 15 years as league president." Cronin, eagerly awaiting a Jan. 1 retirement, heard more than 11 hours of testimony over two days on the Williams case and a similar matter involving Ralph Houk's jump from the Yankees to the Detroit Tigers before making separate rulings.

Cronin ruled in favor of Houk, reasoning that he had resigned and his resignation had been accepted by the Yankees before he signed with Detroit.

The outgoing league president said he was glad the problems arose because they showed "that some baseball rule must be applied to cover managers' contracts. There is no such rule now."

If Williams was left jobless by the ruling, the Yankee management was left speechless. New York came out of the hearings 0-2--losing one manager and unable to hire the other.

Yankee President Gabe Paul couched the team's disappointment in soft terms but it is known that privately New York officials feel "we was robbed."

There still is a chance Williams can manage the Yankees next season, but only if Finley is allowed to grab the heart from New York's farm system.

Finley reportedly would cut the legal ties that bind Williams for outfielder-first baseman Otto Veloz and pitcher Scott McGregor—the cream of the Yankees' minor league crop.

But, in Finleyesque fashion, the A's owner said after the decision that he may not want to give Williams away "for any compensation" now that he holds all the cards.

"It's true that I had said I would before but as far as my thoughts on that subject now, I have no comment," Finley said from his LaPorte, Ind.,home.

So, unless the Yankees can file suit and win that suit, Dick Williams is a clay pigeon in Charlie Finley's legal cage.

Offensive show in the Fiesta Bowl

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) — Arizona State sends its awesome offensive machine against Pittsburgh and its freshman wonder named Tony Dorsett in the third annual Fiesta Bowl Friday night.

The tenth-ranked Sun Devils led the nation in total offense, averaging 565.5 yards, and scoring, 44.6 points, with a veteran backfield in which each man got more than 1,000 yards in his specialty this season. Their only loss in 11 games was to Utah.

The 19-year-old Dorsett ran for 1,586 yards, averaging 5.4 yards a carry, as he propelled Pitt to its first winning season in 10 years, first bowl appearance in 17 years and to a 6-4-1 record after a disastrous 1-9 mark in 1972. The Pitt comeback earned Johnny Majors the Football Writers of America Coach of the Year honor.

The game will be a battle between a predominantly senior Arizona State team and a Pitt squad that has only four senior starters on offense and three on defense.

Coach Frank Kush admits Arizona State practices have been more low key than usual, but says, "We have a lot of seniors and they should know what they're doing." He is not taking the game lightly, however, saying it could bring Arizona State, the Western Athletic Conference co-champion, prestige in the East and have a great effect on its program in the future.

Majors is interested in slowing down "as much as possible" the fleet Devil runners, led by Seniors Woody Green and Ben Malone, each of whom rushed for more than 1,000 yards this year.

"Green and Malone are two of the best backs we've faced," said Majors. "And then there's the versatility of the Arizona State offense. Danny White is one of the best quarterbacks in the country."

White, the starting quarterback in the previous two Fiesta bowls, passed for 2,609 yards this year and finished second in the nation in total offense with 2,862 yards. He and Green joined Dorsett in the second team All-America backfield. Arizona State junior Morris Owens caught 50 passes for 1,076 yards.

Dorsett and junior quarterback Bill Daniels were responsible for 3,196 of Pitt's 3,805 yards total offense, a school record. Fullback Dave Janasek and flanker Bruce Murphy, both juniors, join them in the backfield.

U.S. golfers lead Japan

ONTARIO — The United States jumped out to a 15½-4½ lead over Japan in the first international good-will match Thursday at Ontario National Golf Club.

In the opening 20 best ball matches, the Americans won 14, tied 3 and lost 3.

Forty golfers from 17 California colleges are competing in this 54-hole match against a like number of Japanese students, who are representing 16 universities.

Eighty points will be at stake in today's final two rounds with a stroke scoring system in effect for the 40 individual matches. The top American players, led by U.S. Amateur champion Craig Stadler and All-America Mike Haney, both of USC, crushed the top Japanese teams.

Florida State coach resigns

TALLAHASSEE, Florida (UPI) — Florida State head football coach Larry B. Jones, whose Seminoles lost all 11 games this year, has resigned Friday, saying that he is quitting is "in the best interests of the university and the intercollegiate athletics program."

Jones,who is vacationing at an undisclosed Texas location, advised FSU President Stanley Marshall of his decision by telegram.

"It is with regret that I submit my resignation as head football coach at Florida State University," said Jones. "I hope my action brings back together Florida State University's fans and alumni."

Irvine JVs rally to beat Citrus, 69-63

AZUSA — Citrus College played a good game against UC Irvine's junior varsity Thursday night but eventually succumbed to the more experienced visitors, 69-63.

The game was tied 61-61 with 3:25 left, but the Anteaters scored six straight points over a two-minute period with their deliberate style of play and that broke it open.

UCI, with only four underclassmen, outrebounded the Owls 43-29. The Anteaters now are 6-1.

Roy Hickman of Citrus was the game's leading scorer with 26 points. Center Tim Conklin had 11 points and 11 rebounds.

The Owls, now 3-7 for the season, meet L.A. Trade Tech next Thursday at 5:30 p.m. in the opening round of the College of the Desert Tournament at Palm Desert.

Claremont, Damien win in soccer tournaments

Claremont and Damien continued their winning ways on the soccer field Thursday, as the Wolfpack posted two wins in the South Torrance Tourney while the Spartans remained undefeated in the Alemany Tourney and on the season.

Claremont got by Agoura easily 4-0 in their morning contest, but got a real struggle from South Torrance, which is the host team in the tourney.

South Torrance and the 'Pack tied 0-0 at the end of regulation time but Claremont connected on four straight penalty goals, while South Torrance clicked on only two of four attempts, thus the Pack recorded a 1-0 win, remaining undefeated in the tournament.

Claremont will play Mitty of San Jose this morning in the championship semifinals, and will play an afternoon game as well. The 'Pack is now 8-1 on the year.

Damien posted its' second victory in two days in the Alemany Tourney, dumping Monrovia, 4-0. Bart Sullivan booted two goals, while Rick Davis and Tom Fahey added a goal apiece.

The Spartans will meet Montebello tonight at 8 p.m. as they shoot for the tourney crown. Damien now holds a 5-0 season mark.

Giants play Covina for consolation

Covina withstood a fourth quarter scare by Murphy to nip the Nobles by three points.

The Colts were enjoying a 57-47 lead with 2:25 left in the game when coach Doc Sooter pulled the starters to give the reserves some playing time.

The move nearly backfired as Murphy, due to a full-court press, forced three straight turnovers and pulled to a 59-55 deficit.

Noble leading scorer Ollie Matson, who tallied 23 points, scored and was fouled with nine seconds to play to make it 59-57.

Matson's free throw went awry with Covina's Bob Waldusky, who had 17 points, grabbing the rebound and drawing a foul. He sank the charity to ice the game and put a halt to the scare.

Free throws hurt Bonita in setback

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
P-B Correspondent

LA VERNE — Coach Remi Tray of the Bonita Bearcats is still trying to find someone in the La Verne area who is over 6-2. If he could, the Bearcats might have been able to beat the Temple City Rams, Thursday night, but Bonita came up short 64-59.

Coach Tremblay also wishes the team could shoot free throws. Bonita hit on 11-21 free throws, while the Tams were hitting a sizzling 20-27 from the charity stripe.

Alan Aylor, Temple City forward, hit 13 baskets in 16 attempts and 6-7 from the free throw line to lead all scorers with 32 points. Harold (H.P.) Drake had 26, but had a hard time at the foul line.

The game for the first three quarters was a see-saw, back-and-forth battle with the biggest margin seven points. Late in the third period the Bearcats led 42-35, but Bonita began to get in foul trouble, and a team shoudln't do that against a team shotting 75 per cent from the foul line.

In the second half, 15 of the Ram's 35 points were free throws. Aylor being the only player to get more than one field goal.

Drake had his usual consistent game scoring eight in the first period and six in the other three. Scott Johnson was the only other Bearcat to hit double figures. Johnson ended up with 19 points. He and Drake shot all of Bonitas free throws.

For the season, in the six Bearcat games, Drake has scored 169 pts. ofr a 28.1 average. Johnson is averaging approximately 15 pts.

Next week, both these teams have a chance to meet each other again in the Chino Tournament. Bonita will open the Tournament against Upland at 9:30, Wednesday morning the 26th.

The following game will find the Rams facing off against the Pacifica Pirates at 11 p.m. If both teams win or both lose, they will face each other.

Meets UCR for Cal Baptist title

Pomona plays like Sagehawks

RIVERSIDE — Playing more like Sagehawks than Sagehens, Pomona-Pitzer has a shot at the Cal Baptist Tournament title!

Les Nagler's young team, with freshman center Geoff Northrop scoring 25 points, defeated host Cal Baptist 63-60 Thursday night to put them into tonight's championship game against UC Riverside at 8 p.m.

UCR walloped Lubbock Christian 115-82 in spite of a 39-point output by Lubbock's Russ Russwurm.

La Verne edged Cal State Dominguez 73-69 in overtime. The Leopards were scheduled to play Fresno Pacific for the Consolation title at 4 p.m.

Bill Rockwood and Chuck Davis scored 51 points between them, 28 for Rockwood, who was the game's leading scorer, and 23 for Davis.

The wild-shooting CSD team put the ball up 105 times but hit on only 33. La Verne connected on 25 of 62 shots.

In the P-P-Cal Baptist game, Nagler's team successfully carried out his game plan which was not to allow themselves to get into a running game with the Lancers.

They did that by slowing down play and taking only good percentage shots.

The Sagehens took a 16-11 lead but were outscored 6-1 to knot the count at 17-17 in the first half. The Lancers held a two or three-point lead most of the rest of the half and led by two, 33-31 at intermission.

Cal Baptist opened up a second half lead of 47-41, but the Sagehens caught up at 49-49. The game stayed almost even to 55-55 when the 'hens outscored the Lancers 4-1 on baskets by Northrop and Dick Arbenz to make it 59-56.

Nagler's crew widened it to 62-56 then was guilty of two straight turnovers. Cal Baptist capitalized on both to pull within two, 62-60 with five seconds left.

Nagler's hair almost turned white on the spot when the 'Hens threw the ball away attempting to inbound it. But the Lancers did exactly the same thing and the Pomonans got the ball back.

Northrop was fouled with one second left and sank a free throw to clinch the victory. He would have made two free throws except for a lane violation call against Bob Hoehn which nullified the second.

For the game, Pomona-Pitzer hit on 26 of 57 field goal attempts and 11 of 16 free throws. Cal Baptist connected on 27 of 61 field goal attempts and six of 10 free throws.

The Lancers outrebounded the Sagehens 40-34. Doug Howard of Cal Baptist was game high rebounder with 12. Arbenz led the Pomonans with eight.

La Verne held a 35-30 halftime lead in its game with CSD but was outscored in the second half 37-32 to end regulation play tied at 67-67.

CSD held a 67-62 lead with two minutes left. In spite of the fact their coach told them to hold the ball and stall, they kept shooting and, fortunately for the Leos, missing.

Davis came through with two baskets and a free throw to tie the game and send it into overtime.

The Leos won the game on free throws. CSD committed 24 fouls and the Leopards sank 23 free throws in 33 attempts while CSD made only three of seven.

Center Allen Taylor set a new tournament record by grabbing 26 rebounds. Rockwood, back at forward had 18 for the Leos.

USC wants recognition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tenth-ranked University of Southern California, which has won four of five starts this season, hosts the Houston Cougars at the Sports Arena tonight.

Bob Boyd's Trojans, who have won three straight, are at home against Ohio University Saturday night.

Boyd is attempting to win all the games he can in order to draw fans.

''Hardly anyone knows Louis Dunbar is in town this weekend,'' the USC coach lamented. "The fact we are in the top 10 on the UPI poll, and I'm sure the coaches think are knowledgeable, is good.

"But we don't get enough recognition for it. There is a distortion in this town because of UCLA."

Dunbar is Houston's gifted 6-9 forward-guard. His picture is on the cover of the NCAA's Official Basketball Guide this season.

Chino varsity beats alumni

CHINO — Youth bested experience Thursday night at the Chino High gym, as the Cowboy varsity squad edged the Chino Alumni, 56-54.

Mark Milton dumped in 16 points for the varsity, Tim Smith added 14, and Bob Hairston posted 12 to lead a balanced attack.

Former star guard Joe Murillo popped in 12 points to top alumni scoring.

The Cowboys will resume their regular schedule next Wednesday in the Chino Tourney.

Four Rams make All-NFC team

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Minnesota Vikings and the Dallas Cowboys, who are favored to meet in the NFC title game on Dec. 30 for a Super Bowl berth, Thursday each placed five players on the United Press International 1973 National Football Conference All-Star team.

The Vikings are favored by a touchdown over the Washington Redskins on Saturday and the Cowboys are a two-point choice over the Los Angeles Rams on Sunday. If they both win, they'll meet in Dallas on Dec. 30 for the NFC crown.

Los Angeles had four players named to the squad while the Redskins were one of three teams to get three players on the team.

The team was selected by a nationwide panel of 39 sportswriters—three from each of the 13 conference cities.

Minnesota posted a 12-2 record this season while winning the Central Division crown while Dallas had a 10-4 mark while taking the Eastern Division title and making the playoff for a record eighth straight season.

The five Vikings on the team are wide receiver John Gilliam, tackle Ron Yary, end Carl Eller, tackle Alan Page and safety Paul Krause while the five Cowboys are tackle Rayfield Wright, guard John Niland, running back Calvin Hill, middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan and cornerback Mel Renfro.

The other 12 players on the squad are wide receiver Hal Jackson of Los Angeles, tight end Ted Kwalick of San Francisco, guard Tom Mack of Los Angeles, center Forrest Blue of San Francisco, quarte back John Hadl of Los Angeles, running back John Brockington of Green Bay, defensive end Claude Humphrey of Atlanta, defensive tackle Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles, outside linebackers Chris Hanburger of Washington and Dave Wilcox of San Francisco, cornerback Ken Ellis of Green Bay and safety Ken Houston of Washington.

Hadl and Houston made the NFC all-star squad in their first year in the conference. Hadl joined San Diego in 1962 and Ken Houston started his pro career with the Houston Oilers in 1967. But Hadl was traded to Los Angeles and Houston was traded to Washington this season and both players became instant successes with their new clubs.

Hadl's quarterbacking played a major role in Los Angeles' surge to a 12-2 record and the Western Division crown after the Rams failed to make the playoffs for the previous three seasons. Houston strengthened the Redskin secondary and was more than worth the five players coach George Allen gave up to get him.

Holiday soccer tourney set

CLAREMONT — The Claremont Kings of the Pacific Soccer League will host a Holiday Invitational Youth Soccer Tournament for Division Three teams (ages 13 and 14) Saturday at El Roble School in Claremont.

The tourney, sponsored by Peterson's Pharmacy, will include the Culver City Stars, Celtic Rangers, Claremont Stars and the host Kings. Round-robin play will begin at 9 a.m. with a match between the two Claremont teams and will continue through the afternoon.

FUN AT THE FARM — Billy Joe Royal, popular singing star, will perform in the John Wayne Theater of Knott's Berry Farm next Friday and Saturday nights. Davy Jones will appear there Wednesday and Thursday nights, and the Hager Brothers Dec. 30 and 31. Rick Nelson and the Stone Canyon Band will play at the Berry Farm in Buena Park Jan. 1 through 6.

On the rock beat

By BRUCE MEYER

The Doobie Brothers used to be just another comfortably unknown rock band. But now, with three hit singles and two LPs under their collective belt, they're being mobbed after shows and other such foolishness that goes with being stars. The Doobies reportedly had to excape one post-show crowd in a police speedboat. On the other hand, the band has a few markets left to crack: I'm told that a radio station in Idaho had them on the playlist as the Booble Brothers.

★ ★ ★

London Records, in an important new step backwards, is rereleasing the original Zombies album, cleverly titled "The Zombies." It is a fine album, though — and the London people have had enough taste not to change the cover or remix the music.

★ ★ ★

Probably the best thing Randy Bachman ever did was to leave the Guess Who and form a new band, called Bachman-Turner Overdrive. Because while the Guess Who has produced one truly great single ("American Woman," which Bachman helped write) and 10 ho-hum albums, BTO's first album on Mercury is an absolute knockout.

★ ★ ★

Jim Seals and Dash Crofts are recording "Summer Breeze" again — but this time in Japanese. That ought to help the balance of payment . . . and while we're discussing the Orient, take note all you Kung Fu movie freaks: Warners has released the sound track to one of the late Bruce Lee's classic demolition derbies, "Enter the Dragon."

Theater group cancels show

LOS ANGELES — The UCLA Committee on Fine Arts Productions announced this week that Al Carmines' "The Making of Americans," scheduled for a performance on campus Jan. 6, has been canceled because of a conflict with the Carmines theater group's European tour.

Scandinavian Theater: Studio II will present "Possession" and "Huh" in Schoenberg Hall at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 19.

Formed in 1969 within the framework of the Inter-Scandinavian Theater Laboratory for the Art of the Actor in Holstebro, Denmark, Studio II is a theater workshop directed by Yves Lebreton. It engages in research and teaching, as well as being a performing group.

Lebreton views Studio II's mission as that of creating an "abstract theater." "The language of the body," he explains, "becomes the essence and the regulator. In effect, then the body of the actor is the dynamic center around which all other elements—voice, costumes and objects, light, scenery—are developed progressively and finally take their form."

Illustrative of this theatrical process is "Posession." Credits for this single-act play include Lebreton as producer and also as actor, along with actor Gilles Maheu. Bernardette Arsac is assistant.

Wall Street Briefs

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI) — National Utilities & Industries, Inc., announced Monday it will double gas and oil exploration activities next year as a result of a Federal Power Commission decision allowing one of the company's subsidiaries in New Jersey to receive gas from its Texas operations.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Shenandoah Oil Corp. has brought in a gas and oil discovery well 35 miles northwest of Oklahoma City that flowed at 280 barrels of 43.5 degree gravity oil plus about two million cubic feet of gas daily from depths of around 9,600 feet.

Solons move to rebuild 7 bankrupt rails

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is putting the finishing touches on legislation today to begin the slow and expensive process of rebuilding the seven bankrupt railroads of the Northeast and Midwest into one healthy rail system.

The House passed the compromise $2 billion bill Thursday 284 to 59, and swift Senate approval was expected, sending the bill to President Nixon.

The new railroad would be drawn up over a 20-month planning period, and those lines not included—redundant lines or low-density branch lines— would be abandoned unless states and local communities agreed to pay 30 per cent of the losses.

Although the bill is primarily intended to beef up freight service between New England and the Mississippi River, it also mandates a speedup of passenger train in the densely travelled Northeast Corridor between Boston, New York and Washington.

The bill stops short of outright government ownership of the railroads. They would be purchased from their present creditors largely with a stock in a new federally created corporation.

These "stockholders" would have no control over the new railroad until it began making a profit and paid off its federal debt, when it would return to private ownership and operation.

Two new corporations would be created: one to plan the new system and to funnel federal loan money into it, and the other to actually run the railroad.

The United States Railroad Association (USRA) would be granted $1.5 billion in federal loan guarantees, to be used mainly to rebuild and upgrade rail lines. USRA would be the main planning agency although the Transportation Department and the Interstate Commerce Commission would have an input. The Consolidated Railway Corporation would run the railroad.

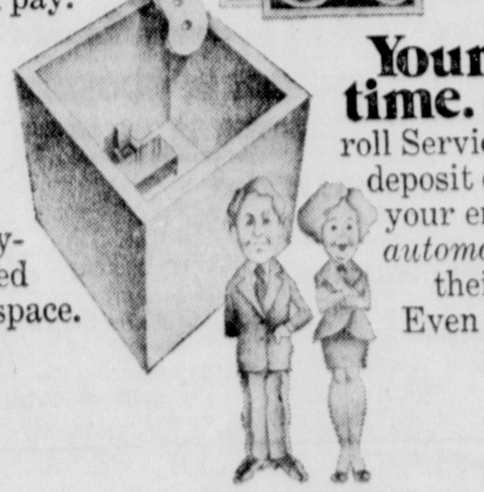
Our Customer Payroll Service
SAVES

Your time. Security Pacific Bank's Customer Payroll Service cuts down on the time your people give to payroll procedures, including preparing, signing and storing checks. It even includes complete reports for tax purposes, with regular and special types of pay.

Your money. Since our Service reduces the time your people devote to payroll activities, it frees them for more productive work. And the same goes for your computers.

Your office space. If you take advantage of our Service, your entire payroll operation can be handled in a fraction of its former space.



Your employee's time. Our Customer Payroll Service has an automatic deposit option which means your employee's net pay is automatically deposited in their checking account. Even if they're out of the office or on vacation on payday.

If you have twenty-five or more employees, we can't imagine why you wouldn't take advantage of our Customer Payroll Service, especially with the new year coming up. Let us enroll you on our Service now and save half the conversion costs. (At the beginning of the year, there is no tax history to convert, and no employee data required on terminated employees.) So get in touch with any one of our more than 460 branches. We promise you a real saving experience.

Quiet defense by this pair

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If you don't think that Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela of Toronto are one of the best pairs in the world just look at this quiet defense. They were sort of fixed on the bidding.

North's pass of one diamond redoubled was for business. Eric sitting East didn't care. He would have made an overtrick if allowed to play there, but South ran to one heart. Sammy doubled and opened the four of diamonds.

South rose with dummy's ace; discarded a club and led a spade. Eric won with the ace and led a trump whereupon Sammy cashed the ace and queen and led a third trump.

South won in his own hand and led a club toward dummy's queen and right here is where Sammy separated the men from the boys. A lesser player would have let the club go whereupon there would have been no way left to beat one heart, but Sammy hopped up with his king and thought for a while.

Then he led the only card that would enable him to beat the contract. He played his low trump.

South's only choice was to cash his good spades and concede the last three tricks for down one.

For Saturday, Dec. 22

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be a very pleasant person to be around today. Others will seek you out. You're at your best in a large group.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A good day to hobnob with the big shots. Those in a position to do you some good will look favorably upon your requests.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be very fortunate in partnership matters or with anyone you deal with on a one-to-one basis. Conditions are ideal for agreements.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're in a good cycle to receive rewards or bonuses for work or services for others. It could be more than you expect.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Let go. Have a ball the next few days. You're entitled to it. Others will agree. Your social calendar will be a busy one.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Center your activites around home and family today and tomorrow. You'll enjoy more pleasure with them than in being elsewhere.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The urge to visit loved ones will be very strong at this time, particularly if they are not too distant. Warm up the car.

SCROPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) At this time you'll have a very generous attitude toward your family and they for you. Each will try to do something big to please the other.

SAGGITARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today should be one of those lucky days where nice things happen to you just because others think you deserve it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may not have to wait much longer for something you've wanted very strongly. Your aspects indicate fulfillment of wishes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone you've not known too long is going to be very lucky for you. You share a common interest and ideal. Good will come from this relationship.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Pursue your goals vigorously at this time. What you desire can now be achieved. Be optimistic. Your attitude is important.

Your Birthday
Dec. 22

This should be one of your better years materially. You will be getting some breaks just when you need them. It's a good year to build and a good year to build and save.

Some areas of forest to be closed

PASADENA — Sections of the Angeles National Forest officially will be off limits to off-road vehicle traffic Jan. 1, according to Forest Supervisor William T. Dresser.

Purpose of the vehicle control plan is to minimize damages to natural resources, protect public safety and reduce conflicts among users of public lands, Dresser said.

Dresser said that one-third of the 690,000-acre forest will be open to cross-country travel by off-road vehicles, and in other areas use will be restricted to designated roads and vehicles.

Signs will mark areas open to forest users.

Restriction policies will be strictly enforced, Dresser said.

Pets subject of story in supplement

Writer Judith Schmidt reminds readers in Sunday's Family Weekly in the Progress-Bulletin, that many thousands of American households will welcome the gift of an animal, a pet to be loved, enjoyed and cared for.

And, she explains, there are nearly 65 million cats and dogs that have no homes.

Her article is entitled, "A Christmas Call to Conscience: Do You Hear the Animals Crying?"

The subject of this week's "People Quiz" is "What's True Friendship?"

Writer John E. Gibson deals with the positive emotions that contribute to harmonious human relationships.

Actor George C. Scott is the subject of the "Star Chat" interview. "I think I'm as happy as one can expect to be," Scott says. "Middle age has a lot to do with a man's disposition. He becomes less self-destructive. He mellows."

From 1895 to 1897, Theodore Roosevelt was police commissioner of New York City.

FAMILY WEEKLY—Dec. 23

"People Quiz":

"These words no Shakespeare wrote, These words no Byron penned, No poet classical, with fancy free; It is an honest heart speaks to a precious friend, And yet it sounds like purest poetry."

Heinrich Conried,
"Interpolated Song"

What's True Friendship?

TRUE OR FALSE?: We tend to pick friends who see us not as we are, but as we would like to be.

In this week's True-False Quiz, Family Weekly contributor John E. Gibson deals with the positive emotions that contribute to harmonious human relationships. One of the most precious conditions of man's experience, true friendship is dependent upon a variety of psychological factors and sociological influences that have been studied and evaluated by scientists. Match your awareness and knowledge of the real basis for mutual esteem and warm attachments against the experts' conclusions in "Do You Know the Inner Nature of Friendship?"

The doctor comments

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In a recent article you said that huge doses of vitamins, including the water soluble type we ordinarily consider safe, can be harmful. Would you please cite the facts you relied upon when you made that statement concernng water solubie vitamins. That statement appears to be in contradiction to the articles I've read about water soluble vitamins.

DEAR READER — Perhaps you have already read by now that the Food and Drug Administration has moved to require a prescription for those tablets containing large doses of vitamins. This is because in these larger doses they are considered as medicines and not as simple dietary supplements.

Ascorbic acid, vitamin C, in large doses can cause diarrhea. None other than the vitamin C champion, Nobel laureate Dr. Linus Pauling, advises taking the huge doses he recommends after meals or in divided doses because of its "laxative effect." This is not altogether innocuous, since there are a number of people who have irritated digestive tracts, and a tendency to diarrhea to begin with.

In addition, "The Medical Letter," and other publications have pointed out the possibility of the formation of kidney stones when large doses of vitamin C are taken. Irritation of the urinary tract is also a possibility.

This is just for vitamin C. It is true that the problem is more serious for the fat soluble vitamins A and D. But, these observations about vitamin C, with the FDA's actions, should be ample warning about overdoing it on your own.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Here is a clipping from today's paper about a doctor who can cure problems of taste and smell. I would greatly appreciate your opinion on this.

In my case I had the measles when I was forty and lost part of my sense of taste and smell. I can smell strong odors and taste things like sugar that have no smell. I am interested in taking this up with my doctor to get a prescription for the medicine if it has any likelihood of working.

DEAR READER — I can't see any good reason for not trying it. About two years ago I mentioned this work a couple of times in my column. At that time the emphasis was on loss of taste.

Dr. Robert I. Henkin has been studying problems of taste and smell for some time. Any of the readers of this column who have this problem can ask their doctor to contact Dr. Henkin at the National Heart and Lung Institute, Neuro-endocrinology section, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, for more information.

Erma Bombeck

There is nothing sadder in this world than to awake Christmas morning and not be a child.

Not to feel the cold on your bare feet as you rush to the Christmas tree in the living room. Not to have your eyes sparkle at the wonderment of discovery. Not to rip the ribbons off the shiny boxes with such abandon.

What happened?

When did the cold, bare feet give way to reason and a pair of sensible bedroom slippers? When did the sparkle and the wonderment give way to depression of a long day? When did a box with a shiny ribbon mean an item on the "charge?"

A child of Christmas doesn't have to be a toddler or a teen. A child of Christmas is anyone who believes that Kings have birthdays.

The Christmases you loved so well are gone. What happened?

Maybe they diminished the year you decided to have your Christmas cards printed to send to 1,500 of your "closest friends and dearest obligations." You got too busy to sign your own name.

Maybe it was the year you discovered the traditional Christmas tree was a fire hazard and the needles had to be vacuumed every three hours and you traded its holiday aroma for a silver one that revolved, changed colors, played "Silent Night" and snowed on itself.

Or the year it got to be too much trouble to sit around the table and put popcorn and cranberries on a string. Possibly you lost your childhood the year you solved your gift problems neatly and coldly with a checkbook.

Think about it. It might have been the year you were too rushed to bake and resorted to slice-and-bake with no nonsense. Who needs a bowl to clean — or lick?

Most likely it was the year you were so efficient in paying back all your party obligations. A wonderful little caterer did it for you for $3 per person.

Children of Christmas are givers. That's what the day is for. They give thanks, love, gratitude, joy and themselves to one another.

It doesn't necessarily mean you have to have children around a tree. It's rather like lighting a candle you've been saving, caroling when your feet are cold, building a fire in a clean grate, grinding tinsel deep into the rug, licking frosting off a beater, giving something you made yourself.

It's laughter, being with people you like, and at some time falling to your knees and saying, "Thank You for coming to my birthday party."

How sad indeed to awake on Christmas and not be a child.

Time, self-pity, apathy, bitterness and exhaustion can take the Christmas out of the child, but you cannot take the child out of Christmas.

No tax cut on gift of Nixon's two homes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman for President Nixon says the chief executive has no intention of reaping a huge income tax deduction from the eventual gift of his San Clemente, Calif., home to the government.

The New York Times reported Sunday that such a gift could give Nixon a tax deduction of between $390,000 and $870,000 spread over six years.

"Any assertion that the President would use the gift of his home to the American people as a short term tax deduction in 1974 is false," said Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren.

"The idea that the President would utilize the gift of the home to the American people for a short term tax benefit completely misses the spirit of the gift."

Nixon had said earlier that the gift would be made after both he and his wife are dead.

The Times quoted tax lawyers familiar with Nixon's financial affairs as saying such a tax break could come at the time that another huge tax deduction is expiring, the President's gift to the National Archives of his pre-presidential papers.

White House press aide Bruce Whelihan told the Times that the actual deed giving the San Clemente property to the American people has not yet been drawn up because the President's lawyers have not had the time and added that "nobody has figured out the tax consequences" of the planned gift.

In the statement of the Nixon's net worth made public last weekend, the value of the San Clemente property was set at $571,000. But that figure was based on the original cost of the property and tax experts say the value has increased considerably.

The property is currently valued at $1.3 million by California authorities, the Times said, and some public officials in the state have argued that it ought to be valued as high as $2.9 million.

Brown urges rationing as only fair way

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. says rationing is the only fair method to meet the "urgent need" of conserving gasoline.

"There is an obvious, urgent need to decrease gasoline consumption but equitable rationing is the only fair way to do that," Brown said Monday in a letter to the nation's energy czar William Simon.

The Democratic gubernatorial hopeful said low-income persons will be the only segment of society hurt if a large price hike in gasoline is allowed. He said most low-income persons use their cars for essential purposes, such as getting to work and buying groceries.

FRIENDS,
Here are just a few of the many written comments we receive from our happy customers:

Courteous, cooperative, considerate attention on every detail from all your personnel.
H. & B. RUSH, Mira Loma

Cooperation and concern of your personnel made the transition to mobile home living a pleasant experience.
L. HUTCHINSON, Pom.

Thanks for the fine way you have treated us in our new mobile home and we love every minute of it
R. & M. BLAND, Pom.

Your Service Personnel have been exceptional, both in workmanship and pleasant attitude. Thanks so much.
A. & D. KRUGER, La Puente

Yes folks, our entire staff of efficient, cooperative personnel are at your service to provide you with courteous customer relations for the rest of your life!
Sincerely
BILL HARRIS
